GLENN FEISER, COUNTY NATIVE, KILLED IN YORK

Glenn E. Feiser, 28, of 500 West Philadelphia street, York, died instantly at 8:22 a.m., Saturday when his auto was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad gasoline-electric engine at a crossing southwest of Crandall's Health school, York, and dragged 1,200 feet.

The one-car train was disabled and its 40 passengers were transferred to a bus, arriving in Lancaster an hour later. Feiser's auto was demolished.

State police reported that Feiser, a native of New Oxford, and a merchant marine veteran of two and a half years war service, was traveling south on an unimproved road known as the Old Rock road, when the accident occurred.

Body Mangled

The train, commonly referred to as the "dinky" car was headed towards Lancaster with Lawrence Falk, Lancaster, as the operator. Falk was quoted as saying he sounded his whistle for the crossing, which was marked with a stop sign, but that Feiser either did not hear or ignored it.

York County Coroner Lester J. Sell said Feiser's body was mangled. He suffered a fractured skull, broken neck, fractured leg and arm. Sell said an inquest would be held at the court house at 8 p.m., May 29.

Feiser was employed by Bahr's Cabinet Works, Lincoln highway, near New Oxford. He is survived by his wife, Mary Bahr Feiser; his parents, Charles P. and Bertha (Markie) Feiser; three step-brothers, Bernard Livingston, Hanover; Leonard Livingston, Harrisburg; and Charles Livingston, Lancaster; three step-sisters, Mrs. George Paord, New Jersey; Mrs. Fred Star, Williamsport; and Madeline Livingston, U. S. Army.

Funeral services at 2 p.m., Tuesday at the W. A. Feiser Funeral home, Hanover. The Rev. George E. Sheffer will officiate. Interment in New Oxford cemetery.

BULLETINS

Greenville, S. C., May 19 (AP)—The defense rested today in the trial of 28 white men accused of lynching a South Carolina negro, without offering any witnesses in its behalf.

The dramatic climax to the week-long trial came a few minutes after Circuit Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr. had directed full acquittal of three of the original 31 defendants, and given acquittal on two of four counts to seven others.

St. Marys, Pa., May 19 (AP)—The body of 30-months-old Rita Ann Bleggi, missing from her home at nearby Weedville since dusk last night, was found today wedged in the rocks of Burns Run, eight miles from where she was last seen alive.

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today ruled that plant guards deputized by local police are "employees" under the National Labor Relations Act and may join unions which also represent production employees.

Lake Success, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Italy's application for membership in the United Nations was handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie today by Alberto Tarsia, Italian ambassador to Washington.

Grandview, Mo., May 19 (AP)—President Truman cheered up a bit today as he reported his 94-year-old mother, fighting for her life against a "very tired and weak heart," as better this morning.

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today ruled three Texas newspapermen were improperly convicted of contempt of court for publication of several news stories and an editorial. Justice Douglas wrote the court's 6-3 majority decision. Justice Jackson wrote a dissent and Justice Frankfurter wrote another. Chief Justice Vinson concurred in Frankfurter's dissent.

The decision was given on an appeal by Conway C. Craig, publisher of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times; Bob McCracken, managing editor, and Tom Mulvany, reporter.

Hunt; missionary, Mrs. Stanley Whitson; temperance, Mrs. Milton R. Remmel, and advisory member, C. C. Culp.

Rev. Detweiler Speaks

The theme for the convention, the district's fortieth, was "Mobilization for Spiritual Advance." The afternoon session opened with a song service and devotions conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hunt. The Rev. Floyd A. Carroll, pastor of the host church, gave the address of welcome.

Following the business session conferences were held for departmental workers and the afternoon meeting adjourned with the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Dwight P. Putman, pastor of College Lutheran church.

The Rev. Roy K. Miller, Church of the Brethren pastor, was the leader for the devotional service opening the evening session. The guest speaker was the Rev. George L. Detweiler of the Waynesboro Church of the Brethren. His theme was "The Appealing Christ."

There was a tenor solo "Come Ye Blessed" by Roberts, sung by Reginald Dunkinson.

The installation of the new officers and the benediction by the Rev. Mrs. Carroll concluded the convention.

BREAM HEADS STATE GROUP

Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant Adams county superintendent of schools Saturday was named chairman of the Consumer Education division of the Elementary School Curriculum Program, at a meeting held in Harrisburg.

The division is one of a number of similar committees set up by Dr. Leversia Powers, head of the elementary division of the Department of Public Instruction, to provide outlines for discussion by teachers in the state in the setting up of a new curriculum for elementary schools.

The committee's job is to outline the areas of consumer study suitable to grades one through six. Doctor Bream said, and to determine what type of consumer education could be taught in connection with arithmetic, history and similar courses in the schools.

The recommendations of the committee will then be turned over to the elementary teachers at various "workshops" and other meetings to be held during the next several years, at which the teachers will determine what changes are to be made in the public school curriculum, and what instructional materials will be needed.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Gettysburg "captured" the lead story with a two-column photograph of the Pennsylvania monument on one of the touring and vacation pages of the New York Times Sunday.

Ward Allan Howe wrote a piece on "Gettysburg Pilgrims—Many are expected for Memorial Day Speech," which read as follows:

"Gettysburg, Pa.—Favored the year round by tourists, this historic town is preparing for record-breaking crowds May 30 when President Truman is scheduled to give a Memorial Day address. The president will speak at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the National cemetery, where Abraham Lincoln gave the famous dedicatory address.

"Since Gettysburg was plucked from obscurity eighty-four years ago this July, when the Union Army of the Potomac and the Confederate Army of northern Virginia met in bloody battle, visitors have never stopped coming, reaching a peak of 6,000 on week-ends. In addition to the battlefield, they want to see the (Please Turn to Page 7)

Seminary Grad To Take New Charge

The Rev. J. Leon Haines, pastor of the Lutheran charge at St. Thomas, has resigned as pastor of the charge to accept a call as minister of the Hampstead Lutheran parish at Hampstead, Md. He will leave St. Thomas on May 31 and begin his new pastorate on June 1.

Mr. Haines will have three churches under his care, including St. Mark's church, in Hampstead, St. Paul's church, in Uppeco, and Christ church, Trenton, Md. He and Mrs. Haines will live in the parsonage in Hampstead.

Mr. Haines, who is a native of McClure, is a graduate of Susquehanna university, class of 1940, and of the Lutheran Theological seminary of Gettysburg, class of 1944. GLENN FEISER,
COUNTY NATIVE,
KILLED IN YORK

Glenn E. Feiser, 28, of 500 West Philadelphia street, York, died instantly at 8:22 a. m., Saturday when his auto was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad gasoline-electric engine at a crossing southwest of Crandall's Health school, York, and dragged 1,200 feet.

The one-car train was disabled and its 40 passengers were transferred to a bus, arriving in Lancaster an hour later. Feiser's auto was demolished.

State police reported that Feiser, a native of New Oxford, and a merchant marine veteran of two and a half years war service, was traveling south on an unimproved road known as the Old Rock road, when the accident occurred.

Body Mangled

The train, commonly referred to as the "dinky" car was headed towards Lancaster with Lawrence Falk, Lancaster, as the operator. Falk was quoted as saying he sounded his whistle for the crossing, which was marked with a stop sign, but that Feiser either did not hear or ignored it.

York County Coroner Lester J. Sell said Feiser's body was mangled. He suffered a fractured skull, broken neck, fractured leg and arm. Sell said an inquest would be held at the court house at 8 p. m., May 29.

Feiser was employed by Bair's Cabinet Works, Lincoln highway, near New Oxford. He is survived by his wife, Mary Bair Feiser; his parents, Charles P. and Bertha (Markle) Feiser; three step-brothers, Bernard Livingston, Hanover; Leonard Livingston, Harrisburg; and Charles Livingston, Lancaster; three step-sisters, Mrs. George Paord, New Jersey; Mrs. Fred Staer, Williamsport, and Madeline Livingston, U. S. Army.

Rev. Detweiler Speaks

The theme for the convention, the district's fortieth, was "Mobilization for Spiritual Advance." The afternoon session opened with a song service and devotions conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hunt. The Rev. Floyd A. Carroll, pastor of the host church, gave the address of welcome.

Following the business session conferences were held for departmental workers and the afternoon meeting adjourned with the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Dwight P. Putnam, pastor of College Lutheran church.

The Rev. Roy K. Miller, Church of the Brethren pastor, was the leader for the devotional service opening the evening session. The guest speaker was the Rev. George L. Detweiler of the Waynesboro Church of the Brethren. His theme was "The Appealing Christ."

There was a tenor solo "Come Ye Blessed" by Roberts, sung by Reginald Dunkinson.

The installation of the new officers and the benediction by the Rev. Mrs. Carroll concluded the convention.

BREAM HEADS
STATE GROUP

Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant Adams county superintendent of schools Saturday was named chairman of the Consumer Education division of the Elementary School Curriculum Program, at a meeting held in Harrisburg.

The division is one of a number of similar committees set up by Dr. Leversia Powers, head of the elementary division of the Department of Public Instruction, to provide outlines for discussion by teachers in the state in the setting up of a new curriculum for elementary schools.

The committee's job is to outline the areas of consumer study suitable to grades one through six, Doctor Bream said, and to determine what type of consumer education could be taught in connection with arithmetic, history and similar courses in the schools.

The recommendations of the committee will then be turned over to the elementary teachers at various "workshops" and other meetings to be held during the next several years, at which the teachers will determine what changes are to be made in the public school curriculum, and what instructional materials will be needed.

SHOWDOWN IS
OF TEACHER PAY

By MARTIN BRACKBILL

Harrisburg, May 19 (AP)—The controversial teacher pay question headed toward a showdown in the Legislature today with Republican leaders backing up Gov. James H. Duff's stand that a $1,000 boost in salary minimums is "thoroughly impractical."

Faced with renewed pressure from teacher organizations to raise pay minimums and provide substantial boosts for experienced instructors, lawmakers returned to act on an expected administration request that the House Education committee be directed to rewrite the pay bill it has approved to fit the governor's budget.

"I agree that is the best way to meet the problem," declared Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Eli), House GOP leader, who emphasized the General Assembly never has fixed teacher pay scales but only minimums that school districts must pay to participate in state education grants.

Labor Bills Near Vote
Meanwhile, administration-backed labor bills started toward a House vote as GOP Senate leaders continued to seek Governor Duff's support for measures to establish a "cooling off" period in advance of strikes, extend the scope of unfair labor practices to include jurisdictional walkouts and secondary boycotts by unions or employers, and open union membership lists to anyone qualified to hold a job.

The House bills, on the other hand, which have administration support, would ban strikes by public employees and picketing of struck establishments by non-employees, and payment of jobless benefits to strikers, continue permanently the "experience rating" system of calculating employer contributions to unemployment compensation, extend to 24 weeks the jobless benefit payment period and grant women equal pay for equal work.

With the end of the current fiscal period two weeks away, the Assembly's Appropriations committees continued to mark time pending legislative action on education.

$400 Raise Possible
On education, Duff has earmarked $48,000,000 more for education than was spent by the state in the current fiscal period but legislation approved by the House Education committee would require at least $40,000,000 in addition to that to finance the Commonwealth's share of the cost.

Rep. Sorg has estimated that the governor's budget will permit minimums of $1,800 a year for elementary teachers, a $400 a year boost over the present floor, but $600 less than asked by the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Sorg also favored six increments of $150 a year against the eight of $175 each proposed in the PSEA bill, sponsored by Reps. D. Raymond Sollenberger (R-Blair), education committee chairman, and George D. Stuart (R-Allegheny). In addition, the committee recommended an immediate boost for experienced teachers ranging up to $500, based on $30 for each year of service up to 10.

Sales Drop, Profits
Rise in State Stores

Harrisburg, May 19 (AP)—The volume of sales at State Liquor stores fell off during the first quarter of 1947 but the Commonwealth's profit increased. Records of the Control board showed sales for the first three months totaled $49,983,455, as compared to $52,677,546 in the same period in 1946.

At the same time, however, the state's profit for January, February and March amounted to $7,314,271, compared to $6,601,158 for the first quarter of 1946.

A Liquor Control Board spokesman said that sales for 1946 were "higher than at any time in the history of the board" but that a decline started in December that continued into the first quarter of 1947.

The increased profits were attributed to a change in the formula in applying the profit markup price. The board in January began computing the markup after the entire federal tax of $9 was added. Prior to that the markup was applied only to $5 of the federal tax.

BRITAIN READY TO HAND US NEW RESPONSIBILITY

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

London, May 19 (AP)—Informed British sources declared today that Britain is setting the stage to hand military responsibility in the Mediterranean and Middle East over to the United States and withdraw Empire defenses to East Africa.

Qualified British military informants said the proposed set-up implied that defense of the Mediterranean and the Suez canal in particular would become a United States responsibility.

The move will not mean abandonment of Britain's economic and political interests in the Middle East, however, these sources said, recalling Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement to the House of Commons last Friday.

Revamp Old Policy

"We must maintain a continual interest in that area," Bevin said, "if only because our economic and financial interests are of vast importance to us and to other countries as well. If those interests were lost to us," the Foreign Secretary added, "the effect on life in this country would be a considerable reduction in the standard of living."

The military informants, who are close to the war office, fixed the time table for withdrawal of the British military and supply bases to East Africa at two to three years.

The momentous shift, revamping a 50-year-old policy of imperial defense, has been made possible, the informants said, by emergence of the United States as an active Mediterranean power with definable interests to defend.

The decision to fortify East Africa—mainly Kenya and the two Rhodesias—was understood to have been dictated, too, by Britain's decision to quit India by June, 1948, by the instability of Palestine and by the uncertain constitutional future of the Sudan, whose status is now the subject of an Egyptian appeal pending before the United Nations.

JUNIOR POLICE WIN 3-2 GAME

The Gettysburg Junior police baseball team defeated the McConnellsburg Junior police 3 to 2 Saturday in a tight game played on Codori Field.

McConnellsburg took an early lead by putting across a run in the third inning. Gettysburg tied the score with a homer by Barr in the fifth. McConnellsburg scored again in the ninth to lead 2 to 1 going into the last half inning of the game. Kitzmiller reached base first for Gettysburg in the half of the ninth when the catcher interfered. Redding bunted and reached first safely. Carter batted one into the infield and all runners but Kitzmiller were safe on an error. Doug Knox then singled and Redding and Carter came on in with the winning runs.

Shultz was the starting hurler for Gettysburg, and made five strikeouts in the three innings he played. Kitzmiller went in at the beginning of the fourth and hurled ten strike outs. Little was catcher for the first three innings and Bupp catcher for the last six innings. Ott, McConnellsburg, hurler, secured 14 strike outs.

The Junior police girls lost 16 to 2 to a Gettysburg college softball team in the preliminary.

DEATHS

Robert Luther Keeney
Robert Luther Keeney, 65, of Centerville, near Woodsboro, Md., and an employee of the Ox Fibre Brush company, was found dead in bed at his home of coronary occlusion about 6 o'clock Friday morning.

The Frederick county medical examiner and Deputy Sheriff Austin Murray were called and a verdict of death due to natural causes was returned.

He was a son of the late James and Sarah Ellen Keeney and was born in Frederick county. He was an active member of Grace Lutheran church, Rocky Hill, and served on various boards of the church.

He is survived by one son, Harvey, Johnsville, and the following brothers and sisters: Samuel, Detour; Ephraim, Taneytown; Howard, Frederick; Jesse, Walkersville; James, Sharpsburg; Norman, Littleton, Pa.; Mrs. Paul Pittinger, Union Bridge; Mrs. Annie Colberts, near Woodsboro. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were held at Grace Lutheran church, Rocky Hill, Sunday afternoon. Interment in adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. Grace H. Miller
Mrs. Grace Hockensmith Miller, 62, died at her home in Emmitsburg, Thursday.

Among the survivors is a brother, Russell Hockensmith, Clearspring.

The funeral was held Sunday at the Emmitsburg Reformed church.

Dorothy E. Guise
Dorothy Ellen Guise, four-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guise, York Springs, died at the Warner hospital Sunday morning at 8:15 o'clock.

Surviving are the parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Guise, Gettysburg; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver, Gettysburg R. D.

Graveside services and interment were held in Evergreen cemetery Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in charge of the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh.

Inter Zephaniah Tipton
Funeral services for Zephaniah Tipton, 83, 324 West Middle street, who died last Wednesday morning, were held Saturday afternoon from the Bender funeral home conducted by the Rev. Walter Keeney. Interment in the Biglerville cemetery.

The pallbearers were Howard Flickinger, Stanley Breighner, Ralph Shetter, Harry Tuckey, Norman Singley and Martin Kime.

Tanker Damaged In Fire At Texas City

Texas City, Texas, May 19 (AP)—Gasoline-fed flames which sent a spiral of smoke 4,000 feet into the air, badly damaged the tanker Pan-Massachusetts, a tug and a dock and injured 47 seamen before being extinguished yesterday.

Credit for extinguishing the four-hour fire went to Texas City's heroic volunteer fire department which lost 27 members in the fires and explosions that wrecked this waterfront town a month ago.

Two crew members of the tug Richard Clarke were burned critically as they jumped from the flaming vessel and swam through burning gasoline. Forty-five members of the Pan-Massachusetts crew also jumped overboard and were treated for minor burns.

The United States Marine hospital at Galveston, Tex., identified the two critically-burned victims as John Berchick, 49, believed to be from Logan, Pa., and Louis Homme, 40, Galveston.

FIREMEN CALLED

The Gettysburg fire company was called at 9 o'clock Sunday evening to the Gulf station on Carlisle street where a car had caught fire. The flames were extinguished before the fire company arrived. Station attendants said that a car was being filled with gasoline and the owner of the car had lit a cigar, igniting some fumes.

Upper Communities

The May meeting of the Trilogy club will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William M. Lott, near Gardners. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Charles B. Tilton who will have Leighton Taylor, of Bendersville, as a guest speaker.

Miss Florence Ott returned to her home at Dillsburg Sunday evening after a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alwine.

John R. Fidler, Clair Shillito, Joseph Boyer, of Biglerville, Leroy Aiegler, Biglerville R. D., and Earl Heiges, of Hanover, spent the week-end fishing in Clinton county.

Among those who attended the Washington-Cleveland baseball game at Washington Saturday were John A. Hauser, Henry Donahar, Allen S. Stauffer, Robert Burkhardt, Earl Garretson, Donald Horst, John Frederick, George Martin, Glenn Rider, George Phillips, Fremont Kuntz and A. L. Leinart.

The Upper County Lions club will meet Tuesday evening at Wishard's restaurant.

Miss Betty Slaybaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Slaybaugh, Biglerville, who will graduate this spring from Biglerville high school, will enter training as a nurse at the Washington County hospital, Hagerstown, on June 17.

Autographed copies of Elsie Singmaster's book, "I Speak for Thaddeus Stevens," are on sale at the home of Mrs. Richard C. Walton.

BCI Explodes One Lewis Mine 'Myth'

Washington, May 19 (AP)—A notion that fewer young men want to be coal miners was described as a "myth" by the Bituminous Coal Institute.

The institute issued a statement in which it claimed records of the Federal Social Security board disclaim recent talk to the effect that coal miners as a class are for the most part old men with an average age well past 50.

The age of the bituminous coal miner in the U. S. averages 41 years, the statement declared, "and the age curve is downward rather than upward."

NAMED RABBIT QUEEN

Gladys Storm, Second street, McSherrystown, was selected rabbit queen from a group of twelve contestants at the Knights of Columbus hall, McSherrystown, Friday evening. She was queen of the rabbit and cavy show held Sunday in the K. of C. hall, McSherrystown, by the Hanover McSherrystown Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association. Judges for the show were Mrs. S. M. Transue, Hanover; Mrs. Edward K. Stipe and Mrs. Anthony A. Tanais, McSherrystown.

PERSONALITY PAYOFF

New York, (AP)—How to acquire a "pleasant manner" is being taught speech class students in 27 vocational high schools here. George P. Pigott, Jr., assistant superintendent, said last night the program was started on the recommendation of employers who said that "a far greater percentage of persons lose their jobs because of personality difficulties than because of inefficiency."

court to pay $10 a week for the support of his wife and two minor children, and was released on his own $500 recognizance bond. He was also directed to pay the costs.

Act On Other Cases
A support order in the case of Lee Brock, Gettysburg R. D., ordering him to pay for the support of his wife, was struck off, but he was directed to pay $5 a week in support of his child.

Lawrence H. Hinkle, Gettysburg R. D., was given until June 9 to make up an alleged arrearage in support payments. The court was told he was back $50.

Donald Rentzel, Harrisburg, the court was informed, was paid up on his support, and the rule was discharged. The case of Luther Freed, Hanover R. D., was continued to June 9.

Raymond Rosenberry, Seven Stars, was released on his own recognizance bail of $500 and ordered to keep the peace, following a hearing on a surety of the peace charge brought by his wife, Olive. Mrs. Rosenberry charged that on April 22 her husband struck her, pinched her leg and twisted her foot. She said he had made threats against her life, and on April 22 asserted "D— if I don't kill you."

Two Paroles Denied
Two petitions for paroles were denied by the court this morning, a petition of Bert J. Simms, Fairfield R. D., sentenced February 10 to six months in jail, and a petition of Roy Cashtown.

Mrs. Flora Cutshall, who underwent an operation in the Warner hospital last week, is spending her period of convalescence with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kappes, Gettysburg.

Miss Carrie Lady, Hershey, spent the week-end at her home here.

Sterling Sell is improving his property by building a cement block and brick retaining wall on his lawn on Gettysburg street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
New York Goes Wild to Greet Col. Lindbergh: New York, June 13 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh came back today to the city he left on his great adventure, the first non-stop flight, ever made from New York to Paris. He stepped from the city tug Macon at the Battery after being brought up the bay from quarantine where he had landed in an amphibious plane after a flight from Washington via Mitchell Field.

Couple Married: Miss Arie Plank, Biglerville R. D., and Harry L. Day, Biglerville R. D., were united in marriage by the Rev. C. M. Ankerbrand, at the parsonage of the United Brethren church of that place, on Monday morning.

E. Belle Miller Becomes Bride of Rev. Willard: In a beautiful floral setting in the Gettysburg Presbyterian church, Miss E. Belle Miller, Steinwehr avenue, and the Rev. Pierce M. Willard, of Mount Winans, a Baltimore suburb, were married at noon Tuesday.

Anna B. Tawney Becomes Bride of Howard Wink: A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tawney, Springs avenue, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Anna Beater Tawney, was married to Howard Lamar Wink, of Manchester, Maryland.

The bride's pastor, the Rev. F. L. Stine, of the United Brethren church, officiated.

Bonneauville Couple Married: Miss Catherine E. Hawn, daughter of Augustus Hawn, Bonneauville, and Raymond S. Strasbaugh, son of Charles Strasbaugh, also of Bonneauville, were united in marriage at a nuptial high mass Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church, by the rector, the Rev. P. J. Enright. They were attended by Miss Anna Hawn and Paul Topper.

Graduate of Seminary Married: Miss Vesta E. Hockensmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hockensmith, of Taneytown, Maryland, and the Rev. Walter E. Waybright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Waybright, of Gettysburg, were married at the Mt. Joy Lutheran church Thursday morning at 8 o'clock.

The ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was performed by the Rev. L. K. Young, who was assisted by Dr. C. F. Sanders.

Couple Get License: A marriage license was issued here Thursday afternoon to Nelson C. Dainty, of Harrisburg, and Miss Helen E. Hoffman, of Harrisburg, formerly of Biglerville.

Will Teach at Church School: Robert P. Snyder who recently received a master's degree in history from the University of Pennsylvania, has accepted a position to teach in the Episcopal academy in Overbrook for the coming year. At the same time he is planning to continue his graduate work at the university.

Store Manager to Wed: Miss Hope Brame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brame, Gettysburg R. D., formerly of New Oxford and Biglerville, and Mark H. Knouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Knouse, of Carlisle, formerly of Biglerville, will be united in marriage Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the parsonage by the Rev. George E. Sheffer, of the First Lutheran church, New Oxford.

Married Saturday Evening: Benjamin Taylor Duval, of Chicago, and Miss Annie May Walters, of Gettysburg, were married Saturday evening by the Rev. B. P. Lightner, minister of the Church of the Brethren.

Today's Talk

SINGLENESS OF PURPOSE
You see no wild leaps for forward progress in nature. Nature takes time. Her processes are slow but sure. One tree doesn't worry because another outstrips it in growth. But among human beings there is ever a contest to beat out the other fellow, to make more money, to gain a more pronounced fame, or to establish a new record for speed.

Genuine and worthwhile success cannot be turned into a speed contest. Singleness of purpose, disregarding all cut-throats and cheap means of acclination, is more to be merited today than ever before. It is the direct path to a real success.

It often takes a long time for character to earn maturity—often an entire lifetime! Why should any of us be in such a hurry to gain or attain, so long as that singleness of purpose remains as the guiding principle of our lives?

What does it matter if there are no cheers from the sidelines, so long as there are inward cheers from a satisfied conscience, and from the realization that one's happiest reward comes from a devotion to duty and to one's ideals, pursued with courage? Minding one's own business, being one's whole self, and with one's objective ever clearly set in full view—a singleness of purpose driving one on—that is a triumph worth noting!

Without the throbbing of the heart all the other great functions of the body become as nothing. So, without this singleness of purpose in life, all else results in confusion, disappointment and ignoble failure. Said Thoreau: "Every nail driven should be as another rivet in the machine of the universe, you carrying on the work."

To our discoverers, our scientists, our researchers and an endless number of such who give of their time and strength, do we owe our eternal gratitude—for their singleness of purpose, regardless of all compensation, has made lasting heroes of them all. They are benefactors to all mankind. Is this not sufficient to inspire each one of us to follow their pattern?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Among Friends."

COUNSEL TO YOUNG MOTORISTS

I remember years ago
That a wise man said to me:
"Always drive your car as though
All you meet will carelessly be.
Just remember night and day
You'll encounter many fools.
Let them have the right of way.
You obey the traffic rules."

I remember that he said:
"When another wants to pass
Keep your temper and your head.
Don't you step upon the gas!
Don't attempt, through silly pride,
Reckless drivers to delay.
Wave them on and turn aside;
That is much the safer way."

I remember that he told:
"When you're sitting at the wheel,
There are people, young and old,
With afflictions they conceal.
Some there are who cannot hear;
Cannot run or plainly see;
Don't assume the road is clear.
Drive as though it may not be."

Meat Market Opens Thursday: A meat market conducted in connection with the local A. and P. grocery store, Baltimore street, opened for public inspection Thursday evening, according to an announcement made by Clarence Haverstock, manager.

The meat store is in the room formerly occupied as a showroom and office by A. B. Plank, plumber.

Moose Opens New Lodge Home Friday Evening: Gettysburg lodge, 1526, Loyal Order of Moose, moved into its new quarters in the Pitzer building, York street, and held its first meeting there Friday evening.

The lodge, organized last November 12, has been meeting in the Forty and Eight rooms in the First National bank building.

The lodge now has eighty members.

Personal Mention: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coffelt, of Washington, D. C., spent the past few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Bowser, Breckenridge street.

Miss Elizabeth Rummel and Mrs. William Hennig attended the thirty-third annual session of the Grand Chapter of Pennsylvania Order of Eastern Star at Harrisburg this week.

Honoring Miss Carriere, of Paris, France, Mrs. John D. Keith received about sixty guests Monday afternoon at her home on Carlisle street. Miss Nancy Keith was assisted in serving by Miss Anna Grimm, Miss Eleanor Peckman and Miss Peggy Zinn.

Mrs. J. P. Dalbey, Miss Martha Dickson, Mrs. Wayne Keet and Miss Anne Keet have returned from a two weeks' motor trip to Canada.

DUFF CONSIDERS FIRST CEILINGS ON AUTO FINANCE

Harrisburg, June 19 (AP)—A ceiling will be clamped on automobile finance charges for the first time in event Gov. James H. Duff signs into law a measure adopted by the 1947 legislature.

Backed by Republican Legislative leaders as the result of what the bill itself said were "nefarious, unscrupulous and improper practices" in the financing of motor vehicles, the legislation would go into effect 60 days after its final enactment. It was adopted finally in the closing hours of the assembly session.

It would limit finance charges—calculated on the total of the unpaid cash balance, insurance and other permissible costs—to six per cent for new vehicles, nine per cent for used cars up to two years old, and 12 per cent on older vehicles.

Provides for Licenses

The plan also would require licensing of all installment sellers of motor vehicles, sales finance companies and "collectors-repossessors"—defined as persons collecting payments on installment sales contracts or repossessing motor vehicles.

The measure was introduced by Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter (R-Lehigh) and Rep. Herbert P. Sorg, House majority leader, after a two-year investigation by a committee of the general assembly's joint state government commission into time purchases of automobiles.

It noted that most automobiles are sold in lease contracts and consumers, because of legal technicalities and "their unequal bargaining position are at the mercy of unscrupulous persons and are being intolerably exploited in the installment purchase of motor vehicles."

Under Banking Dept.

The proposed law would fix license fees for dealers at $10 and for finance companies and collectors at $100 with the latter required to post $5,000 compliance bonds with applications. Persons operating without licenses would be subject to fines from $500 to $5,000 and six months to three years in jail.

Enforcement of the proposed law was assigned to the banking department under a Senate amendment which eliminated a provision establishing a new consumer credit commission to administer the plan.

Other provisions of the measure would require both buyer and seller to sign time contracts; specify that payments be substantially equal and that contracts list all charges, including the cash price and the down payment; fix refinancing and default charges; require refunds for prepayment of contracts; and provide the manner in which vehicles can be repossessed for default or breach of contract.

APPROVE LEASE OF EX-PW CAMP

Chambersburg, Pa., June 19 (AP)—The Rev. Gaius J. Slosser, of Pittsburg, was elected president of the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania synod of the Presbyterian church, succeeding the Rev. R. J. Williams of Scranton.

Rev. Slosser, who is retiring moderator for the synod, was elected to the board last night by the delegates attending the group's 86th annual meeting now underway here.

The Rev. George H. Zacharie, of Philadelphia, was named at the same time as treasurer for the board, and the Rev. W. W. Heidelberg, of Lancaster, secretary.

The synod announced its approval of a plan by the Carlisle Presbytery to lease the former prisoner of war camp at Pine Grove Furnace, Cumberland county, from the commonwealth in conjunction with the Mercersburg synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church. The lease will run for 10 years and will cost $500 a year.

The group yesterday adopted unanimously a resolution to President Truman, expressing "concern that the President continues to maintain at the Vatican his personal representative accredited to the Papal head of the Roman Catholic church." The resolution reiterates the stand taken by the denomination's national group.

The synod also went on record as opposing compulsory military training during peacetime, favoring instead voluntary enlistments.

May Re-arbitrate St. Louis Dispute

St. Louis, June 19 (AP)—A proposal to submit a wage dispute between the public service company and its 3,500 bus and streetcar operators to re-arbitration will be offered to union members at two mass meetings today. The company accepted the plan last night. The proposal calls for the Missouri public service commission to act as arbitrator in the dispute which has paralyzed public transportation since last Friday. It requires the striking men to return to their jobs pending a decision by the commission.

The strike began after a previous arbitration board awarded operators a raise from $1.08 an hour to $1.22 1/2. They had asked for $1.40.

The union claimed the board was officially disbanded before it announced the award, and called it

Cites Shortage Of Highly Trained Men

Eagles Mere, Pa. June 19 (AP)—An "acute labor shortage" exists in the highly skilled vocational crafts, Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of Public Instruction, said today.

Noting more than 85,500 students are taking full or part time vocational training provided in public schools, he told the Pennsylvania Vocation association that "competitive industry is reconverting to peacetime conditions and standards and the demand is for skilled and technical experts."

"The reason for this is obvious," he continued in a prepared talk. "During the four years of the war, in order to accomplish the ultimate victory, the production machinery was geared to the use of semi-skilled labor in which the training requirements were limited so that the total labor pool could be tapped without delay."

These job opportunities no longer exist, Dr. Haas added; and vocational teachers' efforts "must be largely centered on turning that semi-skilled group into skilled workers or technical experts."

FAVOR SURVEY ON FOREIGN AID

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg's proposal for a bipartisan survey of how much more aid the United States can "safely" give foreign countries seems assured today of State department blessing.

It is uncertain, however, whether the department will accept in full the Republican chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee or whether it will suggest some modifications of that plan.

Undersecretary of State Will Clayton told a news conference yesterday that so far as Vandenberg's proposal has to do with the study of American resources and the ability of this country to send further help abroad he considers it a very wise suggestion.

But in so far as determining how much foreign countries need, Clayton said, that is a matter which those countries can best determine themselves, subject to checks by State department, Treasury and other American economic officials abroad.

Diplomatic authorities indicated that Secretary Marshall still has the Vandenberg plan under study and that when Marshall and his advisers have worked out exactly how they think a bi-partisan approach should be developed, the cabinet officer then will discuss the whole question with the Michigan Senator.

Synagogue Interior Damaged By Fire

Philadelphia, June 19 (AP)—Fire, fed by illuminating gas from a broken pipe, damaged the interior of a North Philadelphia synagogue today.

The fire was brought under control an hour and a half after firemen were summoned by a boy who saw flames and smoke pouring from the building at 540-42 West Erie avenue, used by the congregation Achdath B'nei Israel. Three firemen were made ill by the fumes.

CYCLIST KILLED

Beaver Falls, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Injuries suffered when his motorcycle upset caused the death yesterday of Lloyd Smith, 27, of New Brighton. His son, Gary, 4, also injured in the accident, is recovering.

Illegal. Union officials had asked that the company submit the pay issue to new arbitration but the company asked that a test of the award's legality be made first.

RUSSIAN VETO MIGHT END UN ARMS EFFORTS

Lake Success, June 19 (AP)—Delegates to the United Nations were reported agreed today that a Russian veto of the U. S. plan for tackling world arms reduction would mean a virtual end to the United Nations disarmament efforts.

The possibility of a Russian veto was raised after the U. N. conventional armaments commission yesterday approved and forwarded the U. S. working to the security council and then voted down a Soviet proposal which would have linked disposal of atomic weapons with the question of conventional arms.

Following this step, Soviet Deputy Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said adoption of the U. S. proposals would lead to collapse of U. N. efforts to regulate and control reduction of arms.

"Let's Wait And See"

"The separation of arms limitation and prohibition of atomic weapons is contrary to the (December 14, 1946) General Assembly resolution," he declared. "It will constitute an obstacle to the future work of the arms commission and to the security council. It will involve the collapse of the method to implement the General Assembly resolution concerning the general regulation of armaments and armed forces, and all its consequences."

Asked by newsmen later if his statement meant he would not attend any more meetings of the armaments commission Gromyko replied:

"I have nothing more to say."

"What then will you do when the plan comes before the security council?" The Russian delegate was asked.

"Let's wait and see," he said.

Waynesboro Soldier Killed In Tokyo Crash

Tokyo, June 19 (AP)—Death of Sgt. David J. Lenhard, Waynesboro, Pa., in a jeep-train collision was reported today by Fifth Air Force headquarters.

Lenhard died June 17 of injuries suffered the previous day when the jeep in which he was riding with three others collided with a Japanese train at a crossing between Tokyo and Yokota air base.

Others injured included Sgt. Leonard F. Teculski, Camden, N. J.

MAN 80, BURNS

Bradford, Pa., June 19 (AP)—His clothing ignited by a match with which he was lighting his pipe, Frank E. Walton, 80, burned to death yesterday.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret Walton, suffered minor burns to her hands trying to extinguish the flames.

The top as a toy is mentioned by Aristotle and Homer.

Carnival To Play Here Next Week

Next week will be carnival week in Gettysburg, when the Harrison's Greater Shows come here and set up on the carnival lot on West High street. The attraction will consist of 12 rides, eight other attractions and 55 concessions, according to the management. The shows will come here from Frederick, Md.

Manager Frank Harrison has contracted "Fred Reckless," a returned veteran who broke all records at the "Congress of Daredevils." He will perform nightly during the stay here, on the midway, 128 feet above ground without any safety net or life-preserving device.

The show will be open each night from 6 o'clock until midnight, according to announcements. On Friday, June 27, the shows will play host to members of the Gettysburg Junior Police club.

Learning To Walk On Artificial Legs

Pittsburgh, June 19 (AP)—Someday soon, little Nancy Ann Duman, 3, who was born without feet, will take her first steps.

She will walk on artificial limbs made possible by the dozens of persons who read of her plight and sent money and checks.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Duman of suburban Lincoln Park, cashed in all their war bonds to pay for braces and an operation which would enable Nancy to use artificial limbs. There wasn't any money left to buy the number of limbs which will be needed to keep up with Nancy's growth.

But now both individuals and organizations have offered help.

"There just aren't words to tell how grateful we are," declared Mrs. Duman. "It surely makes us feel good."

CELLAR TEAMS GOING PLACES IN 1947 RACE

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Philadelphia, May 19 (AP)—Major league baseball has a Philadelphia story today.

The National league Phillies moved within a game of the league lead and the American league Athletics rested a mere half game out of the first division and only four and one-half lengths away from the front-running Detroit Tigers.

What a difference a year makes. In mid-May of 1946, the Phillies were mired in last place with a record of six victories and 17 defeats, nine full games off the pace. The A's already had gained a strangle hold on the American loop career, 16 games behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox.

But big league baseball in Philadelphia has undergone a complete enaissance.

New Blood Responsible
May, 1947, finds the Phillies playing better than 500 ball with 15 victories and 13 defeats. Ben Chapman's gang has won six of its last seven games, including double triumphs over the Brooklyn Dodgers and the enigmatic St. Louis Cardinals.

The Phillies' sudden rise to senior circuit prominence can be attributed to two ex-Cardinals, a former Dodger, a pitcher late of the Pirates and two ancient American league hurriers.

The former Red Birds—Harry Walker, the National league's leading hitter at 390, and Emil Verban, top fielding second sacker in the loop and third best hitter at 337; ex-Dodger—big Howie Schultz—six hits against the Cards yesterday; former Pirate—Ken Heintzelman—has saved one game in relief role and stopped Cards yesterday with a nine-inning; the American league ancients—the incomparable Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and Emil (Dutch) Leonard—12 of the club's 15 decisions do these two own.

"Things Have Changed"
Led by a dynamic manager in the fiery Chapman, the Phillies appear ready to assert themselves in the National league chase. For the first time in many years, Philadelphia in the National league is not only ready and willing—but able!

And in the junior circuit, Connie Mack is giving the so-called experts, who relegated his Athletics to last place, a lot of food for thought. A well-rounded pitching staff, Rookie First Baseman Ferris Fain and the Keystone combination of Shortstop Eddie Joost and Gene Handley—best since the pennant-winning days of 1929, '30, '31—are responsible for the unexpected rise to contention of the Athletics.

Mack doesn't expect his team to win a pennant, but he's confident Philadelphia's cellar dwelling days in the American league are over.

Yes, things have changed in Philadelphia in a baseball way. It's no longer a stopover for opponents to fatten averages and stop losing streaks.

STATE COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIPS

State College, Pa., May 19 (AP)—District champions in track and field events will compete here Saturday for state championships, with at least one defending title-holder back for an attempt to better last year's mark.

While the Pennsylvania interscholastic athletic association track meet will highlight the week-end program, there will also be considerable interest in the annual golf and tennis championships that start Friday and wind up on Saturday morning.

With returns from only a few of the state's twelve districts it is certain that at least one champion, John Triplett of Abington, will be on hand to defend his crown in the 100 yard dash. Triplett won at State college last year in 10.1 seconds and covered the distance in the same time Saturday at Upper Darby to win District One honors.

Last Record In 1943
There will be fifteen events in the Class A competition, seven events for individual honors on the track, two relay races and six field events, the last record set in Class A. Competition came in 1943 when Al Gehrdes, of Altoona set a mark of 14.8 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles.

The 54 hole golf tournament gets under way on Friday, with 36 holes on opening day and the final 18 holes over the State college links on Saturday morning.

The annual tennis championships also open on Friday with preliminary matches, the semi-finals being slated for Saturday and the finals in both singles and doubles listed for the afternoon.

Kingston took over the leadership in the North Atlantic league race yesterday, dumping Peekskill out of first place by defeating the Highlanders in both ends of a double-header, 7 to 6 and 4 to 2.

After Manager Buck Eichenlaub hit two home runs and a double and batted in eight runs to lead Mahanoy City to a 12 to 7 decision

Seabiscuit Dies At Howard Ranch

Ukiah, Calif., May 19 (AP)—The Biscuit is no more.

Charles S. Howard's mighty Seabiscuit, once the greatest money winner of the American turf, died of a heart attack Saturday night at Howard's Ridgewood ranch where he has sired 100 colts since his retirement in 1940. He was 14 years old.

He was buried last yesterday in front of the main ranch house, and a life-sized bronze statue of the horse will be placed over the grave.

Manager Bud Knox was tabbed for four runs in the opening inning and then pitched a beautiful game until Hanover pushed over its winning run in the tenth after one was out.

The locals picked up single runs in the third and sixth innings and pushed over a pair or runs in the seventh to knot the count at 4-all.

Emmitsburg nosed out Ortanna 2-0 at Ortanna, scoring two runs in the third inning on a hit batsman, two errors and a single. Ortanna made its best bid for a score in the sixth when K. Deardorff tripped with one out but Topper bore down to retire the next two batters.

Ortanna again threatened in the eighth when L. Wetzel singled and K. Deardorff walked, Wetzel advancing on a passed ball. K. Deardorff was thrown out attempting to steal to end the inning.

D. Rebert and J. Wetzel formed the battery for Ortanna. Bevins started for Emmitsburg but was relieved by Topper in the third. George Kennell caught for the winners. D. Rebert poled two hits for Ortanna and Coombs collected three for Emmitsburg. J. Roenstler starred afled for the victors, making two brilliant catches.

Fairfield gained a 4-2 decision over McSherrystown on the latter's field. Sites hurled for the winners.

New Oxford pounded out a 16-2 victory over Littletown at Littletown. The Bendersville-Arendtsville game scheduled at the latter place Sunday was postponed due to rain.

PHILLIES TAKE PAIR OF GAMES FROM REDBIRDS

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some have called it a slump. Others have called it just "a slow start."

But it was apparent today that the trouble with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals is that the rest of the National league has been ganging up on them with an unorthodox barrage of lefthanded pitchers.

Including their double defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday — which incidentally sunk them deeper into the cellar, seven full games off the pace — the frustrated Redbirds have been beaten by southpaws 11 times this season against only two wins against portside pitching.

In 27 games, rival managers have started lefthanders against them 18 times and on 14 occasions were rewarded with victories. One game ended in a tie and the Cards won the other three. That is a far cry from last year when the Redbirds won 36 games from lefthanders against only 24 defeats for a percentage of .600 that was just 28 points off their season's average.

Other Teams Bunched
After Ken Heintzelman, ex-Pirate, held the Cards to nine hits in the opener to beat them 6-3, Ken Raf-fensberger blanked the Cards through 12 innings to win the nightcap 1-0.

Except for the Cards, the National league pennant race resembles a mob scene with only a game and a half separating the first place Boston Braves and the sixth place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Braves retained their half game edge over the New York Giants by splitting a double header with the Reds in Cincinnati, winning the second game behind Red Barrett, 3-1 after Ewell Blackwell of the Reds had outpitched Mort Cooper in the opener 2-1.

After the Pittsburgh Pirates had overcome a 6-1 New York lead in the opener to win 7-6, the Giants came back to take the abbreviated seven-inning nightcap 11-6 to retain second place.

The Dodgers ended a skein of 18 scoreless innings by tallying four times in the seventh to down the Cubs 4-2 before a record Chicago crowd of 46,572 paid admissions.

Feller Beats Yanks
Bobby Feller made his first start of the season at Yankee Stadium a success by turning back the New York Yankees 5-3, gaining his fifth victory against three setbacks.

Scoring two runs in the ninth innings of each game, the Chicago White Sox took the measure of Washington's Senators twice in the capital city 4-2 and 3-2.

Philadelphia's surprising Athletics moved into sixth place, only four and a half games behind the first place Detroit Tigers, by trimming the St. Louis Browns twice at Shibe Park 4-3 and 5-2.

Rain washed out the scheduled double header between the Tigers and second place Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park. They are slated to try again today in a pair.

Scranton Is Back At Top Of League
(By The Associated Press)
The Scranton Miners, defending champions, trod familiar territory today on the Eastern league summit.

The Miners took undisputed first place by grabbing both ends of a rain-swept doubleheader from the Williamsport Tigers yesterday, 4-1 and 3-2.

Rain washed away the nightcaps of scheduled twin bills at Albany and Wilkes-Barre, where double-headers were carded tonight in an attempt to regain lost ground.

Utica blanked Albany in the first, 8-0, and at Wilkes-Barre the home team dropped Elmira, 7 to 2, before the rains came.

In the other twin bill, Hartford scored a double win over Binghamton, 9-5 and 10-4.

At Scranton, a home run by pitcher Jack Fasholz with two on base gave the Miners the decision. In the nightcap, a double by Mike Ovaduke provided the margin in the last inning after Williamsport had knotted the count at two a piece in the fourth.

In the only games Saturday Wilkes-Barre defeated Utica, 8-5, in the opener of a doubleheader but dropped the second, 13-9.

Delycure Named For Tournament
Wichita, Kan., May 19 (AP)—Michael Delycure of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been named commissioner to supervise the district baseball tournament at Wilkes-Barre starting June 16, the National Baseball Congress announced today.

Delycure's appointment was recommended by Clarence Piffel of McKeesport, state commissioner.

A total of 16 qualifying meets will precede the annual Pennsylvania State tourney at New Castle starting July 13.

Harrisburg Takes 2 From Hagerstown

(By The Associated Press)

The Harrisburg Senators swept a double bill to the Hagerstown Owls, 10 to 2 and 6 to 1, at the Maryland city last night to continue to top the Interstate league.

The first game was delayed an hour and a half by rain.

Allentown climbed into second place although it could gain only an even break at Wilmington, winning the first, 6 to 4, and dropping the second, 7 to 6. Wilmington won the nightcap on Carl Kolosna's inside home run with two out in the ninth.

Trenton defeated Lancaster, 5 to 4 and 6 to 5, to topple Lancaster from second to third place.

The York-Sunbury doubleheader at Sunbury was postponed because of wet grounds.

Best Ever Produced
With the Yankees, Chase was the most agile, quick-thinking first sacker baseball had ever produced. He had an uncanny way of sensing the batter's intention and roved over a wide area, even catching pop fouls behind the catcher. He was a wizard on a bunt.

Chase was traded to the Chicago White Sox in 1913 and, after a dispute with his bosses, he switched the next season to the Buffalo Federals. He bounced back into the majors with the Cincinnati Reds after the 1915 season.

With the Reds he led the National league in batting with .339 in 1916. Chase concluded his major league career in 1919 with the New York Giants. He was 37 then, a veteran of 15 seasons in the big circuits. But he had never realized his ambition to play in a World Series.

The value of the 1946 harvested crop of stone fruits—peaches, plums, prunes, cherries and apricots—is estimated at $230-million.

Pungent herbs include rosemary, sage, and winter savory.

BULLETS 13TH IN TRACK MEET
Coach Roy Bloomingdale's Gettysburg college nine-man track squad finished 13th in the 35 annual championships of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field association held Saturday at Rutgers university, New Brunswick, N. J.

The Bullets tallied 6½ points, five of which came through Bob Snodgrass winning the discus event with a heave of 135 feet, one inch, to smash his own local college record of 132 feet, six inches.

Favored Rutgers took the title by amassing 40½ points. Twenty-one members of the association participated.

George Johnson took fifth place in the 100-yard finals to earn the Bullets a point. Charley Rambo tied with seven other entries for third place in the pole vault and won a toss for the third place medal.

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Our young neighbor, Keller Kurtz, has opened quite a neat little store, round the Corner, and has a pretty assortment of Books, Stationery and notions. See advertisement.

Relief to Ireland: Mr. Chandler, of the U. S. Gazette, in his paper of Saturday, acknowledges the receipt from the citizens of Fairfield, Adams county, through James Wilson, Esq., of $67 for the sufferers in Ireland.

Married: On the 18th inst., by the Rev. John Ulrich, Mr. Samuel Bowser, to Miss Mary Delap—all of this county.

On the 6th inst., by the Rev. Wm. A. Good, Mr. Peter H. Raffensperger, to Miss Leah Hollinger—both of near York Springs.

On the 13th inst., by the Rev. B. Keller, Mr. Franklin W. Black, to Miss Mary Elizabeth Corwell—both of Cumberland township.

Col. Jefferson Davis, of Mississippi, has been appointed by the President to be Brigadier General in the Army, in the place of Gen. Pillow, promoted.

Generosity: Allegheny county, Pa., including Pittsburgh, has contributed eighteen thousand dollars, in cash and produce for the relief of the Irish.

Lieut. Col. May: This officer was at New Orleans at the last accounts and was the "lion" of the day. On the evening of the 11th inst., he visited the French opera, where he was soon recognized by the audience, and his name resounded through all parts of the house. He attempted to withdraw but could not succeed, and the house was filled with vociferous cheering; the ladies showered bouquets upon him, and waved their handkerchiefs; the band struck up "Hail Columbia," and it was some minutes before the house gave their attention to the performance.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Town Meeting: On Friday evening, May 17th, pursuant to a call, a large and respectable meeting of the Citizens of the Borough of Gettysburg was held in the Court House to take such measures as might be deemed best to secure from the Gettysburg Water Company an adequate supply of water, for the use of the water consumers, and to enable the citizens of the town to protect property in the event of fire.

The meeting was organized by electing R. G. McCreary, Esq., chairman, and J. C. Neely, Esq., secretary. The object of the meeting was fully stated by Wm. A. Duncan, Esq., and a preamble and Resolution offered by him, which was unanimously adopted.

A second preamble and resolution was offered by Wm. A. Duncan, Esq., which after being amended and discussed by Messrs. Duncan, McConaughy, Neely, C. H. Buehler, Rev. H. L. Baugher, Wills, McCreary, N. Weaver and John Culp, was unanimously adopted.

The chair appointed on an Executive committee Messrs. Duncan, C. H. Buehler, McConaughy, John Culp and Abraham Scott.

Corpus Christi: This Festival, one of the most splendid in the Roman Catholic church, occurs on Thursday, the 30th inst., and will be observed (as is customary every year) at Conowago Chapel with appropriate and imposing ceremonies.

Married: Bupp—Wiest.—On the 9th inst., by Rev. A. Spangler, Mr. Lewis C. Bupp, of East Berlin, to Miss Susan Wiest, of Hamilton township.

Hartzel—Thomas.—On the 16th inst., by Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, Mr. Charles F. Hartzel to Miss Georgiana Thomas, both of Straban township.

Hoke—King.—On the 15th inst., by Rev. W. S. Vancleve, Mr. Abraham Hoke, of Granite Station, to Miss Josephine King, of Hunters-town, this county.

Today's Talk

A MAN'S RELIGION

As we enter our maturer years it is essential that we have a balanced equipment. That is, there must be something intermixed with our ideals, principles, and objectives that holds them firmly together—giving to character a compactness. I would name as this essential element—religion.

It was Carlyle who wrote in his book "Heroes and Hero Worship," this statement: "It is well said in every sense, that a man's religion is the chief fact with regard to him. A man's, or a nation of men's." By this statement, however, Carlyle did not mean to confuse religion with any so-called sect, or creed, but that something of reverence and belief that is a component part of the man of faith.

Material sustenance is a shallow protectorate. We not how in great periods of distress, tragedy or war, people turn for guidance to a higher power than they can discover in themselves. They see the evidence of miraculous power in every object of Nature. They see no guidance of man, or creative power, to equal what is performed before their eyes, as the work of an unseen Creative Mind. Everything is there for man's sustenance and handiwork. The good earth!

It is natural, therefore, for man to look beyond himself for spiritual nourishment, and for guidance and leadership throughout every vicissitude of life. Without it man becomes a stumbler and an unguided wanderer. Call this leadership God, or what you will. His presence is everywhere—in the flower, the movement of worlds and planets, and as keeper of the stars in the heavens. To Him does the songster of the forest sing, and to Him should we give thanks for the abundance that is ours.

Without religion, neither man nor nation can long survive and be either happy or successful. No theory of government can be built on anything less than this, and have any permanence. A return to religion by all the nations of the earth would mean an end to huge armies and give to the humblest his unobstructed chance for the fullest happiness and opportunity. A man would get to the full his earnings then! It's humanity's hope.

Of all the phrases of delight,
That wives to husbands ever say,
The best at closing of the day
Is this: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

No cause to change to linen white.
No friends who live ten miles away
Who want at contract bridge to play.
Just this: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

"Find check enclosed," when debtors write.
Is news the heart of man to cheer,
But sweeter to a husband's ear
Is this: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

Let loose the collar, much too tight!
No dance, no place to go to dine!
But now, no more the joy is mine
To hear: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

Colored Man Killed: We are informed that a colored man, accompanying a party of gypsies, encamped near New Oxford, this county, met a sudden death. Riding a spirited horse, he was thrown and dragged some distance, his foot fast in the stirrup, crushing his skull and causing death soon after. The gypsies purchased a burial lot and had the body interred in a handsome coffin. The negro had been with them five or six years.

POWERFUL NEW DRUG FOUND IN BIKINI'S SOIL

Philadelphia, May 19 (AP)—Soil from Bikini atoll, scene of last year's atomic bomb tests, has yielded a new drug that has been found twice as powerful as streptomycin in checking tuberculosis germs, Dr. Donald B. Johnstone of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station at New Brunswick, N. J., says.

Reporting the discovery to the Society of American Bacteriologists Friday, Dr. Johnstone said the new drug, called "streptomycin II—Bikiniensis," inhibits the growth of many bacteria and tests made on chick embryos indicate the drug is non-poisonous. He made no claim to have used it successfully on human beings.

Dr. Johnstone said the germ-inhibiting properties of the Bikini soil had nothing to do with atomic energy. Such soil may exist "in a thousand other places," he explained, adding that he happened to find it on Bikini while he was there as a scientific observer of "Operation Crossroads."

Other Sources
In his experiments at New Brunswick, Dr. Johnstone said, he was aided by Dr. Selman Waksman, discoverer of streptomycin.

Dr. Lloyd D. Felton of the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., told the closing session of the society's four-day meeting that a potentially rich source of anti-pneumonia serum has been found in most fresh vegetables.

Researchers at the Bethesda laboratory have extracted anti-pneumonia serum from potatoes, Irish moss, sunflower seeds and wheat germ that has been effective in treatment of 95 per cent of all cases where mice have been infected with the pneumonia virus, Dr. Felton said.

Garden Activities For Late May Listed

This is the month to sow seeds of vine crops such as melons, squash and cucumbers.

Your garden space is limited, train your tomato plants to stakes three feet apart. Set the stakes before planting. Pruned and staked tomato plants will produce a large early yield, but not as large a total yield as plants allowed to grow on the ground.

Do not remove the foliage of tulips, daffodils and other spring flowering bulbs until it has turned yellow and dried.

Divide clumps of chrysanthemums, hardy asters, phlox, statice, daisies, coreopsis and bontonia while new shoots are still small.

Watch Snails, Slugs
Snails and slugs are a menace to tender seedling plants. As they are night feeders, they often are not discovered until harm has been done. They will seek shelter in daytime under boards placed along the rows. Lift the boards daily and sprinkle a little hydrated lime on those found on the ground or clinging to the underside of the boards.

As soon as vegetable seedlings are large enough to handle, they should have their first thinning. This garden operation is important as failure to thin properly causes poor yields and inferior quality. The ideal time to do this is when the soil is moist. Thin the plants until they stand an inch apart.

Time To Spray Roses
If the job of thinning vegetable seedlings is left too long, it will be impossible to thin them without checking the growth of those that remain.

Plant snap beans.
Dust or spray roses to ward off mildew and blackspot.

When cutting peonies for indoor display, leave two leaves on the stems to assure blooming next year. Also, stake peony plants before the buds weigh down the stalks.

Use peat moss or tobacco stems as mulch in the rose beds to keep down weeds and to retain moisture in the soil.

Set out tomato plants, eggplants and pepper plants, but be prepared to protect them against a late frost. A week after setting them out apply a rotenone or nicotine dust to tomato and eggplants to protect them from insect damage.

PEPPERS IN HOME GARDENS

Sweet peppers, like eggplant, require a long growing season but they are not nearly so drought-resistant as eggplant. But when given a deeply mellow loam amply supplied with moisture-holding organic matter, peppers thrive in normal summer weather. They are exceptionally rich in vitamins, and although believed to be native to North America, the pepper has not been popular as a vegetable until its nutritional worth was recognized about a decade or two ago.

From 120 to 150 days from date of sowing seed is required for peppers to reach bearing age. This means that seed must be started under glass in late March or early April to have plants bearing in mid-summer. At this time of the year it is advisable to buy well rooted plants from commercial sources and set them out as soon as possible. June 10 is recognized as the latest safe date for setting out pepper plants in this latitude. Of course, seed sown within the next week to 10 days will provide thrifty plants for the final transplanting.

Peppers belong to the same family of plants as potatoes, tomatoes, eggplant and such weeds as horse nettle and nightshade. It is advisable to move peppers to a clean soil each year and avoid growing them where any of the related crops have grown in the last two or three years.

Like their close relatives, peppers demand a deeply fertile and mellow loam. Commercial fertilizer usually stimulates growth when applied broadcast at rates of 400 to 1,000 pounds per acre and worked into the soil before setting out plants. This should range somewhere from a 4-12-4 to a 6-8-6 mixture. Too, one or two side dressings with nitrate of soda is beneficial when growth is slow at any state before bloom.

If hornworms infest the plants, control the pests by hand-picking. If the soil is naturally fertile, do not use fresh stable manure or an excess of nitrogenous fertilizer, else the growing peppers may suffer from blossom-end rot. Like the same condition of tomatoes, blossom-end rot of peppers is believed caused by too heavy foliage robbing the fruits of needed moisture. Medium irrigation in dry weather aids in preventing this condition, although both extremes of moisture should be avoided.

It is advisable to water the roots at transplanting time after some soil has been pressed around or over them. Then, if no rainfall occurs within the next two days, irrigation helps the plants to become adjusted in their growing places.

Chinese Giant, Ruby King, World Beater and California Wonder are among widely favorite varieties. Hot

New Mosquito Fumer Developed

New Brunswick, N. J., May 19—Working on the principle of the "smoke aerosol," a new mosquito fumer has been developed which envelops the shrubbery and grass of a home grounds in a cloud that destroys mosquitoes.

Experimental work on the fumer was conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Rutgers University under a fellowship provided by the Tobacco By products and Chemical Corporation, of Louisville.

The fumer, which is simple to operate, consists of a small can containing 14 per cent DDT in a combustible base. A hole is punched in the can and the material is ignited with a sparkler, emitting a dense smoke under pressure. The smoke contains the DDT, and as it settles round the shrubbery and grass it kills the mosquitoes.

Dr. Elton J. Hansens, of the entomology department of Rutgers University, who supervised the work on the fumer, says it will keep the average home grounds free from mosquitoes for two hours or longer. It will be available to the public this season.

Lilies Of The Valley Like Shade, Moisture

Most gardeners seriously neglect their planting of lily-of-the-valley and consequently do not obtain a maximum number of flower spikes. Only too frequently are they relegated to a barren strip too narrow, and perhaps too poor, to support much other growth. Here they are left to shift for themselves.

Lily-of-the-valley likes shade as well as moisture. It thrives where the soil is rich in organic matter and plantfood. Weak liquid manure given once a month will work wonders—not perhaps immediately but as the years pass by. Because they propagate rapidly thinning or transplanting becomes necessary at least every two or three years. That there is so much foliage without blooms is due to the fact that only plants at least three years old produce flower spikes.

Simple Steps With Eggplant

The eggplant probably is a native of India, certainly from semitropical regions. It was cultivated by the Chinese and Arabs at least a thousand years ago. It is closely related to the potato, tomato, pepper, horse nettle, nightshade and other crops and weeds of the so-called nightshade family. It keeps quite well into early winter and furnishes one of the more appetizing vegetable for late summer and fall use. It merits wider growth in home gardens.

Rotate eggplant to a clean soil each year and do not grow it where any of the related crops have grown in the last two or three years. Also keep horse nettle and nightshade eradicated from the garden and nearby areas.

To grow plants from seed in this latitude and likewise provide sufficient time for transplants to produce fruits require sowing seed under glass in March. Therefore, gardeners who wish to include eggplant in this year's crop list must buy and set out well rooted plants within the next two or three weeks. Warm soil, warm growing weather and complete freedom from frosts are the three major climatic requirements of this vegetable.

Soil for eggplant should be fertile, mellow and deep. Fresh stable manure should be avoided, although plenty of organic matter is required. Of course, commercial fertilizers will not render shallow or hard soils suitable for eggplant, although when applied rather liberally in naturally suitable loams fertilizers are often essential to maximum vigor and productivity. Commercial gardeners usually apply from 800 to 1,800 pounds per acre of a mixture ranging around a 6-8-6 strength, broadcast and worked into the soil before plants are set out. Then they side dress the plants with 350 to 400 pounds per acre of high grade animal tankage about the time the first fruits form.

In buying plants from commercial sources, growers should avoid spindly, woody specimens. The eggplant plant suitable for bearing heavily should at the transplanting stage be quite bushy and uniform in shape.

If the Colorado potato beetle attacks eggplant, combat it with cryolite dust of rotenone. Paris green should never be applied on this vegetable, as it causes severe foliage injury.

Flea beetles—black to brownish jumping "bugs"—should be kept under control by cryolite in dust or spray. Or calcium arsenate may be used to combat these little gnawing pests, preferably used in Bordeaux mixture.

If the large green hornworms appear, keep them removed by hand-picking.

Plant lice (aphids) should be combatted promptly with a nicotine sulfate spray or a fresh nicotine dust. Eggplant wilt cannot be controlled by any known sprays. It must be prevented by rotating this vegetable to clean soils where no tomatoes, potatoes or peppers have grown in recent years.

However, despite these various recommendations for control of eggplant insect foes and preventing like-

SOIL IN GARDEN GIANT FACTORY, WITH NO REST

By DR. ALEX LAURIE
Ohio State University

Picture to yourself an enormous factory with innumerable workers, each one assigned to his task of converting raw materials into finished goods, each one toiling endlessly, never off the job, without even time off for meals, pushed steadily by several relentless bosses, living and dying on the job and being immediately replaced by others.

Such is the immense communal factory that we call the soil. The raw materials are undecomposed particles of rock and organic matter; the workers—the various forms of bacteria, fungi, molds, and their allies; the bosses—aeration, moisture, heat. Without these teaming multitudes the soil would really remain as inert as it looks to the eye. Without the complete domination by the bosses and their continued presence, the work would cease—first demoralization would ensue, to be followed by actual death of the workers. And the raw materials must be present—the undecomposed rocks are not enough—organic matter is needed and frequently additional minerals lacking in the original rock. All these are foods for the immense army of workers toiling for you.

Need Sufficient Air
And so, to keep this factory active and productive "care is necessary. Not only do the organisms, but the plants growing in the soil require sufficient air which means proper tillage, cultivation, and drainage. Without this needed air many organisms perish, the roots of plants fail to develop, the various chemical changes which should occur cannot take place. Water is another essential, so that its application and drainage are important. Many soils lack certain elements needed for growth; these have to be supplied in the same manner that we require balanced rations to keep our systems in working order. Temperature likewise is a prime factor in growth and has to be accounted for.

And what is soil? It is a natural medium for the growth of plants. It is produced from weathered rocks, decomposing animal and vegetable matter, through the action of such natural forces as sun and rain and air, and the myriads of organisms working steadily for us.

Cannot Be Neglected
And so we cannot assume that once a good soil, always a good one. It's a heritage which must be conserved—it cannot be neglected. It's like the story of the farmer who left his barn door unlocked one night and lost a valuable horse in so doing. All his regrets and the resolve not to let it happen again will not bring back the horse. So it is with soil—neglect may cause trouble and ily diseases, this vegetable is relatively free from serious growing ills and pests. It should be included in every home garden because it is a nutritious, palatable food, and housewives who know how to prepare it will find it a handy vegetable in late summer and fall. Fruits should not be left on the plants until they are tough.

In 97 A.D. there were nine different water lines supplying Rome, some of them as much as 50 miles long.

Today's Talk

A MAN'S RELIGION

As we enter our maturer years it is essential that we have a balanced equipment. That is, there must be something intermixed with our ideals, principles, and objectives that holds them firmly together—giving to character a compactness. I would name as this essential element—religion.

It was Carlyle who wrote in his book "Heroes and Hero Worship," this statement: "It is well said in every sense, that a man's religion is the chief fact with regard to him. A man's, or a nation of men's." By this statement, however, Carlyle did not mean to confuse religion with any so-called sect, or creed, but that something of reverence and belief that is a component part of the man of faith.

Material sustenance is a shallow protectorate. We not know in great periods of distress, tragedy or war, people turn for guidance to a higher power than they can discover in themselves. They see the evidence of miraculous power in every object of Nature. They see no guidance of man, or creative power, to equal what is performed before their eyes, as the work of an unseen Creative Mind. Everything is there for man's sustenance and handiwork. The good earth!

It is natural, therefore, for man to look beyond himself for spiritual nourishment, and for guidance and leadership throughout every vicissitude of life. Without it man becomes a stumbler and an unguided wanderer. Call this leadership God, or what you will. His presence is everywhere—in the flower, the movement of worlds and planets, and as keeper of the stars in the heavens. To Him does the songster of the forest sing, and to Him should we give thanks for the abundance that is ours.

Without religion neither man nor nation can long survive and be either happy or successful. No theory of government can be built on anything less than this, and have any permanence. A return to religion by all the nations of the earth would mean an end to huge armies and give to the humblest his unobstructed chance for the fullest happiness and opportunity. A man would get to the full his earnings then! It's humanity's hope.

HAPPY PHRASE

Of all the phrases of delight,
That lives to husbands ever say,
The best at closing of the day
Is this: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

No cause to change to linen white.
No friends who live ten miles away
Who want at contract bridge to play.
Just this: "Let's stay at home to-night"

"Find check enclosed," when debtors write.
Is news the heart of man to cheer,
But sweeter to a husband's ear
Is this: "Let's stay at home to-night."

Let loose the collar, much too tight!
No dance, no place to go to dine!
But now, no more the joy is mine
To hear: "Let's stay at home to-night!"

When bacterial spot occurs, as evidenced by small, circular, blister-like spots on the leaves, prompt spraying with 3-6-50 Bordeaux mixture helps prevent its spread. This disease is carried over winter on or in the seed and can be completely prevented only by disinfecting seed in a 1:1000 strength of mercuric chloride. However, pepper seeds are often injured by this or other methods of disinfection.

Gardeners with any questions about growing this vegetable are invited to write the editor for all the information and advice needed.

Simple Steps With Eggplant

The eggplant probably is a native of India, certainly from semitropical regions. It was cultivated by the Chinese and Arabs at least a thousand years ago. It is closely related to the potato, tomato, pepper, horse nettle, nightshade and other crops and weeds of the so-called nightshade family. It keeps quite well into early winter and furnishes one of the more appetizing vegetable for late summer and fall use. It merits wider growth in home gardens.

Rotate eggplant to a clean soil each year and do not grow it where any of the related crops have grown in the last two or three years. Also keep horse nettle and nightshade eradicated from the garden and nearby areas.

To grow plants from seed in this latitude and likewise provide sufficient time for transplants to produce fruits require sowing seed under glass in March. Therefore, gardeners who wish to include eggplant in this year's crop list must buy and set out well rooted plants within the next two or three weeks. Warm soil, warm growing weather and complete freedom from frosts are the three major climatic requirements of this vegetable.

Soil for eggplant should be fertile, mellow and deep. Fresh stable manure should be avoided, although plenty of organic matter is required. Of course, commercial fertilizers will not render shallow or hard soils suitable for eggplant, although when applied rather liberally in naturally suitable loams fertilizers are often essential to maximum vigor and productivity. Commercial gardeners usually apply from 800 to 1,800 pounds per acre of a mixture ranging around a 6-8-6 strength, broadcast and worked into the soil before plants are set out. Then they side dress the plants with 350 to 400 pounds per acre of high grade animal tankage about the time the first fruits form.

In buying plants from commercial sources, growers should avoid spindly, woody specimens. The eggplant plant suitable for bearing heavily should at the transplanting stage be quite bushy and uniform in shape.

If the Colorado potato beetle attacks eggplant, combat it with cryolite dust of rotenone. Paris green should never be applied on this vegetable, as it causes severe foliage injury.

Flea beetles—black to brownish jumping "bugs"—should be kept under control by cryolite in dust or spray. Or calcium arsenate may be used to combat these little gnawing pests, preferably used in Bordeaux mixture.

If the large green hornworms appear, keep them removed by hand-picking.

Plant lice (aphids) should be combatted promptly with a nicotine sulfate spray or a fresh nicotine dust.

Eggplant wilt cannot be controlled by any known sprays. It must be prevented by rotating this vegetable to clean soils where no tomatoes, potatoes or peppers have grown in recent years.

However, despite these various recommendations for control of eggplant insect foes and preventing like-

SOIL IN GARDEN GIANT FACTORY, WITH NO REST

By DR. ALEX LAURIE
Ohio State University

Picture to yourself an enormous factory with innumerable workers, each one assigned to his task of converting raw materials into finished goods, each one toiling endlessly, never off the job, without even time off for meals, pushed steadily by several relentless bosses, living and dying on the job and being immediately replaced by others.

Such is the immense communal factory that we call the soil. The raw materials are undecomposed particles of rock and organic matter; the workers—the various forms of bacteria, fungi, molds, and their allies: the bosses—oxygen, moisture, heat. Without these teaming multitudes the soil would really remain as inert as it looks to the eye. Without the complete domination by the bosses and their continued presence, the work would cease—first demoralization would ensue, to be followed by actual death of the workers. And the raw materials must be present—the undecomposed rocks are not enough—organic matter is needed and frequently additional minerals lacking in the original rock. All these are foods for the immense army of workers toiling for you.

Need Sufficient Air
And so, to keep this factory active and productive care is necessary. Not only do the organisms, but the plants growing in the soil require sufficient air which means proper tillage, cultivation, and drainage. Without this needed air many organisms perish, the roots of plants fail to develop, the various chemical changes which should occur cannot take place. Water is another essential, so that its application and drainage are important. Many soils lack certain elements needed for growth; these have to be supplied in the same manner that we require balanced rations to keep our systems in working order. Temperature likewise is a prime factor in growth and has to be accounted for.

And what is soil? It is a natural medium for the growth of plants. It is produced from weathered rocks, decomposing animal and vegetable matter, through the action of such natural forces as sun and rain and air, and the myriads of organisms working steadily for us.

Cannot Be Neglected
And so we cannot assume that once a good soil, always a good one. It's a heritage which must be conserved—it cannot be neglected. It's like the story of the farmer who left his barn door unlocked one night and lost a valuable horse in so doing. All his regrets and the resolve not to let it happen again will not bring back the horse. So it is with soil—neglect may cause trouble and irrevocable diseases, this vegetable is relatively free from serious growing ills and pests. It should be included in every home garden because it is a nutritious, palatable food, and housewives who know how to prepare it will find it a handy vegetable in late summer and fall. Fruits should not be left on the plants until they are tough.

In 97 A.D. there were nine different water lines supplying Rome, some of them as much as 50 miles long.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of my dear husband, David Harman, who passed away the 19th of May, 1945.

Two years have gone and gone to stay.
Since my dear husband was called away
My heart is sad, yes sad today
Because he went and could not stay.

I'll remember you dear while there is life in my heart
And though God in his wisdom has torn us apart
In your home up in heaven you must know that I am true
To the love and esteem that was only for you.

I pray that when life for me comes to an end,
I will meet you in heaven my one dearest friend,
My sweetheart, my one dearest love,
God guard you and keep you till I meet you above.

Devoted wife,
Mrs. Lillie Harman.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank friends, neighbors and relatives for their sympathy and the many kindnesses shown during the illness and death of Zephaniah Tipton. Also for flowers, cards and use of cars.

place where Lincoln delivered "a few appropriate remarks," which, he thought, would not long be remembered.

"Rated as one of the best-pre-served and best-marked of all battlefields, Gettysburg became a national military park in 1895 and since 1933 has been administered by the National Park Service. It covers about 2,400 acres and has more than 2,000 monuments and markers. There are twenty-five miles of paved roads within the park. Fifty licensed guides under the supervision of the Park Service are available to accompany private cars and buses at any time desired, there being no regularly scheduled tours. There is also no regular bus service except by charter. By taxi the charge is $4. The fee for a short guided tour covering the main points of interest is $2. A twenty-mile tour lasting two hours costs $3.

"By automobile Gettysburg is a little over 200 miles from New York, or about a six-hours' drive.

"By train and bus one can, for about $12, make the trip in a day and have four hours there. This calls for leaving New York at 6:30 a. m., Daylight Saving Time, on the Pennsylvania for Baltimore, thence by Greyhound bus. Hotel rates in Gettysburg are $3 and up. There are also numerous tourist home and tourist cabin accommodations available in the town and near by from a dollar up."

On the same page, and in a number of other Sunday newspaper editions, was published a display advertisement by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce inviting tourists to

Appeal for Aid
A letter addressed to school heads, ministers and priests states: "We are relying upon you to forward the drive in your community. Success will depend upon your initiative and leadership. Church leaders are asked to make an appeal to their congregation and youth groups."

Speaker at the "Service to China" program to be held at the Methodist church next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock will be Prof. George R. Larkin, of the Gettysburg College faculty, who from 1921 to 1927, was a teacher at the West China Union University at Chengtu, China. Special music and the showing of colored sound films showing the need for help for China will be shown.

"United Service to China is more permanent than relief work," Rev. Mr. Stoneback said. "The agencies aided by the United Service to China organize programs and train leaders to help China prepare for the future as well as aiding in the feeding of the persons who need food in China today."

SHOWDOWN IS NEAR ON ISSUE OF TEACHER PAY

By MARTIN BRACKBILL

Harrisburg, May 19 (AP)—The controversial teacher pay question headed toward a showdown in the Legislature today with Republican leaders backing up Gov. James H. Duff's stand that a $1,000 boost in salary minimums is "thoroughly impractical."

Faced with renewed pressure from teacher organizations to raise pay minimums and provide substantial boosts for inexperienced instructors, lawmakers returned to act on an expected administration request that the House Education committee be directed to rewrite the pay bill it has approved to fit the governor's budget.

"I agree that is the best way to meet the problem," declared Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), House GOP leader, who emphasized the General Assembly never has fixed teacher pay scales but only minimums that school districts must pay to participate in state education grants.

Labor Bills Near Vote
Meanwhile, administration-backed labor bills started toward a House vote as GOP Senate leaders continued to seek Governor Duff's support for measures to establish a "cooling off" period in advance of strikes, extend the scope of unfair labor practices to include jurisdictional walkouts and secondary boycotts by unions or employers, and open union membership lists to anyone qualified to hold a job.

The House bills, on the other hand, which have administration support, would ban strikes by public employees and picketing of struck establishments by non-employees, and payment of jobless benefits to strikers, continue permanently the "experience rating" system of calculating employer contributions to unemployment compensation, extend to 24 weeks the jobless benefit payment period and grant workers equal pay for equal work.

With the end of the current fiscal period two weeks away, the Assembly's Appropriations committee continued to mark time pending legislative action on education.

$400 Raise Possible
On education, Duff has earmarked $48,000,000 more for education than was spent by the state in the current fiscal period but legislation approved by the House Education committee would require at least $40,000,000 in addition to that to finance the Commonwealth's share of the cost.

Rep. Sorg has estimated that the governor's budget will permit minimums of $1,800 a year for elementary teachers, a $400 a year boost over the present floor, but $600 less than asked by the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Sorg also favored six increments of $150 a year against the eight of $175 each proposed in the PSEA bill, sponsored by Reps. D. Raymond Sollenberger (R-Blair), education committee chairman, and George D. Stuart (R-Allegheny). In addition, the committee recommended an immediate boost for experienced teachers ranging up to $500, based on $50 for each year of service up to 10.

Sales Drop, Profits Rise In State Stores

Harrisburg, May 19 (AP)—The volume of sales at State Liquor stores fell off during the first quarter of 1947 but the Commonwealth's profit increased. Records of the Control board showed sales for the first three months totaled $49,983,455, as compared to $52,677,546 in the same period in 1946.

At the same time, however, the state's profit for January, February and March amounted to $7,314,271, compared to $6,601,158 for the first quarter of 1946.

A Liquor Control Board spokesman said that sales for 1946 were "higher than at any time in the history of the board" but that a decline started in December that continued into the first quarter of 1947.

The increased profits were attributed to a change in the formula in applying the profit markup price. The board in January began computing the markup after the entire federal tax of $9 was added. Prior to that the markup was applied only to $5 of the federal tax.

Chapter 28

Rush was in his room at the hotel. He had contacted Robin and was waiting for the little man. When he came he had nothing to offer.

"We've checked everybody in the hotel. There's no lead at all. Of course in a good sized hotel like this people can do a lot of wandering around without being seen. It could have been anybody."

"Okay," said Rush. "Keep on it. Maybe somebody'll remember something." He looked at his watch. It was three o'clock. "Gosh, I've wasted almost a full day. It's Sunday, too. There's nothing more to do today. I've got to see Prime and Pedrick before tomorrow, then I'm going to relax. Tomorrow will be a full day. We've got to win an election tomorrow."

Prime and Pedrick were not available by telephone at any of their usual stands so Rush called Gay. She was both hungry and willing to relax. Rush took her to dinner at a roadside several miles out of town. They talked of everything in the world but Forge City and the job Rush was doing there. As they drove back in the cool of evening Rush felt renewed and fresh. He stopped the car in front of Gay's apartment and turned to her.

"My plans include a large bunch of romance. But the time is not yet ripe. I'm carrying too big a load to give it the attention it deserves," he said.

He opened the door. She stepped out onto the grass parking. Rush slid across the seat and out of the car. He stood for a minute stretching his muscles then he took a step toward Gay. His hand was out reaching for her arm when something tugged at the sleeve of his coat and burned his arm with fiery heat. In the same second a shot rang out from across the street and down the block a hundred feet. In a flash Rush had thrown Gay to the sod and was lying across her. His hand shot to the holster at his shoulder and his gun was out pointed in the direction of the shot. A motor roared and a car leaped away from the curb, its motor straining at the gears. Rush stood up and looked after it but it was gone before he could even recognize its body type.

He reached down and pulled Gay to her feet.

"Get in the house fast," said Rush. "They may come around the block again and make another pass at me."

Reluctantly Gay left him and entered the apartment house. Rush dove in the car and was instantly in motion. He drove to the hotel and left the car for the doorman to park. He took an elevator to his floor and hurried to his room.

He put his hand on the knob and stopped. It was unlocked and he could hear voices inside. The knob turned under his hand and the door came open. A uniform policeman was standing in the doorway with a gun trained on his stomach.

"Come in, Henry," the cop invited. "Come in with your hands over your head."

Rush slowly raised his hands over his head and advanced into the room. Inside was the plainclothesman who had searched Rush's luggage on his first night in town. He looked at Rush as he came into the room and stood before him.

"Couldn't keep your nose clean,"

HUMAN SIDE OF

In connection with his talk on deposits he told of the guarding and safe-keeping of the funds left with the bank and the encouragement of thrift, the value of school savings and the very human interest involved in Christmas club savings.

Farm Financing

In addition to the human side of the loan department, he told of the services of the bank in financing farmers from the time the planting is done through the season until the crops are harvested and sold. In 1945, Mr. Thomas said there were loans made to 2,532,150 farmers, the loans totaling $3,488,562,000.

In administering trust funds, he pointed out that again, so much that a human enters into the service, that while the funds must at all times be guarded, the needs of the person or persons being cared for must be taken into consideration.

Mr. Thomas gave an interesting account of the work entailed by a check from the time it is written and sent out until it is returned to the bank.

In touching on the rights of the GI in procuring a loan for a home business, Mr. Thomas told the problem with which the banker is confronted. Many times the loan can be made safely and also as a benefit to the GI but in some instances the returned serviceman asks for a loan to finance a farm or business about which he knows little and with which he has had no experience. Such a loan might in the long run prove a very real handicap to the GI, he said.

Mr. Thomas said that this is a problem which any banker must handle and that the disappointment of the boy seeking the loan, if it is refused him, is one of the very human things which the banker must face.

Banks Went To War

Mr. Thomas said that the banks "went to war" just as the military did and as did the citizens of the country. The problems of the banks at that time were intricate and difficult but they came through with flying colors. The banks of the United States were responsible for distributing 85 per cent of all war bonds sold. Adams county alone purchased approximately $22,000,000 worth of bonds, he added.

In closing he said that the United States banking system is the best in the world, and that any effort to change it would be a great mistake.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Mrs. S. Gray Bigham, who with Mrs. Richard C. Walton, was in charge of the program. Mrs. W. Clayton Jester presided.

Additional guests included Mrs. Flora Tilton Moore and Miss Anna Black, Flora Dale, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Gettysburg; Mrs. Daniel C. Jacobs, Johnstown, a former member of the club, and Mrs. Frank N. Hewston, Biglerville.

Plans for the July meeting will be announced later. Mrs. Joseph Stubbs will be the hostess and the program will be in charge of Mrs. William C. Tyson.

MAY RAISE TAX

While the reimbursement from the state has actually been increased, he pointed out, it was not increased as greatly as the increase given to the teachers.

Get Salary Increases

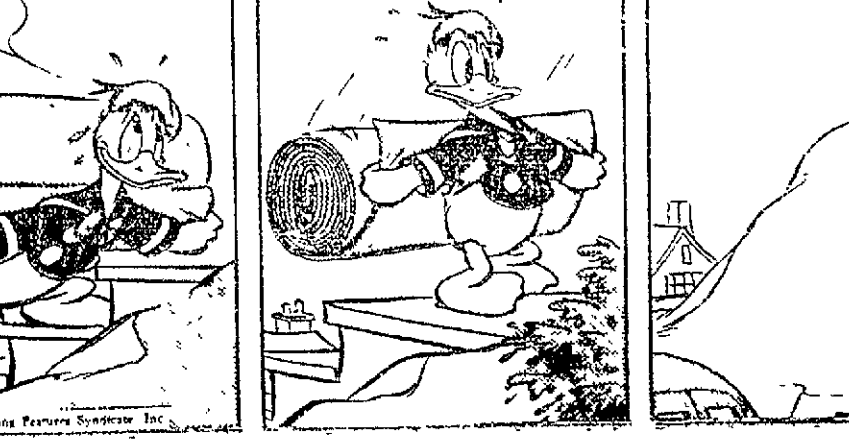

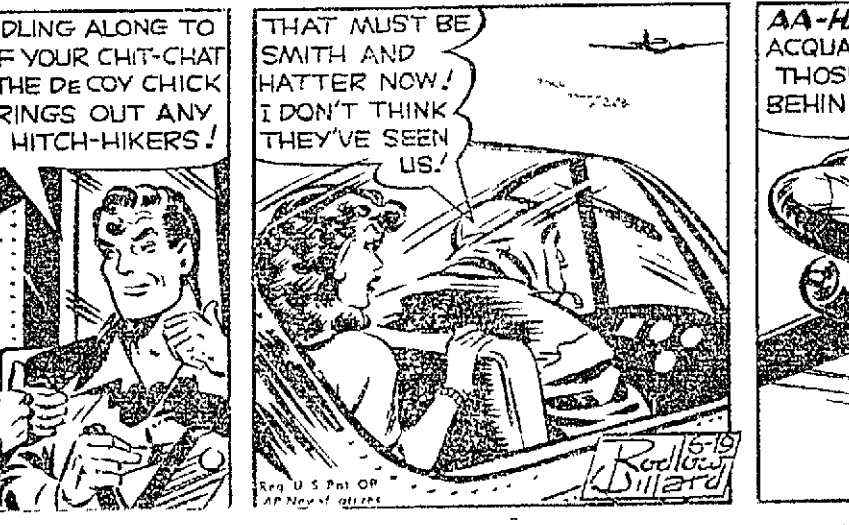

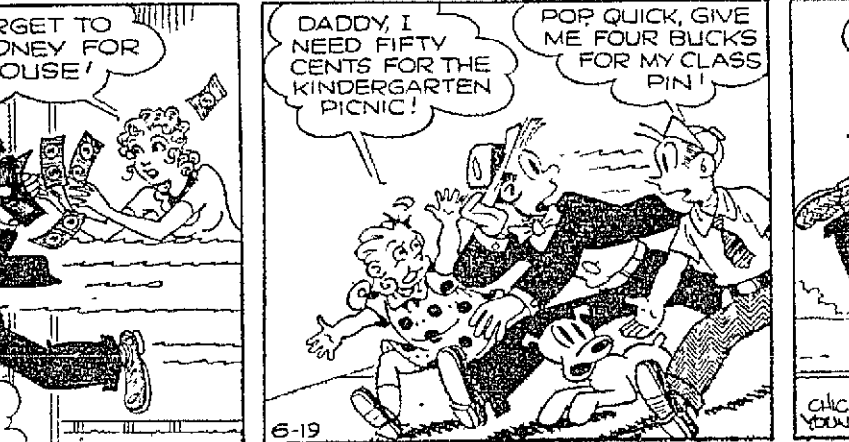

All teachers in the county, with the exception of those who are now being paid the top salaries allowable will receive at least an $150 raise next year under the new law. Webster said. The new law provides a minimum of $1,950 as the salary for all teachers holding standard certificates and sets their top at $2,700.

There are five "increments" of $150 each provided by the law, which means the teachers' salaries will automatically advance by that much at the periods stated by law. Those with bachelors' degrees will receive a minimum of $2,000 and can reach a top of $3,200 through automatic increases. Teachers with masters' degrees must be paid a minimum of $2,200 and can get a maximum of $3,400. Principals are paid from $2,600 to $4,500 and supervising principals from $2,800 to $5,050 under the new law with the first figure being the lowest possible pay and the latter the maximum. They, too, are given automatic increases over a period of years. In addition they will obtain $200 above the maximum if they hold masters' degrees.

Other School Acts

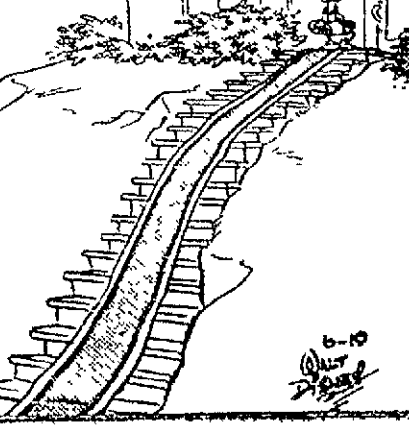

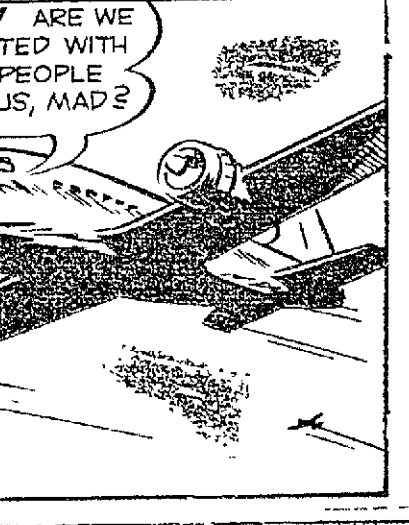

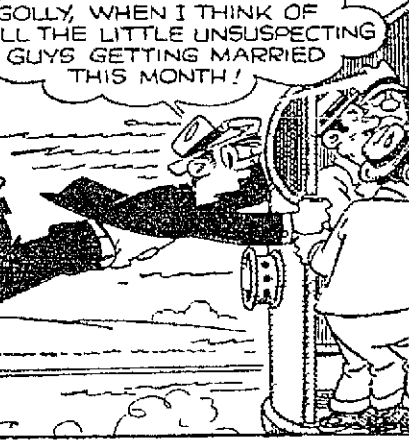

Other acts passed by the legislature, as explained by Webster, include laws permitting the school boards to revise budgets during the school year within certain limits, extending wartime emergency teachers and setting no machine for hearing any grievances they might have, providing for a nurse and dental hygienist for each 1,500 students, which, it was explained, would provide for three and one-third nurses in Adams county, and made no provision for nursing service in the parochial schools. Last year in Adams county every school, public and parochial was provided with nursing service through funds raised by county organizations.

Other bills passed by the legislature, Webster said, permit school boards to set up junior colleges, if they wish, and establish an authority which will have the power of lending money to school districts, above the amount they can legally loan at the present time. Another bill permits local taxation specially designated as for school purposes.

COUPLES IN TEN STATES HAVE BIG TAX ADVANTAGE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, (AP)—Married couples in 10 states pay lower federal income taxes than couples in the other 38. That's because couples in those 10—called community property states—can divide their income to get a lower tax rate. Here's how:

Papa makes $10,000 a year, mama makes nothing. At income tax time mama claims half the $10,000 as her income. So each pays tax on only $5,000, instead of papa paying tax on $10,000. This makes the total tax on the family smaller.

This is unfair to couples in the other 38 states where they can't split their income. In those states each must claim what he makes as his own.

Congress May Change Law
Congress talks now of giving couples in those 38 states the same break those in the 10 get. Don't expect it this year. Maybe next year.

These are the 10 community property states: Arizona, Idaho, California, Nevada, Louisiana, New Mexico, Washington, Texas, Oklahoma, Oregon. The first eight have had community property laws for years. Oklahoma adopted the system several years ago, Oregon just this year.

This is how couples in 38 states get stuck for higher taxes than couples in the other 10.

Jones, married, with two children, lives in Texas, a community property state. His net 1946 income, after expenses, was $10,000.

Makes Big Difference
His wife claimed $5,000 as hers. Jones and his wife filed separate returns, each paying tax on $5,000. Total tax: $1,178.

But here's Smith, married, with two children, living in New York, which is not a community property state. Like Jones, Smith's net income was $10,000. His wife couldn't claim any of it. He had to pay tax on his $10,000 income. Smith's tax was $1,862 or $684 more than Jones' tax.

Right after World War I the government's Internal Revenue Bureau, which collects taxes, challenged the community property laws. The Supreme Court upheld the laws.

It found those laws went way back to French and Spanish days in this country and had not been cooked up to get cheaper taxes. In short, they had been in existence before there were any income taxes.

Uncle Sam Would Lose
Losing out with the court, the Revenue Bureau asked Congress by law to force community property state couples to lump their income in one return. Congress wouldn't do it.

But as income taxes have climbed through the years, the discrimination against the people in non-community property states has become sharper.

To make the whole thing equal, Congressmen in this session have offered a number of bills which would: Let couples in all states get the same reductions which now only couples in the 10 community property states get.

The Treasury Department, which includes the Internal Revenue Bureau, isn't opposing these Congressional ideas.

The total reduction, due to such a change, would cost the government about $1,000,000,000 a year in income taxes. Congress may act next year.

FOREIGN RELIEF FUNDS MAY END

By JACK BELL

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) has indicated that approval of a $350,000,000 foreign relief fund may close the door for this session of Congress on such spending abroad.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee told reporters, without elaborating, that he expects no new relief requests. His forecast was surprising, because it has seemed likely President Truman would seek additional funds for rehabilitation and other kinds of American aid for nations hard hit by the war.

Korea has been mentioned as one possible recipient of help and other countries are expected to line up with requests after the President signs into law the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish assistance bill now before him.

A Senate-House committee agreement Friday on the terms of the $350,000,000 relief measure will be submitted to both chambers next week. Because of its terms, Congress is expected to take no action on a special United Nations fund to provide medicine and nourishment for Europe's hungry children.

The conference committee adopted a provision earmarking $15,000,000 to $40,000,000 for this fund. In effect, the bill would direct the President to post the smaller amount immediately. When other nations make their contributions, the United States would put up additional money at a rate which would make its contribution 57 per cent of the total. However, the American contribution could not exceed $40,000,000. This stipulation left $210,000,000 for relief in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Trieste and China, and $15,000,000 of that is earmarked for possible emergencies elsewhere.

When Martina reached the city she realized that she had given no thought to what her destination might be. She had simply rushed off toward town because that was where Dan was. Now she knew she could not go to his shop and perhaps create a scene that would later be embarrassing to both of them. He was extremely busy and might resent her coming. There were so many things she had never found out about Dan. There had never really been an opportunity. The tragic death of her parents had ruined their honeymoon, and since that time she had been slowly groping her way back to reality. What an uphill road they had been travelling! But it had to be different now. She had to make Dan see somehow that nothing else in life mattered except that they be together.

She drove aimlessly, feeling her disordered thoughts righting themselves, knowing that somehow out of the confusion in which they were engulfed there would inevitably come clarity of purpose and vision. She turned into shaded residential streets, not really seeing much of what she was passing until a house with a certain familiarity arrested her eye. Then she knew where she was! For there was the stone parsonage adjacent to the beautiful little church in which she'd become Dan Holloway's wife! Had chance or destiny brought her here in this seeking hour?

On impulse she stopped the car, walked up to the heavy entrance door, found it unlocked and stepped into the vestibule. Someone was at the organ and the gracious uplifting melody of an old hymn filled the sanctuary. Martina pushed open the inner door and went in. On this late summer day the windows were open on the garden of the parsonage, from which the incense of many flowers was wafted on the breeze. She slipped into one of the pews to listen to the music and to partake of the beautiful quietness to which the music seemed to add rather than subtract.

She saw presently that the girl at the organ was the young minister's wife — Mrs. Forrester — Lois, the minister had called her. She recognized that the girl was playing with the sure touch of the concert artist, her deft manipulation of the instrument giving evidence of her sureness of technique. She thought suddenly, "She might have gone far with her music — but she chose this — and oh, she must have been so right about it!"

She had been thinking her own case unique — but surely, she thought smiling, others had given up more — much more than she contemplated doing that they might be with the one they loved.

Lois Forrester finished her practice and was about to close the organ when she turned and saw Martina. "Oh," she cried smiling, "I didn't know anyone had come in. You must have been as quiet as a mouse! I didn't even hear the door."

Martina rose and went to the chancel. "I didn't want to disturb you. You play beautifully, you know."

Lois Forrester looked at her closely, and her face broke into a smile of recognition. "Why — you're Mrs. Holloway, aren't you? You were married in this very church! I remember."

She stopped and Martina knew she was remembering the sad news that had broken into the joy of the occasion. She asked quickly, "I wonder if you'd mind — may I come up?"

"Oh, yes, do. I was about to finish up here, though."

Martina came to sit in the chair closest beside the organ. "I do wish you'd play a little more," she coaxed. "You don't know how much I've enjoyed it."

Lois Forrester smiled. "I haven't forgotten how excited we were about your being a radio singer — we've listened to your morning program often. Now I'll play on one condition — that you sing with me."

"But I—"

"Oh, please."

"All right. I'll sing a hymn. Anything you like."

Lois' hands caressed the keys and the matchless old melody rolled out over the quiet auditorium. "Faith of our Fathers!" Martina began to sing. The majestic words took on new meaning, brought new strength and comfort. Faith! That was it! One must have faith that one is walking in the right path. . . . The rich clear notes of her lovely voice took the song to the farthest corner and ended on a pean of praise. "I will be true to thee till death!"

Lois whispered, "That's wonderful! I've never heard a more lovely voice. My dear, you wouldn't come here and sing for us sometime, would you?"

"I'd love it!" Martina was very much pleased about it. "I'd consider it a privilege!"

They set a date and then Lois said, "You must come over to the parsonage for a cup of tea and to see my husband for a few moments. He'd never forgive me if I let you get away!"

It was pleasant in the cool, chintz-hung living-room of the Forrester's parsonage home, and the minister was delighted to see Martina. He had come out often in the first days of her bereavement, but had not seen her for some weeks

now. The tea was iced and sprigged with mint. The tiny cakes were crisp and sweet. When she left, with the promise to come again and sing for them soon, she was glad that she had come, and looking back saw them standing there, their arms about each other, safe and secure in their love and companionship.

"I want what they've got for Dan and me," she thought. "I must let nothing keep us from having it."

She was suddenly tired, spent with the emotion of the trying day and sure of understanding and help she turned her car into Hemlock Street.

Chapter 28

When Dan received the news from Mrs. Allerton that Martina had gone up to town, that she had not said when she would return, he was sure that she had left him for good—that somehow Graddy Hueston had made her see what a fool she was to turn down the audition. And now here he was, in Martina's house, the enormity of his loss facing him for the first time.

He walked over to the piano, ran his fingers soundlessly over its keys, knowing that her touch was still fresh upon it. It was the closest he could get to her at the moment.

What was the answer, he wondered? Was this the end of that splendid sparkling adventure upon which they had embarked such a few short weeks ago? He recalled the afternoon he had asked her to marry him—the magic that had been between them when they had needed no words to express their ecstasy of heart. How, then, could they have come to this? Where had he failed along the way? He acknowledged the stubborn pride by which he had been driven, but failed to see where he could change his entire personality to fit into the present scheme of things.

"I guess," he reflected bitterly, "it was a sorry day for Martina when she decided to marry me!"

He recalled Anne Amory and the fact that Martina usually stayed with her when in town. He called Anne's number, waited impatiently for her answering voice.

He asked fearfully, "Is—Is Martina with you, Anne?"

"No, I haven't seen her."

"Oh! Well, sorry to have bothered you. He was about to hang up."

"Dan! Wait! You mean Martina isn't at home?"

"No, she—she evidently went up to town."

She waited a moment, then said a bit cautiously, "Dan—I know about the audition."

She thought she heard him swallow painfully. "You do? Did Martina tell you?"

"No. It was Graddy Hueston. He came to see me."

"I see. Well—"

"Dan, I think you should know that Graddy is going to England for an extended stay. I—I advised him to!"

After a moment he asked, "Why did you think that was necessary?"

"I think it'd be better for you two alone it would be better for your marriage. I hope you'll forgive me."

"Damn people, Dan was thinking! Why can't they stay out of our affairs? He said very politely, 'That was a necessary, Anne. Martina may need Graddy's advice in her new career.'"

"According to Graddy, Martina isn't having any new career. She told him to stay out of her business and very rudely hung up on him!"

Dan's heart gave a dizzy lurch, then settled back to steady beating. "Well, I think you've got it all wrong, Anne. Our marriage is all washed up."

"Look, Dan, don't say that until you see Martina and talk to her. She loves you very much. You can still make a go of it."

"Thanks, Anne, but I haven't much hope. See you later."

And before she could say any more, he hung up on her. What Anne had said should have lifted his spirits. Graddy was going away—and Martina would miss him and blame Dan for that, too! If he only knew where to find her, if he only had a chance to talk to her!

He was growing more restless and unhappy. No use staying here. He got into his car and headed toward town again. When he reached the intersection where their cars had collided that morning of sleet and snow, he thought ruefully, "Here's where I really started making a wreck of her life! But the joke wasn't funny! Because it brought to mind the other events of that day—how she'd stood by when he needed her, how he'd felt, even then, that there was a very rare sort of girl—like none he'd ever seen before. Special pattern, he'd thought—lost and never used again. Martina! His eyes, hard on the road before him, burned with unshed tears. This was the final indignity—he wanted very badly to cry! Like a little boy! To have her in his arms again, to hold her close! He groaned and barely missed smashing a fender against a passing truck.

He thought, "I'll go around to Mom's for a bite of supper. Maybe she'll know what to do. Maybe, even, she has seen Martina!"

He wondered why he hadn't thought of that before. This was another time when the big, brightly lighted kitchen would be a good place to go. They'd all be there and it would be like old times—before he'd ever known a girl named Martina Wayland. No—Martina Holloway! His wife!

There'd be Lucy and Mike—and maybe Nora Byron. Good old Nora! She'd given him a bad hour the last time they'd met. He hadn't seen her since the day she'd come by the shop and almost forcibly dragged him off to lunch. He hadn't wanted to go for he'd told Martina he wouldn't have time to take her, and he certainly didn't have time for Nora, but she'd said there was something very important she had to know about. No other time would do. He remembered how he'd felt like an utter fool when she said over the luncheon table, "Dan, I've got to know. Is your marriage a success? Is it for always? Because, you see, I've got to chart my course by that. I've always loved you—and suddenly somehow I had to know."

Women were unpredictable. Why had Nora chosen that particular day to become dramatic? He had told her very gently that for him there would never be any one else but Martina, his wife. She had said, "Well, that's that—now that I know I'll settle down and quit hoping and make a career of nursing!" It had all been very embarrassing to him—so embarrassing that for Nora's sake he had avoided saying anything about it—even to Martina.

Now he parked his car at the curb and went into his mother's house.

Chapter 29

Hattie Holloway was alone in her kitchen when Dan came in. She had not started preparing supper but sat before the small radio listening intently to Anne Amory's story, "Dangerous Lives."

She looked up when Dan entered, motioned him to be quiet, and went on listening for some eight minutes until the episode for the day had ended.

Then Hattie said brightly, "Hello, Dan. I wasn't expecting you quite this early."

He turned in surprise. "You mean you were expecting me at all?"

"Oh, yes. I thought you'd finally come."

"What made you think that?"

She rose, went to the oven, and took out a delectable-looking lemon pie. "Sit down, Dan, and I'll cut you a piece."

He said in complete exasperation, "Look, Mom — I don't want any pie. I'm looking for Martina. Have you seen her?"

She answered serenely. "Yes. I've seen her."

He grabbed her and shook her. "Mom — where is she? When did you see her?"

She said severely, her eyes unusually bright, "Take your hands off me, Dan Holloway! Who do you think you are? Now listen to me! You sit right down there at the table. I'm going to talk to you!"

At her tone he sat down abruptly, because he knew that when Hattie Holloway spoke like that she meant what she said. He thought of all the times in the past when he had obeyed that particular tone. He said desperately, "Mom, please — don't you see how miserable I am?"

She answered sharply, "I'm glad you're miserable! I hope you'll be miserable for a long time!"

"Mom, what are you talking about?"

"I didn't know I'd raised an idiot for a son! An idiot who would deliberately try to throw away the most priceless thing in the world. The love of a good wife! Dan, I'm surprised at you! How can you be so stupid?"

"Now, look, Mom—"

"No, you look — and listen! I didn't think there'd ever come a time when I'd have to say someone else is better and finer than you are, Dan! But that day has come. Martina is so far above you—"

"That's what I'm going to tell Martina when I see her. I'm going to tell her that the whole thing is a wash-out — that I'm definitely not good enough for her—"

"And she," Hattie went on mercilessly, "will say that she wants your marriage and her man more than she wants one of the most brilliant careers a girl is ever offered — a career that need not make her any less your loving, devoted wife. A career in which you should take pride, instead of resentment. And you'll let her give up all that — quite unnecessarily, mind you — because you've never learned that marriage is about equally give and take — because you don't know that a love that won't sacrifice a few of its own desires for the happiness of the loved one, is no love at all!"

He was silent for a moment. Then he said weakly, "I never saw you so disturbed!"

"I have a right to be disturbed, because after all it's partly my fault. I failed somewhere along the way to teach you the right values—"

"Oh, Mom, what a thing to say!"

"It's true." Suddenly her anger died and she turned to him pleadingly. "Oh, Dan — don't you see? Martina has this lovely gift through no fault of her own — she must share it with the world — and when you married her you became a sort of — of custodian of the gift, too! It's part yours, because she's yours — oh, so completely yours! And so it's your responsibility, too. Because it's yours you can take pride in it — you can say, 'That's my girl singing — my Martina! Because of me that joy, that lovely quality is in her voice!'"

He asked slowly, "You mean — you think we can have any sort of home life?"

"Well, why not? Not the same kind your father and I had, perhaps — but as beautiful, as satisfying in its own way. That will be up to you — Martina will do her part! It won't be easy — but where there's faith — and oh, Dan, there's got to be a lot of faith, maybe more in your case than in some! And you wouldn't want Martina any different, would you?"

Suddenly he smiled, his whole face lighted up with the lifting of his spirit. "I seem to remember a certain person who was a little bit disturbed because her son was going to call on a young lady named Martina Wayland. This person suggested that her life was so different, that she moved in a different world—"

He rose and put his arms around her. "If you say we can make a go of it, I know we can. It — it will be sort of an adventure, won't it? More exciting, more challenging than the usual sort of marriage. A sort of — not 'because of' but 'in spite of'! If you get what I mean!"

"I get it — perfectly. But the real success will be 'because of' — because of the love you have for each other! Am I to understand, then, that at last you're willing to make a few sacrifices in order to keep Martina as your wife?"

"Mom, you've showed me this thing in a different light — the right light. I knew all the time there was an answer — and I was searching for it — pretty blindly. I'll admit. For you see, I thought the answer was in everybody else, when all the time it was in me. I'll never be able to tell you how grateful I am to you for showing me that. And now, I've got to make Martina see it, too. Do you think she'll understand and go on with the audition? Can I make her see I really want her to?"

"I don't think you'll have too much trouble."

"If you'll only tell me where she went when she left here!"

"Did I say she'd left here?"

"What!"

She kissed him quickly on the cheek. "Take the stairs two at a time, Dan. Martina is sound asleep in the guest room upstairs!"

Chapter 30

Martina lay across the bed, her hand under her cheek, like an exhausted child. Dan stood looking down at her, his eyes full of adoration and a new, tender understanding. His mother was right. He had been an idiot to even think for a moment that he could do without her.

He stooped and placed his lips against hers. She sighed and opened her eyes and smiled "Hello, Dan!" she said. "What a lovely way to wake up!"

Then coming more fully awake she sat up, flushed from her nap, her dress wrinkled, her soft hair rumpled. She looked utterly lovely. She said, "You did come, Dan. Your mother said you would if I — if I'd just sit tight!"

"I've been hunting you all afternoon!"

"Do you know where I went? All of a sudden I found myself in front of the church—the church, Dan, where we were married! I went in and the minister's wife was playing the organ. It was enchanting. I sat there in that quiet place and all the confusion left and I was utterly at peace. It was the grandest feeling. Then Mrs. Forrester saw me and I sang for her. They want me to sing in the service sometime. Then I went over to the parsonage and we had tea—"

"She nervous," he thought listening to the flow of words. "She's afraid of what I'm going to say. I make her nervous and afraid. That is the bitterest realization I've ever known!"

Aloud he said gently, "It sounds like a pleasant afternoon. Martina, I—there's so much I want to say to you—"

She put her hand against his cheek. "I know. But why waste words, Dan? It's so nice—just being together."

"But there are things that must be said," he insisted. "I've got to beg you to—forgive me for being so stupidly blind. Mom has made me see—"

Martina smiled. "She's such a darling. I—I sort of tried to tell her something about—about how there'd been a bit of a misunderstanding—or at least I was afraid you might not see—see something as I do. And she wouldn't let me say a word against you—as if I wanted to!"

"Well, just now she gave me the very devil and said you were the finest person that ever lived and I was the scum of the earth!"

"Dan!"

"It's the truth, so help me. And she's right." He paused, then went on, "Martina, about the audition—"

She interrupted hurriedly. "That's all off, Dan. I could just about murder Graddy Hueston for meddling. In fact, I—"

His eyes crinkled with laughter. "You told him to keep out of your affairs and hung up on him!"

"Dan! How did you know that?"

"Woman, I keep a private detective on your trail all the time! But seriously, Martina—I don't know just how to explain it all, but I'm seeing this thing differently now. I guess maybe I would have eventually worked it out for myself, but Mom showed it to me a while ago with great clearness. The thing is—you must go ahead with your singing—or anything else that comes into your pretty head to do. There's just one stipulation. Martina, darling, don't—don't ever let anything come between us—don't pay any attention to anything I might say in an unguarded moment—and don't—oh, please don't—ever go away and not let me know where you are again. I've been through hell!"

"But I never at any time had any intention of going anywhere!"

Seek To Slow Up Farm Land Boom

Washington, May 19 (AP)—A conference of government and private lending agencies and farm leaders will be held here June 9 to see whether they can find a way to slow down the boom in farm land.

The meeting is being called by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson at the request of President Truman.

In a statement issued at the White House Friday, Mr. Truman said he is "deeply concerned" over the level of farm real estate and is anxious to prevent a collapse such as that which brought ruin to thousands of farmers after World War I.

The President noted that farm land values now stand 92 per cent above the 1935-39 average. Latest Agricultural department reports show that they increased 12 per cent during the year ended March 1.

"Well, I thought you did, which was almost as bad! Now about that audition. I'll call up Morgan, myself—"

She turned him about to face her. "Now, look here, Dan. Holloway! I'm tired of people calling up and arranging things for me! From now on I'll do my own arranging, if you don't mind!"

He grinned. "Yes, ma'am!"

Suddenly they were in each other's arms, laughing a bit hysterically at the silly spectacle they had made of themselves. At the perfectly ludicrous notion that they could live without each other, or that anything at all—certainly not pride, nor ambition—could possibly be as important as they two themselves!

Dan said, "It sure is a lot of fun to give up a pet theory. You should try it some time."

"But I haven't any pet theories!"

"Lucky you—sometimes they trip you up pretty badly. Martina, when are we going home?"

"Not till after supper. There's lemon pie!"

Hattie called, "Come on down, you two. Lucy's home and supper's ready."

"Gosh," Dan said, "I thought there was so much to say—that I'd never find the right words—but actually we've said very little—and somehow the whole thing is straightened out."

"That's because we understand each other when we really try to. We don't need words, remember?"

They went downstairs hand in hand. Neither of them quite dared to meet Hattie's eyes, but Hattie behaved quite as if nothing out of the ordinary had occurred that day to ruffle the serenity of their lives.

It was a splendid supper, but

when they were ready to go home a sudden problem presented itself. There were two cars, one that Martina had driven parked in the garage and Dan's at the front curb. "What the heck!" Mike chorled. "Anybody'd think you two were mad at each other!"

"What a silly idea!" Martina cried. "I'll leave my car and go with you, Dan. I'll get it one day soon."

"Tomorrow," Dan said firmly. "When you come up for your audition."

They drove through the streets of the town and out onto the smooth white highway. The threat of a storm that had hung over the city all day had entirely disappeared now and a pale new moon sailed serenely through a million stars. The summer air was sweet with the heady fragrance of honeysuckle and moonlight. Martina slipped her hand into Dan's, felt his fingers close around hers in quick response. She smiled contentedly in the darkness. It was so good to be going home.

THE END

COAL EXPORTS TOP '46 LEVEL; STOCKPILE LOW

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines said today coal exports are running a third higher than last year despite depletion of domestic stockpiles to a 33-day supply—only three days more than what the agency calls the danger point.

The bureau said soft coal shipments to other countries during the first quarter of 1947 totaled 15,103,000 tons, compared with 11,370,000 tons for the first four months of 1946.

Canada received 4,378,000 tons and Europe 8,659,000, including 2,543,000 for France, 2,276,000 for Italy and 1,083,000 for the Netherlands.

Anthracite shipments for the same period totaled 2,381,000 tons compared with 1,400,000 tons a year earlier. They went principally to Canada, Sweden, Belgium, France and Italy.

Lack Shipping

"The foreign market is so brisk that exports probably would have been much higher—with the removal of government restriction—had there been sufficient shipping available," one official remarked.

The Mines Bureau said domestic stocks declined 11.6 per cent during April to 27,190,000 tons, or 33 days' supply. War-time stockpiles often were kept at twice that figure.

Mine workers start their annual 16-day holiday June 27. The government must return soft-coal mines to their owners June 30, with expiration of the Coal Mines Administration.

Unless the mine operators and the United Mine Workers, who recently broke off contract negotiations, reach a working agreement before the end of the vacation period a general coal strike is regarded as inevitable.

Give Pups To Train As 'Seeing Eye' Dogs

Harrisburg, June 19 (AP)—Two Pennsylvania state police German shepherd pups have been presented to Seeing Eye, Inc., Morristown, N. J., at the suggestion of Mrs. James H. Duff, wife of the governor, to be trained as guides for the blind.

State police headquarters said today Mrs. Duff made the proposal while admiring the seven-month-old pups—Duchess and Princess—at the Hershey State Police Training school recently.

She had recalled that the New Jersey organization had had difficulty in obtaining suitable dogs to act as guides for the blind. Other pups will be given to the Seeing Eye kennel later.

Maj. Thomas F. Martin, superintendent of the state police training school, presented the dogs to State Rep. Gus Wachhaus, blind legislator from Shenandoah, and David Treatment, of Philadelphia, representing the Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind, who accepted for the Seeing Eye organization.

France And Britain Work On Economics

Paris, June 19 (AP)—France and Britain agreed today to convene a European economic commission "within the framework" of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe to implement secretary of state Marshall's offer of U. S. aid.

The French cabinet then voted formal approval of the French-British alliance, signed this spring in Dunkerque. The alliance provides for the closest possible economic cooperation.

A cabinet spokesman said France and Britain would jointly invite Russia today to participate in the new commission's work. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin reached the agreement to convene the new commission in conversations here and the French cabinet immediately approved.

Denounces Rent Control Measure

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Denouncing the measure as "a save-the-landlords bill," Rep. Buchanan (D.-Pa.), fought the rent control bill to the very last minutes of House consideration.

A member of the House banking committee, whose chairman, Rep. Wolcott (R.-Mich.), introduced the measure, Buchanan moved to send the bill back to the House and Senate conferees for further study and adjustment.

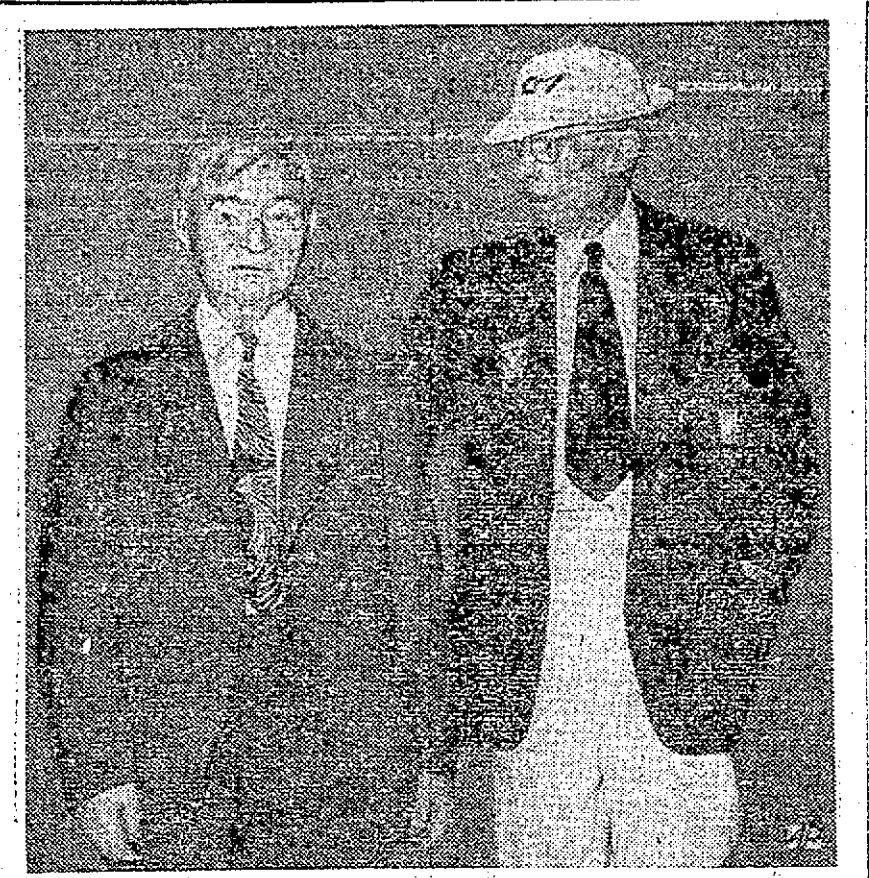

His motion failed, 114 to 87, after which the bill was passed by a vote of 163 to 73 and sent to the Senate.

It was the second time the measure had been before the House. This time it was in the form of a compromise between House and Senate versions. Buchanan, former mayor of McKeesport, had opposed it when it first was passed.

SHIPYARDS TO STRIKE JULY 1

New York, June 13 (AP)—By a vote of 100 to 3, the policy committee of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers has voted to call a strike of 150,000 workers in 51 shipyards July 1 if "bottom dollar" wage demands are not met.

A spokesman for the committee, announcing the vote last night, said that most present contracts expire June 23 and that strike notices have been sent to 31 major shipyards in conformity with the Smith-Connally act. He said present contracts would not be extended beyond June 30, date of expiration of the Smith-Connally act.

Original wage demands, which included a 25-cents-an-hour increase and an 11.6-cents-an-hour differential for men engaged in repair work, have been "scaled down," the spokesman said. He did not give the new demands or the present wage scales.

A statement from the union quoted John Green, of Camden, N. J., international president, as saying that west coast employers had given raises up to 13 cents an hour to the AFL Metal Trades Council but had made no effort to improve east coast contracts.

Reprimand Leads To Mother's Death

Gastonia, N. C., June 19 (AP)—The 13-year-old son of a Baptist preacher shot his mother to death, Sheriff H. T. Efford said, because of a reprimand for opening a letter addressed to his sister.

Assistant Jailor Edward Groves at the Gaston county jail related that the youth, undersized Johnny Weaver, told him that he "just got mad" when he was scolded, grabbed a .22-caliber rifle, and fired two bullets into his 47-year-old mother, Mrs. Cora Weaver.

Baltimore, employs 40 per cent of the workers in the industry, the union spokesman said. Edward Denhardt of Camden, secretary of the union's Bethlehem-Atlantic coast committee, said Bethlehem's offers were below terms of the present contract.

PRAVDA ASSAILS ACHESON TALK

Moscow, June 19 (AP)—The Communist newspaper Pravda today termed the Wesleyan speech of retiring Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson a "gross and rude slander against the Soviet Union."

(Acheson declared Sunday that Russia was retarding world recovery by steps in conflict with the "very premises" needed for international accord.)

The article in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, was the sharpest attack yet on U. S. foreign policy in the Russian press.

"Acheson knows very well with what distrust progressive circles throughout the world appraise American foreign policy and this includes appraisal in the United States too," it said.

"The cynicism of dollar atomic diplomacy, the greed of American monopolies and the greed of unchecked expansion covered by the figleaf Truman Doctrine has liquidated without the faintest traces the prestige of American foreign policy won by Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Pravda said Acheson "does not want to admit responsibility for the situation rests greatly on those American politicians and diplomats who have become loudspeakers and conductors of deeply anti-democratic

Bank Employees In France On Strike

Paris, June 19 (AP)—Employees of all banks throughout France except the bank of France went on strike today when last-minute negotiations on their demands for salary increases failed to produce results.

Simultaneously workers in three of the capital's largest department stores and a number of five-and-ten-cent stores also struck for higher wages. The department stores were the Galeries Lafayette, Printemps and Bazar de L'Hotel de Ville.

"One should know this kind of thing is not original. Acheson has had a few predecessors, especially in the nations of the former Axis. Acheson may be characterized as in the category of persons Elliott Roosevelt refers to in his book as seeking intentionally to ruin the unity which the great powers formed during the war."

IN MEMORIAM In memory of my dear husband, David Harman, who passed away the 19th of May, 1945.

Two years have gone and gone to stay.

Since my dear husband was called away

My heart is sad, yes sad today

Because he went and could not stay.

I'll remember you dear while there is life in my heart

And though God in his wisdom has torn us apart

In your home up in heaven you must know that I am true

To the love and esteem that was only for you.

I pray that when life for me comes to an end,

I will meet you in heaven my one dearest friend,

My sweetheart, my one dearest love, God guard you and keep you till I meet you above.

Devoted wife, Mrs. Lillie Harman.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank friends, neighbors and relatives for their sympathy and the many kindnesses shown during the illness and death of Zephaniah Tipton. Also for flowers, cards and use of cars.

place where Lincoln delivered "a few appropriate remarks," which, he thought, would not long be remembered.

"Rated as one of the best-preserved and best-marked of all battlefields, Gettysburg became a national military park in 1895 and since 1933 has been administered by the National Park Service. It covers about 2,400 acres and has more than 2,000 monuments and markers. There are twenty-five miles of paved roads within the park. Fifty licensed guides under the supervision of the Park Service are available to accompany private cars and buses at any time desired, there being no regularly scheduled tours. There is also no regular bus service except by charter. By taxi the charge is $4. The fee for a short guided tour covering the main points of interest is $2. A twenty-mile tour lasting two hours costs $3.

"By automobile Gettysburg is a little over 200 miles from New York, or about a six-hours' drive.

"By train and bus one can, for about $12, make the trip in a day and have four hours there. This calls for leaving New York at 6:30 a. m., Daylight Saving Time, on the Pennsylvania for Baltimore, thence by Greyhound bus. Hotel rates in Gettysburg are $3 and up. There are also numerous tourist home and tourist cabin accommodations available in the town and near by from a dollar up.

NEW ANGLES TO USSR ATTACKS AGAINST U.S.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Soviet Russia's propaganda offensive against what it regards as an American attack on Communism has developed new and violent tactics which have subordinated political to economic issues.

The latest thesis of the Moscow press is that the United States is headed for a whale of a depression, and that the other nations of the world had better hitch their commercial wagons to the Soviet star.

Why turn to Russia? Well, to use the language of the Communist newspaper Izvestia, it's because the Soviet Union doesn't have any depression and isn't going to have any, for "the great country of the Soviet does not depend on the wildly swinging pendulum of the American economy."

Study Long Range Policy

All this is aimed at attracting the attention of countries for which Moscow believes America is angling—and probably is. Those include the Scandinavian states, Italy, France and South America.

Russia apparently thinks England is in the grip of American money lenders but hopes to win the British over to the Soviet fold.

Washington, not attempting to hide its light under a bushel, yesterday made it known that Secretary of State Marshall's policy planning staff soon will re-examine world economic conditions to determine America's long range policy. It is said this survey may result in a decision on how much more financial help the United States government must be prepared to provide foreign countries in the next couple of years.

Many Prime Objectives

Moscow is concentrating its economic propaganda fire on prime objectives, of which there are many. An outstanding example is the situation in Germany which is suffering a grave food shortage. General Lucius Clay, American military governor in the Reich, disclosed yesterday that he had set in motion a campaign to inform the Germans of Uncle Sam's efforts to feed them.

Clay said one reason for this move was to offset Communist propaganda which has been making capital of the food scarcity in the American and British zones.

Despite the fact that the Russian zone of occupation itself is suffering from food shortage, the Communist press keeps hammering on the difficulties in the Anglo-American zones. One charge which the Red-controlled newspapers are feeding to the discontented Germans is that the United States is taking huge reparations out of Germany and delivering food only to countries which have dollars with which to pay for it. And a mere two years ago Russia and America were Allies, fighting these same Germans!

Germany is one place where the Big Four—America, Britain, Russia and France—should stand together. If there is a people whom the Germans hate more than they do the French, British and Americans it is the Russians. Hitler's raucous harangues against everything Communist still ring in the ears of his people. It's true that Communism frequently thrives on chaos, but the Reich is a dangerous area for experiments.

Ugly signs of revolt have been showing themselves among some Germans of late. Thomas Mann, widely known German author who is now in London, yesterday declared that "it is self-pity, part of the national egotism, which is preventing Germany from cooperating with the Allies in her revival."

We can accept that estimate of the position, but I would add something a bit more pointed. It also is the damnable Prussian arrogance which is making itself evident. I saw it in Germany right after the signing of the armistice at the end of the first world war—heard the Prussian burgo-master of the great city of Cologne demand (!) that the Allies ship in food and clothing to the defeated Germans or he wouldn't be responsible for what the people might do—and I've seen plenty of the same since then.

Anybody who thinks to gain by stirring up the Prussianism in the Germans, had better stop and reconsider.

St. Louis, (AP)—The radio in the patrol car of Police Sgt. John E. Rooney and Patrolman John Cunniff blared out this order: "Investigate an open manhole at Grand and Jefferson drives in Forest Park." They had no trouble complying. The right front wheel of their car was caught in it.

Margaret Truman Cancels Concert

Pittsburgh, May 19 (AP)—Margaret Truman, daughter of the President, cancelled her concert scheduled here tomorrow night because of the serious illness of her grandmother, it was announced today.

The Syria Monque concert was to have launched Miss Truman's first concert tour as a coloratura soprano.

The cancellation was announced by Miss Truman's voice teacher and friend, Mrs. Margaret Strickler, when the two arrived here from New York by train today.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harner of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Harner's mother, Mrs. Ruth Hottinger, of Emmitsburg, spent Mother's Day visiting with Mr. Harner's parents at Littlestown.

Miss Frances Rowe, of Washington, D. C., spent several days the past week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Combs.

Mrs. Henry Gerken and daughter, Nancy, spent Thursday visiting relatives in Westminster.

At a recent meeting of the Emmitsburg Fire company, Norman Z. Hoke, who has been an active member of the fire company for 47 years, was presented a genuine leather wallet inside of which was a five dollar bill. Mr. Hoke's name and address is engraved in gold letters on the inside of the wallet.

Mrs. Rose M. Beall visited in Frederick on Thursday.

Mrs. Thornton Rodgers and Mrs. Clarence Sanders visited Thursday with Miss Lucy Rider who is a patient at the Little Sisters of the Poor Home in Baltimore. Miss Rider has been quite ill but she is reported as being much better and able to be upon a wheel chair.

Visitors during the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sharrer were Mr. Howard H. Rideout and son, Hamilton of Seattle, Washington, and Mrs. A. K. Pohlson and daughter, Janie, of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mrs. Thornton Rodgers entertained at cards last Wednesday night.

During the past week a new bakery opened in Emmitsburg. It is known as Kelly's bakery and is located in the rear of the property now occupied by Luther Kelly and is operated by Victor Kelly and his cousin Wilbur Kelly.

On Wednesday evening the Home Economic Junior-Senior girls of the Emmitsburg high school entertained the entire Senior Class at a party at Big Pipe Creek park, Taneytown. Mid. Bowling and roller skating were held.

WOULD FREE DORMANT FUNDS

Harrisburg, May 19 (AP)—Unexpended and unencumbered balances of all appropriations except eight made by the general assembly up to the end of 1943 would be lapsed under a measure up for Senate action today.

The governor's budget office declined to estimate how much money would be released for other purposes by the action, a spokesman explaining that it was impossible without a detailed check-up going back many years.

The exceptions proposed in the measure sponsored by Sen. James A. Getz (R-Allegheny), chairman of the Senate finance committee, were: Improvement and extension of State Capitol park, $3,000,000, and emergency improvements at state mental hospitals and other welfare institutions, $9,375,000, both made in 1943.

Purchase and development of Ricketts Glenn for a state park in Luzerne, Sullivan and Wyoming counties, $150,000, and acquisition of Robert Fulton's birthplace in Lancaster county, $28,000, both in 1941.

Also exempted was a 1947 appropriation for flood control, $75,000 earmarked in 1943 for maintenance of the Pennsylvania canal along the Delaware river; and $24,000 for construction and maintenance work along Darby Creek, Delaware county.

Excusable

Oklahoma City, (AP)—Paul Carter Burns, 13, leaned against a light post. A short circuit in the wiring melted the anchor bolts and the metal post crashed into the street. Paul faintly. When he regained consciousness at the hospital, he shouted, "I didn't do it. I was just waiting for a bus."

TRUCE HOPE IN PALESTINE IS FADING FAST

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 19 (AP)—Conditions laid down by the Jewish underground as the price of peace in the Holy Land appeared today to have virtually killed all hopes of a truce urged by United Nations members pending settlement of the Palestine problem.

In a clandestine radio broadcast yesterday, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the so-called Stern Gang declared they would not halt their campaign of violence until the British lay down their arms, "and the arrests of Jews in Palestine, cease deporting Jews to other countries and respect the rights of Jewish citizens in their homeland."

"We struggle for the establishment of a free, Jewish, undivided Palestine," the broadcast said, "and we cannot be forced to end that justified struggle."

The announcer asserted that Britain had shown her "unwillingness to keep a truce by deporting to Cyprus Saturday night 1,141 uncertified Jewish immigrants intercepted as they neared the Palestine coast aboard the 1,200-ton Trade Winds after a 13-day voyage from Genoa."

"Britain's violence is only answerable with violence on our part," the broadcast added.

It suggested that U.N. members who signed the truce appeal "try again to induce Britain to lay down her arms."

Haifa, port from which the Trade Winds' passengers were deported was thrown into intense excitement last night by two heavy explosions on the outskirts of the city, followed by the glare of flames halfway up the slopes of Mt. Carmel.

Two Showers Held At Carbaugh Home

A surprise bridal shower for Miss Mary Kuhn and a stork shower for Mrs. Percy Grove, Jr., were held at the home of Miss Shirley Carbaugh, Gettysburg R. 3, last Tuesday evening.

Those present were Misses Mary Kuhn, Nina Fisel, Shirley Carbaugh and Mrs. Merle Myers, Gettysburg; Misses Henrietta Yingling, Esther Krout, Helen Myers, Mrs. Jacob Harget and Mrs. Percy Grove, Jr., Littlestown; Mrs. Richard Hess, Union Mills, Md.; Miss Thelma Ecker, Union Bridge, Md.; Misses Alice Cashman, Helen Rae Martin, Mrs. Charles Martin and Mrs. Glenn Martin, Taneytown, Md.; Mrs. Thomas Baker, Mayberry, Md., and Miss Salome Pohlman, Centennial.

Refreshments were served and group singing was enjoyed by all.

A birthday party was held Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Slonaker, Fairfield, in honor of their son, Gary Lee Slonaker, who celebrated his fourth birthday. Those attending the party included Miss Alma Henry, Mrs. Ida Slonaker, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers and children, Lloyd, Betty Ann and Janice; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sanders and family, Gary, Glenn and Glenda Mae; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sites and children, Ronald, Terry and Annett; George Stineberger and daughter, Helen, all of Fairfield; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tully and daughter, Judy Ann, of Gettysburg; Wayne Kuykendall, Polly Mellott and Joan Kuykendall, of Aspers. Games were played and refreshments served.

Most diabetic patients were overweight before contracting the disease.

About four-fifths of the residents of Canada were born in the country.

Light Company Unit Wins Division Honor

Judged best among all divisions of the company from the standpoint of being "good housekeepers," the Edison company including York, Hanover, Gettysburg, Dillsburg, York Haven, Middletown and surrounding territory, has won the Metropolitan Edison Housekeeping award for 1946.

Announcement was made by W. H. Doran, executive vice president.

Award of the management trophy, a handsomely mounted bronze plaque inscribed with the names of the divisions which have won the award since the competition was first instituted in 1944, was made at a meeting of division superintendents and department heads by R. D. Jones, director of safety for Metropolitan Edison company.

It was accepted on behalf of all employees, to whom he gave full credit for having made the achievement possible, by O. E. Benson, vice president of Metropolitan Edison company, in charge of the western division.

In addition to the management trophy, Metropolitan Edison awards divisional housekeeping plaques on a semi-annual basis. For the last six months of 1946 the winner of the western divisional plaque was the Hanover unit. Gettysburg claimed the honor the first six months of the year.

France And Britain Await Russian Reply To Europe Recovery Parley Invitation

TO WAIT UNTIL MONDAY FOR RED ANSWER TO BID

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Paris, June 19 (AP)—France and Great Britain have given Russia until Monday to decide whether she wants to participate in a collective effort to put postwar Europe back on its economic feet with American help—or see continental reconstruction organized without the Soviet Union.

They sent a note to Moscow last night inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin during the week of June 23 concerning steps to implement the European recovery plan suggested by U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

The note was dispatched after a two-day Bidault-Bevin meeting here at which, the two said in a joint statement, they welcomed "with the greatest satisfaction" the ideas expressed by Marshall in a speech at Harvard university June 5.

At London or Paris
Their joint message to Moscow proposed that the meeting of the three foreign ministers be held in a "convenient" place to be agreed upon, but one well-informed British source said the note made it quite clear that London or Paris would be considered most convenient.

Both French and British representatives said the possibility of a Russian refusal had not even been considered by Bevin and Bidault and it appeared obvious that they expected a quick reply.

Their note did not say so in so many words, but well-grounded informants said they were determined to go ahead on the Marshall program without Russia if the reply from Moscow is in the negative or inconclusive.

"We must go ahead," said one British official. "The question is too urgent."

Dim View By Red Press
There was no immediate indication of what response Russia would make, but the Russian press has taken a dim view of Marshall's proposal, calling it merely an extension of the Truman doctrine, which it described as an attempt to "exert political pressure with the aid of dollars—a program of interference in the affairs of other states."

What Marshall said, in brief, was this: "It is already evident that, before the United States government can proceed much further in its efforts to alleviate the situation and help start the European world on its way to recovery there must be some agreement among the countries of Europe as to the requirements of the situation and the part these countries themselves will take in order to give proper effect to whatever action might be undertaken by this government."

"It would be neither fitting nor efficacious for this government to undertake to draw up unilaterally a program designed to place Europe on its feet economically. This is the business of the Europeans. The initiative, I think, must come from Europe. The role of this country should consist of friendly aid in the drafting of a European program and of later support of such program so far as may be practical for us to do so. The program should be a joint one, agreed to by a number, if not all, European nations."

Need For Speed
The joint British-French statement last night said the two foreign ministers agreed that American aid was necessary, but added:

"It will only bear fruit to the extent that the countries of Europe make maximum effort to develop once more the resources which, in the main, they produced for themselves before the war and which they have to import today, along with indispensable industrial equipment, largely from the American continent."

The economic condition of Europe necessitates the rapid drawing up of comprehensive programs. Such programs should be drawn up by all European countries which are willing to participate, in liaison with appropriate organs of the United Nations.

A copy of the message to Moscow also was transmitted to U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery for transmittal to Washington.

NEW ALLEGHENY DEAN
Meadville, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Allegheny college today announced appointment of J. L. Bostwick as dean of men, succeeding Dr. Horace T. Lavelly who was promoted to the rank of professor of philosophy.

Bostwick, a native of Seville, O., is at present dean of men and director of student personnel at the University of New Mexico. He will assume his new duties in September.

HAPPY END

Richmond, Ind., (AP)—Firemen jerked the blazing trousers from 87-year-old John Wadsworth and rushed him to a hospital for treatment for minor burns.

Wadsworth pleaded with the firemen to recover his trousers and look in one of the pockets. They found $1,234, Wadsworth's savings.

Seattle, Wash., (AP)—A clanging alarm sent police rushing to a Seattle bank. They found an auditor had dropped a bundle of bonds on the burglar alarm signal.

TRUMAN WILL DECIDE TODAY ON LABOR BILL

Washington, June 19 (AP)—President Truman, confronted by sharply conflicting views within his own party, set today aside for his fateful decision on the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

While a majority of his advisers "guess" he will veto the measure tomorrow, some of his closest associates insisted they have no definite knowledge of what his action will be.

One of these, a daily confidant of the President, said privately that virtually all government officials concerned with labor matters are of the opinion that Mr. Truman should try to kill the bill.

Politicians Urge Veto
However, a survey of Democratic party leadership across the country—conducted by the Democratic National committee—showed a 103 to 66 division in favor of a veto, plus four recommendations that the measure be allowed to become law without signature.

A party official who disclosed results of the survey said National committee members and state chairmen and vice chairmen were asked to submit their "considered judgment" of the issue "without coloration."

The committee made the check on its own authority without instructions from the White House, the official said.

He added that the strongest sentiment for a veto was found in results from the west, New York and Pennsylvania.

Gathering Opinions
One reply from New York, he said, contended that unless there were a veto the Democrats would lose that highly important state in the 1948 election.

The south generally urged that Mr. Truman sign the measure, which imposes new legal curbs on some organized labor activities. The results of the party survey have been submitted to Presidential Counsel Clark M. Clifford for relay to the President.

Clifford has been working with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman in rounding up the opinions of all cabinet members, congressional leaders and others for a composite recommendation.

MAY RAISE TAX TO MEET BOOST FOR TEACHERS

Adams county's school districts will in all probability have to raise their tax rates in order to meet the requirements of the school teacher pay raise voted on the closing day of the state legislature the Schoolmen's conference, which held its concluding session Wednesday afternoon at Gettysburg college, was told.

Raymond Webster, field secretary of the Pennsylvania Educators Association, speaking to the 50 schoolmen from York, Adams and Franklin counties, said that the teachers pay act provides for the local districts to assume a larger share of the amount paid for teachers' salaries than was paid previously and that "in all probability the only way to meet that increase will be through increased taxation."

Previous bills provided that five mills of tax from each district to pay teachers when the reimbursement fraction for each district was figured, Webster said. Now the amount used as a basis is six mills.

FRUIT GROWERS TO HOLD FIELD DAY JULY 30TH

The Adams County Fruit Growers association is making plans for a fruit growers' field day, and at a committee meeting Wednesday night in the office of the Biglerville Packing and Distributing company, tentatively set July 30 at the date, with July 31 as the rain date in case inclement weather forces a postponement.

Harvey B. Raffensperger, Arendtsville, president of the association, presided. Others present were J. W. Beldier, Biglerville, vice president, Frederic E. Griest, Jr., Flora Dale, secretary-treasurer; Robert Lott, of Aspers; William Lott, Gardeners; William Oyler, Arendtsville; Ralph Tyson, Gardeners; Harold Steiner, Flora Dale, and M. T. Hartman, county extension agent.

A committee composed of Robert Lott, Mr. Oyler and Mr. Hartman was appointed to obtain a location for the field day. This committee will hold a meeting Saturday morning, June 21. William Lott and Mr. Tyson were appointed to contact equipment dealers to obtain exhibits and demonstrations. Mr. Steiner heads the general committee, which will meet June 25.

Field days held the past two years have featured demonstrations of spray machinery. This year it is planned to obtain exhibits of equipment from dealers and hold displays and demonstrations of spraying and dusting machinery and tillage equipment.

ODD FELLOWS' MEMORIAL HELD

"The Significance of Memorials" was the subject of an address given by the Rev. Dr. Jacob M. Myers, member of the Lutheran Theological seminary faculty and of the Gettysburg lodge of the Odd Fellows, at the memorial service conducted by the local lodge Tuesday evening.

The service, the first held since 1941, was arranged by a committee comprising C. A. Heiges, Gervus W. Myers and M. W. Stansbury and was held following the regular lodge meeting.

Chairman Heiges presided and called upon Jesse E. Snyder, secretary of the lodge, to read the names of members who died since the last memorial service. The list follows with the date of death of each member:

Charles K. Hartzell, February 5, 1942; Clinton E. Tawney, March 7, 1942; James M. Caldwell, May 14, 1942; Charles B. Tate, February 15, 1942.

VFW Auxiliary At 2nd Birthday Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 15, Gettysburg, held a covered dish luncheon Wednesday evening in honor of its second birthday.

A feature of the evening was the cutting of a three-tiered birthday cake with two candles. Spring flowers were used for table decorations. The luncheon opened with the singing of the doxology. Bingo was played following the luncheon. At a brief business meeting plans for the York orchards and the Paradise Protective tours were completed and all persons volunteering to help were urged to be present Saturday, June 28, between 8 and 9 a. m., at the post home on Carlisle street.

Just received cotton dresses, sizes 12 and 14. Two nylon girdles. Virginia Myers, Baltimore Street.

Closing Service For Bible School Friday

The Community Vacation Bible school will close its two-week sessions Friday evening with a "sharing" service at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of St. James Lutheran church.

Pupils of the four departments of the school will demonstrate phases of their classroom work of the last two weeks and will display handwork products. Parents and friends of the approximately 140 pupils of the school have been invited to attend. There will be an offering to help defray school expenses.

The daily offerings received at the school sessions will go to China Relief.

FULL MILITARY HONOR PAID TO CIVIL WAR VET

Full military honors were accorded to George W. Krug, 101, last surviving veteran of the Civil War from Adams county, in services held Wednesday afternoon at Littlestown. Mr. Krug died Sunday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Fannie M. Coffman, Kingsdale.

At 2 o'clock, as the bell in the court house here began tolling 101 times, for Mr. Krug's age, services were held at the funeral home of J. W. Little and Son, Littlestown, with Elder Bernie Shiner, pastor of the Pine Creek church, near Taneytown, the Rev. Arthur Leeming, Hoffman Orphanage and the Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown, officiating.

The body was taken from the funeral home to Christ church cemetery, near Littlestown, where services at the grave were in charge of members of the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Fire Salute

The pallbearers were Arthur H. Shields, Jesse Snyder, William I. Shields, W. Preston Hull, Andrew W. Weikert and Frank Deatrick. The burial ritual service of the C.A.R. was used, with Harry Deatrick as commander and William L. Meals, chaplain.

Members of the firing squad, in charge of Lt. David Tawney, were Arthur Warman, William Meals, Jr., Otis Walter and George Coshun. Members of the S.U.V. took the American flag from the casket, folded it, and presented it to Mrs. Coffman, the daughter. Taps was sounded by M/Sgt. William L. Baldwin, chief trumpeter, Pennsylvania Brigade, Sons of Union Veterans Reserve.

CHARLES DIEHL EXPIRES TODAY

Charles E. Diehl, 84, retired New Oxford merchant, died at the Warner hospital this morning at 3:05 o'clock from a complication of diseases. He had been a patient at the hospital for six days.

Mr. Diehl was a son of the late Joseph R. and Catherine (Slagle) Diehl. He retired as a merchant 30 years ago. His wife, the former Alice Lau, died last January 16.

Surviving are a son, J. D. Diehl, White Plains, N. Y.; seven grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren and one brother, Dr. Edwin Diehl, Lancaster.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the W. A. Felsner funeral home, Hanover, conducted by the Rev. George E. Sheffer, pastor of the New Oxford Lutheran church. Interment in the New Oxford cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Edmund W. Thomas Addresses Bankers

Edmund W. Thomas, Gettysburg, immediate past president of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association, was the principal speaker at the June meeting of the Adams County Bankers' association, held in Emmanuel Reformed church, Abbeystown, Wednesday night.

Mr. Thomas related the objectives of the PBA during the past year when he was its president and told of the urgent demand on the part of bankers for the part the PBA is doing for the association and for the public. He also described a good will visit of the bankers to Washington.

Arnold Orner, Arendtsville, president of the county association, presided. The program included several vocal numbers by soloists and quartet. The next meeting will be held July 16. The place has not been determined.

JUNIOR POLICE "RUN BOROUGH" OFFICES TODAY

Members of the Gettysburg Junior Police club "took over" the town today, occupying the principal borough offices, and under the supervision of the regular authorities, conducted the functions of the borough.

Under the direction of "Chief" Douglas Knox, a juvenile police force began patrolling the town this morning. William Bushman had one of the first jobs. He assisted Borough Treasurer John H. Basehore in collecting coins from the parking meters.

Other members of the juvenile police squad did traffic duty and planned to make a traffic count of all vehicles through Gettysburg east and west, and north and south.

A borough council of Junior Police members, with Robert Redding acting as burgess, was to meet this afternoon with Burgess C. A. Heiges at the office of the burgess.

Inspect Borough

Members of the "council" made an inspection of the borough today, and planned to present recommendations for various improvements, which they said would include cutting of weeds on vacant lots, repair of the walls along the Tiber, and street repairs.

Firemen were expecting a "run" this afternoon, with "Chief" Johnny Little in charge, under the supervision of Fire Chief James A. Aumen and other members of the Gettysburg fire company.

The Reading Junior Police baseball team were guests of the Gettysburg juniors today. A baseball game between the two teams was scheduled this afternoon.

A Junior Police ball, in the Hotel Gettysburg annex, will conclude the day's activities. The dance will start at 8 o'clock. Local restaurants furnished the sandwiches and the Moose prepared them. Soft drinks for the youngsters have been provided by several taverns and soda grills.

The eight-piece orchestra to play for the dance tonight, all members of the Hanover local of the American Federation, will perform without charge. The musicians will be paid out of a union fund to provide free music for educational and community causes.

57 Youths Attend Baseball School

Fifty-seven young men from Adams county and a number of other communities registered this morning at the baseball school being conducted by the St. Louis Cardinals at the Gettysburg college diamond.

C. H. "Pop" Kelchner, Scout for the Cardinals who is heading the staff of instructors said he was well pleased with the work of the young men from 17 to 22 who are attending the three-day school.

O. H. Benson, chairman of the Rotary committee sponsoring the school here said that every section of Adams county is represented. One young man attending the school came here by bus from Scranton.

Unveil Honor Plaque As Carnival Opens

The annual carnival of the Littlestown Fish and Game association will open this evening on the Littlestown playground. Preceding the carnival, a plaque will be unveiled in honor of the thirteen Gold Star service men of this vicinity.

The principal speaker will be Judge W. C. Sheely, Gettysburg. The plaque will be unveiled at the site of the community Honor Roll on South Queen street, Dr. J. R. Riden, president of the association, will preside at the exercises. There will be a color guard composed of local veterans.

The Littlestown high school band will furnish music, Friday evening entertainment for the carnival will be provided by the 101 Ranch Boys, and on Saturday by Boyd Messner and the Saddle Pals. There will be games and refreshments each evening.

The Lions Club will not hold the meeting scheduled for this evening due to the dedication of the plaque by the Fish and Game Association. The installation of officers planned for this evening will be held next Thursday evening.

"ROUGH" MOTOR

Philadelphia, June 19 (AP)—A United Airlines two-engine plane carrying 13 passengers for Cleveland and Chicago returned to Southwest airport today when it developed engine trouble after taking off. Police and airport emergency crews stood by as the plane landed without difficulty. An airlines spokesman said the craft, a DC-3, developed a "rough" motor.

15 Killed When Giant Air Liner Crashes In Syria

New York, June 19 (AP)—Fifteen persons of 37 aboard the Pan American World Airways Constellation Eclipse were killed early today when the giant liner crashed at Mayadina, Syria, while trying to make a forced landing, the airline announced.

Eight of the dead were passengers. Seven were crew members. The remaining 22 passengers and crew members were described as safe although an earlier report said three were seriously injured and seven were less critically hurt.

Pan American said no other details of the crash, which occurred while the plane was en route from Karachi to Istanbul, were available here. Names of the dead passengers were not known immediately.

The company said the dead included eight passengers and seven crew members. Nineteen passengers and three crew members were described as safe.

The company said information from its Damascus office was that the three crew members who survived were Purser Anthony Volpe, Stewardess Jane Bray, both of New York, and Third Officer Eugene W. Roddenberry, of 183 Dorchester Road, River Edge, N. J.

The other members of the crew, announced earlier by Pan-American and presumed to be those killed, were: Capt. Joseph Hall Hart, Jr., Indian Chase Park, Greenwich, Conn.; First Officer Robert Stanley McCoy, Flushing, Queens, N. Y.; Second Officer (Navigator) Howard Thompson, Jackson Heights, Queens, N. Y.; First Engineer Robert B. Donnelly, Bayside, Queens, N. Y.; Second Engineer W. E. Morris, Brooklyn; First Radio Officer Nelson C. Miles, Fort Washington, N. Y.; and Second Radio Officer Arthur O. Nelson, Brooklyn.

The plane was en route from Karachi, India, to Istanbul when it crashed while trying to make a forced landing near Mayadina, Syria.

First reports of the crash led to fears that it was the Clipper America, which left New York June 16 with a party of American publishers and officials aboard for the inaugural flight of Pan-American's commercial round-the-world service.

Capt. Hart, who was born April 10, 1905, in Norwood, set a world record in January 1945, when he completed 12 trips across the South Atlantic in 13 days and 15 hours. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati in 1930, he attended the Air Corps flying school until 1931. He became a captain in 1935 and a master pilot in 1941.

RESIDENTS VOTE PREFERENCES IN SCHOOL POLICY

Residents of the Upper Huntingdon township section, meeting at the Idaville school Tuesday evening, voted to ask the Huntingdon school board to keep the Idaville school open as long as possible and then to send the students to the school to be built in the Menallen-Bendersville area under the new Upper Adams County Joint School District.

Those decisions were reached by the 49 present at one of a number of meetings being held throughout the Latimore-Huntingdon-York Springs section to talk over school problems.

A similar meeting will be held this evening at Mechanicsville (Braggtown), another June 24 at Whitcomb's View school and another June 26 at State Road school. A similar meeting was held Wednesday evening at York Springs.

Dr. Bream Speaks

William Snyder was chairman of the committee which held the meeting Tuesday at Idaville with Harry Heller and George Howe as other members of the committee.

Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, was asked to present a comparison of the costs of operating the schools or paying tuition to send the students to another district.

Tickets For Eddie Plank Ceremony Are Available

Tickets will be available to Gettysburgians who wish to attend the unveiling of the memorial plaque to the late Eddie Plank, and 14 other baseball stars, at Cooperstown, N. Y., on July 21, if sufficient advance notice is given the Memorial committee. The Gettysburg Times was advised this morning.

The Baseball Hall of Fame auditorium is not large enough to accommodate the large crowd and the overflow crowd will have to remain outside the building and hear the program over amplifiers.

However, The Times was advised that if the Memorial committee is advised in sufficient time of the number of local residents who plan to attend the last tribute to be paid the former great baseball hurler from Gettysburg, tickets will be made available.

Hotel reservations also will be a problem and special arrangements are being made to accommodate those who make advance reservations.

As a special convenience to local fans and friends of the late Eddie Plank The Gettysburg Times will be glad to receive notification of those planning to attend the ceremony (and baseball game in the afternoon between the Yankees and the Braves) and to advise the Memorial committee of the number of guests from Gettysburg and Adams county.

Please write or telephone the Sports Editor of The Times if you intend to attend the ceremony.

STATE GUARD PLAYS HOST AT FAREWELL FETE

The "boys from Adams county"—Troop C of the First Cavalry, now deactivated—entertained their ladies Wednesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg at a "farewell party" before the men receive their discharge after 4½ years service in the State Guard.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock the men will turn in their uniforms and raincoats and will receive their discharges at the armory. The three officers in the outfit will be separated from the service at a later date.

"You have carried the honor of the county and you have the thanks of the county for your services," Judge W. C. Sheely told the state guardsmen during the program at the hotel.

"It is difficult to realize that this troop was organized more than four years ago," Judge Sheely pointed out, "and it is even more difficult to recall now the stress and anxiety of the public generally at the time you were organized. Then, no one knew when some danger might strike the heart of the country. We were in deadly danger and we feared many things, for then America was falling back steadily and our enemies were strong."

Willing To Serve

"We are all thankful the need that was apparent then was never realized. We are thankful that the need for action never came. But the fact that you were willing to join when it was entirely possible you might see action at any time, and the fact that you were willing to stick it out for the 4½ years your service was needed speaks well for you and the county."

"Adams county has never fallen down on any job it has attempted and you are another proof of that statement."

"You took an oath, when you joined the state guard, to defend the constitution of the United States and the Commonwealth. That is (Please Turn to Page 8)

HUMAN SIDE OF BANKING TOLD BY E. W. THOMAS

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank, Gettysburg, in a talk to the members of the Trilogy club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Tilton at Flora Dale took as his subject "Little Known Facts about Banking." Prefacing his talk with remarks on the human side of the banking business, Mr. Thomas told how close to the people of its community a bank is in its dealings, of the relationship between the customer and banker when the former is seeking funds for a new home, household equipment, doctor's bills, the purchasing of a business, or financing of a profession.

Mr. Thomas listed the services of the bank under three heads: deposits, loans and trust administering. (Please Turn to Page 7)

Seeks Reelection As County Coroner

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for re-election.

Dr. Crist, who is Adams county medical adviser, has served as coroner for several terms.

DEDICATE HOME FOR VFW POST

Approximately 500 residents of Emmitsburg and vicinity Wednesday evening attended the dedication exercises held by the Emmitsburg Memorial Post No. 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

After dedicating their new home in honor of 16 Emmitsburg young men who died in World War I and II, the post played host to the visitors and presented an hour-long concert by a York VFW choir.

Burgess Thornton W. Rodgers, in a brief address, expressed the appreciation of the town for services rendered in past wars by its citizens.

SCOUT COMMITTEE MEETING

The committee of Boy Scout Troop 76 will meet this evening at 9 o'clock at the Boy Scout room to the rear of West High street, arrangements for participation by the troop in the Catholic Scout retreat at Conewago Chapel and for camping this summer will be completed at the meeting.

Just arrived: One and two-piece bathing suits, plain colors in Latex and in prints, Helen-Ray Shop, Chambersburg Street, Gettysburg.

Committees To Be Guests For Tea

Chairmen and members of committees arranging for the benefit dance and card party being held by the Warner Hospital Auxiliary next Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Hotel Gettysburg annex will be guests at a tea following the June meeting of the Auxiliary Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Nurses' home. It was announced today by Mrs. Elmer W. Warren, benefits chairman for the Auxiliary.

Walter R. Doud, hospital administrator, will speak and there will be a business session before the tea.

FOUR HURT IN HEADON CRASH

Two Maryland motorists will be charged with reckless driving as the result of a headon collision at Blue Ridge Summit Tuesday night in which four persons were injured.

The accident occurred on Military road, near the Maryland State sanatorium, when the automobile operated by Mrs. Bessie R. Porter, Baltimore, and a truck driven by Herbert Biser, 18 Emmitsburg R. 1, collided.

Mrs. Porter suffered a lacerated knee, and was given first aid treatment at the scene of the accident.

Biser suffered a mild concussion. Walter Biser, 14, also of Emmitsburg R. 1, a passenger in the truck sustained multiple lacerations to the right forearm, right side of chest and left knee.

Joseph Royer, 15, Emmitsburg, another passenger in the Biser truck suffered severe scalp lacerations.

Trooper Kenneth B. Bond, of the Maryland State Police who investigated said the charges would be made before Magistrate William J. Stoner, Thurmont. A hearing will be held June 24.

Plan Reading Club Here For Summer

A summer reading club for children, to run through August 22, will open Friday at the Adams County Free Library here and at the branch library in New Oxford, Miss Kathryn Oller, librarian, announced today.

Any child in grades four to eight inclusive is eligible to membership. The purpose of the club is to stimulate recreational reading. The books read may be chosen from any field so long as they are on the right grade level.

For each five books read a child may place on a poster in the library a balloon bearing his or her name. The child with the greatest number of balloons on August 22 will receive a book.

HOPE TO MOVE JAIL INMATES WITHIN A WEEK

Adams county's prisoners may be moved to the Dauphin county prison within a week.

Under arrangements completed Wednesday with the Dauphin county commissioners and prison board by the Adams county commissioners all that remains now is court approval of a petition to be presented within the next few days. Commissioners' Clerk Clarence C. Smith said today.

An oral agreement was reached with the Dauphin officials to quarter local prisoners in the Harrisburg jail at a cost to Adams county of $1 per day for board and lodging. Any medical attention, clothing or the like that might be needed by the prisoners will be an added expense according to the agreement.

Receives Minimum Price

Thomas J. Nelly, president of the Dauphin county commissioners said: "We don't want to make money. We want to be fair and to help you in every way possible." The cost to keep a prisoner in the Dauphin county jail is about $1.63 a day. It was said, but the Dauphin officials set the lower figure in order to aid Adams county, Smith said.

The commissioners on Wednesday had hoped to secure signed approval of the Department of Welfare to its petition to the Dauphin county court asking permission to change the prisoners to the Dauphin county jail, but was unable to obtain it due to the absence of the Secretary of Welfare from his office Wednesday afternoon. The petition was left with the department for the necessary signature and officials there assured the county commissioners that the petition, with the signature attached, would be mailed here within the next few days.

As soon as the petition arrives it will be presented to court, Smith said.

YORK SPRINGS RESIDENTS ASK ADDITION TO HS

Fifty residents of York Springs Wednesday evening recommended to the York Springs school board that it build an addition to its high school and keep all children from grades one through 12 in the York Springs schools.

To implement their recommendations, they promised to donate their time in helping construct the proposed addition to the school and added their belief that the people of the community would be willing to donate, in money needed for the construction above the present borrowing capacity of the district.

A committee headed by the Rev. Orville Warner and including Mrs. Harry Griest and the Rev. Ralph Meckley reported to the citizens at the meeting, one of five being held in the York Springs-Latimore-Huntingdon township area to discuss the school situation in that section of the county.

Expect Enrollment of 100

The group voted to advise the school board to continue its present schools with grades one through 12, have five teachers in the high school, hire a combined commercial and social teacher and establish a commercial department, and add a two-room 30 x 30-foot annex.

The committee reported that 43 pupils in that area took the eighth grade test and that it expects 40 of those students to enroll in the York Springs high school. Seventeen students were lost through graduation, the committee reported, and so the enrollment in York Springs high school this coming year should be about 100. That amount will provide 4½ units of (Please Turn to Page Two)

Life Underwriters Install Officers

Officers for the Hanover-Gettysburg association of life underwriters were installed at a Ladies' Night dinner-meeting Wednesday evening at Graeffenburger Inn.

Those installed were: President, Granville Heindel, Hanover; vice president, James L. Hafer; secretary, Frances T. Plank, and treasurer, Philip O. Neff, all of Gettysburg. Jay D. Johnson, Gettysburg, was installed as national committee-man and Ron Rowland, Hanover, and J. B. Collins, Gettysburg, as directors.

Mrs. Josephine Howe furnished accordion music. Following the dinner games were played.

SCRIBE DOUBTS TIMELINESS OF WALLACE IDEA

 (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
 Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace's proposal that President Truman invite Premier Stalin to a Berlin conference, as a "first step" to guarantee world peace, has encountered cautious silence of opinion over most of the globe, a notable exception being the emphatic approval voiced by the Soviet-licensed newspaper "Nacht Express" in Berlin.
 Not so long ago such a move by the President might have been hailed as a grand idea. It isn't far back that this column was pointing out the profit which might be gained if the Big Four chiefs got together for heart-to-heart talks across the table to try to solve the difficulties between Russia and the western allies. I still think that would be a splendid move.
 But the situation recently has developed such ugly angles that any suggestion of Mr. Truman taking the initiative in inviting the Generalissimo to a two-man parley certainly would call for much burning of midnight oil before it was adopted.
 There has been the Red coupe in Hungary, resulting in the overthrow of the Democratic government and the substitution of a Communist regime. There have been other developments in numerous countries, including the United States, indicating that aggressive Communism is on the march.
 Dulles' Speech
 John Foster Dulles, State department adviser, in a speech yesterday at Northwestern university declared that the Russian policy of setting up "police states" may "lead to widespread violence and even war." He said there is no reason to believe "that the effort of Soviet leaders to impose widely their systems of government will stop of their own accord." And the U. S. Army is having printed for distribution to troops a pamphlet which says the Communist party in America is an agent of Russia and that Communism is a danger to Democracy.
 With this (and much more) as background, it's easy to see that an invitation from President Truman right now might be mistaken as a rush to appeasement. Should such an erroneous impression be created, the repercussions both at home and abroad might be serious.
 However, without attempting to read Mr. Truman's mind one ventures the view that he would be delighted if Premier Stalin should feel able to accept invitations already extended to him to visit Washington. The President revealed a year ago that Stalin had declined two invitations with regrets, saying his doctors wouldn't let him make long trips.
 For that matter, there seems no reason to believe Mr. Truman wouldn't accept an invitation from the Soviet premier for a conference in Berlin or some other European city. The premier, it may be noted, isn't laboring under any situation which might give rise to a suggestion of appeasement on his part.
 As a matter of fact, the United States (and the rest of the western democracies) are anxiously awaiting Moscow's response to a pressing invitation from Secretary of State Marshall to all of Europe to join hands for economic rehabilitation. Britain and France are going to urge Moscow to cooperate.
 Should Russia decide to participate wholeheartedly, and without reservation, in this great program of European reconstruction, the entire picture of the strained relations between the Russian bloc and the western allies would be changed. Then a meeting between Stalin and Truman, or of the Big Four, might be a highly profitable investment.

Charge Of Delaying Mail Is Dropped

Philadelphia, June 19 (AP)—The mail delaying charges against 33-year-old Orville H. Hardican, former postmistress of suburban Secane, have been discharged.
 Postal inspectors told U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin the Secane postoffice was cluttered with packages Miss Hardican "couldn't find time to handle."
 Some of the packages had been in the postoffice for two years, they added.
 Miss Hardican was relieved of her duties April 23 although 117 of the 300 residents of the little town had signed a petition asking that she be retained.

STATE GUARD

a tremendous oath for anyone to take.
 "Now the war is over but the world is far from being at rest. We know that there is in the world a concept of economics, philosophy, government, even religion, and which has tremendous force, with which we may at some time have to reckon."
 "We know that force is trying to turn us against ourselves, to make us feel that our Congress, our Legislature, our courts which have throughout our history protected our rights, are in some way against us."
 "When you disband, I hope you will remember that oath you took to defend the commonwealth. In the struggle of ideas and philosophies you will have as important a job and can render as great a service as you did during the past 4½ years," Judge Sheely said.
 Capt. C. Arthur Brame, commanding officer of the unit in the county, acted as master of ceremonies. "I want to give full credit for the success of the guard to the men who made up the troop," Captain Brame declared. "It may seem that the officers get all of the credit but actually the work that was done and the success achieved were due to the men who made up the organization."
 Praised By Colonel
 "You were complimented frequently by men who know the skill and ability displayed by you men. At Harrisburg Colonel Bort told me, 'I certainly have appreciated having the boys of Adams county attached to the 4th Regiment. They were an example to all the rest of the troops, and Colonel Bort would never say such a thing if he did not mean it, for, as I know him, he is not given to saying things which he does not believe.'
 "I want to compliment you personally for your splendid work and I hope that we can get together once a year or every two years for a reunion."

 Lt. Col. William Bonine, of the Adjutant General's office, praised the troop in a short address and complimented the officers on their abilities.
 17 Receive Medals
 "I was on the examining board when your officers appeared before it prior to receiving their commissions," Colonel Bonine told the troop. "They passed with flying colors and were among the best to appear before us for commissions."
 The General Thomas J. Stewart medal for devotion to duty and perfect attendance was presented to 17 members of the troop most of whom have not missed a meeting in the last two years. Captain Brame presented the medal to First Sgt. George N. Coshun who in turn presented the medals to the 16 others, including: S-Sgt. George L. Bushman, S-Sgt. Melvin O. Little, S-Sgt. Chester S. Shriver, Sgt. John H. Basehore, Sgt. Bernard V. Miller, Sgt. George W. Naugle, Sgt. Wilbur R. Nett, Sgt. Curtis C. Stoner, T-5 Crosby N. Hartzell, Cpl. Richard A. Johnson, T-5 Clarence Deardorff, T-5 Harold F. Messenger, T-5 Clarence E. McClellan, T-5 Kenneth J. Myers, T-5 Harry M. Small, and T-5 George Taughinbaugh.
 Decorate Officers
 Colonel Bonine then announced that the same award is to be made to Captain Brame, and the two lieutenants, George C. DeHoff and Amidee K. Ecker, both of Littlestown.
 Judge Sheely presented the 59 members of the troop with certificates from the state Department of Military Affairs acknowledging the men's "patriotic duty splendidly performed."
 Sergeant Coshun then took over from the Captain and presented Captain Brame and Lieutenants DeHoff and Ecker with pins purchased as a farewell gift for them by the men of the organization. George P. Taylor, president of the county board of commissioners and Commissioners Clerk Clarence C. Smith were introduced as special guests.

INDIA'S PRINCES ARE ON WAY OUT UNDER NEW PLAN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AF Foreign Affairs Analyst)

India's turbulent, progress toward independence—sadly divided as she is religiously, racially, politically and socially—is producing, exactly the problem that close observers anticipated in connection with the disposition of the more than 560 princely states which are governed by autocrats of great wealth who broadly speaking have the power of life and death over their subjects.

These potentates, by and large, are anachronisms who have ridden down to us from the medieval times on their regally caparisoned elephants, to continue their Arabian Nights lives in the midst of a primitive splendor which has to be seen to be believed. There are, of course, great and good princes who have caught up with the times and have served their people well. However, there are many more who toll not but view life through the eyes of ancestors who lived on the sweat of their who lived on the sweat of their

These relics of by-gone days now stand, bewildered and unloved, at the cross-roads of their existences. They are on their way out, but the manner of their exit will be determined as India progresses in self-government. Many of the minor rulers of tiny states can be disposed of summarily, but there are powerful sovereigns of great states who can't be dismissed so lightly.

Problems Differ
The so-called native states ruled by the princes comprise two-fifths of the territory of India and have a population of some 90,000,000—over one-fifth of the total population. The rest of the country is made up of the provinces of British India.

These two vast areas present entirely different problems. In British India we have the Hindu-Moslem feud which has resulted in that part of the country being partitioned into two independent states—Hindustan (Hindu) and Pakistan (Moslem). But complicated as is the position in British India, it is ten-fold more so in the native states.

The British government has said that it will give every encouragement to the hundreds of princes to affiliate either with Hindustan or Pakistan. England aims at achieving as united an India as possible, but will not deny the native states the right to establish an independent status if they so desire.

PA. VOTE ON VETO

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The entire 32-man Pennsylvania house delegation was on record in the vote that sustained President Truman's veto of the income tax reduction bill by a slim two-vote margin. All of the Republicans voted or were paired yesterday in favor of overriding the veto all of the Democrats voted or were paired in favor of sustaining the veto.

The practice of agriculture by man is believed to date from before 5000 B.C.

East Berlin

East Berlin—A daughter, their third child, was born during the past week to Mr. and Mrs. Lester N. Spangler, near Abbottstown. Mr. Spangler is a graduate of the local high school in 1935, and his wife, the former Miss Mildred Alwine, also received her education at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Pifer, near York Springs, have purchased a part of the Ellsworth Tanner farm near "Two Churches." Mr. Pifer was formerly employed in East Berlin. The land which they have bought is the former Hayes L. Anthony property.

Harry Berkheimer, near town, an employee of the East Berlin Flour and Feed Mills, Inc., has been a patient at the Hanover hospital because of a back injury sustained in a fall last week while working.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jacobs, Paradise township, have named their infant son Warren Edward. He is their third child and second son. Mrs. Jacobs is the former Miss Nan K. Henry, a graduate of the local high school in 1936.

Mrs. Dean Oberlander has returned from the Hanover hospital with her infant son, Michael Dean, who was born there June 5.

Jack D. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, who recently completed his term's work at Penn State college, is now visiting friends in New York state.

Mrs. Mildred H. Eck, York, formerly of here, concluded her work this week for the 1946-47 term as a teacher at a York school and with her daughter, Barbara, who has been visiting local friends, will spend the summer in the Pigeon Hills near the home of her father, Norman Haar.

The Daily Vacation Bible School,

sponsored by the Protestant churches of this area for all children of the section from pre-school age to 15 years, was closed Friday after a course of two weeks. The school was opened Monday, June 3 with classes at the borough school building. The Rev. Alvin J. Forry, local Reformed pastor, was dean, with a number of church people, including the Rev. Snyder Alleman, Lutheran pastor, as teachers. This is the sixth consecutive year that the Bible school has been conducted. Before its dismissal on Friday pupils were tendered a party. The Rev. and Mrs. Alleman plan to entertain Bible school teachers next week at their parsonage in Abbottstown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mummaugh and daughter, Miss Katherine Mummaugh, were entertained Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stambaugh and Miss Minerva Trosle. Miss Katherine Mummaugh was graduated last week from a high school in Harrisburg where the family resides.

OPEN INQUIRY ON FUTURE OF STEEL INDUSTRY

Washington, June 19 (AP)—A Senate Small Business subcommittee today opens an inquiry into whether the steel industry is big enough to meet the nation's probable future needs.

The group, headed by Senator Martin (R-Pa.), took a recess two weeks ago after hearing testimony on the "gray market"—sale of steel at prices far above the normal mill value of about $80 a ton.

Chief Counsel Raymond Dickey told a reporter that while the subcommittee has not yet completed the gray market investigation, hearings for the present will be concerned with "the broader picture."

Called as witnesses today were Wilfred Sykes, president of the Inland Steel Co., Chicago, and Louis Bean, of the secretary of agriculture's office.

Bean has just completed a study of the steel production outlook as it may affect national employment, and the relation of steel production to farm income.

Other government witnesses will be heard tomorrow, after which Dickey said the hearings will again recess for two weeks while the committee staff makes further plans for procedure.

Five Issues
Dickey said there is a "sharp difference of opinion" between the industry and government officials as to whether enough steel is now available to keep industry at full production.

Martin said "the importance of this question to our entire economy" has been under study before the small business subcommittee for some time, although it has not previously been aired at its hearings. The issue is one of five which Martin said the group wants to inquire into.

The others are (1) the steel gray market; (2) the historical quota distribution of steel under which mills allocate their present stocks among their old customers; (3) the integration between large steel mills and their subsidiaries; (4) exports of steel, and whether they are so large as to deprive domestic users of needed steel.

U.S. Coal Reserves Called 'Bright Spot'

Chicago, June 19 (AP)—United States coal reserves, a researcher declared today, constitute the outstanding bright spot in a situation in which "we already are a 'have-not' nation, or are rapidly becoming one, with respect to many important minerals."

In an address prepared for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Dr. Harold J. Rose, vice president and director of research for bituminous coal research, Inc., Pittsburgh, said:

"The world has spent more of its mineral wealth in the last 40 years than in all preceding history. Production has been particularly great in the United States so that we already are a 'have not' nation, or are rapidly becoming one, with respect to many important minerals."

But coal reserves, he said, are so enormous that they can supply all U. S. requirements for the next 1-500 years.

The same awarded by Pennsylvania to Gen. George Washington and to Marshall Foch of France.

William Makepeace Thackeray, English novelist, was born in Calcutta, India.

Other government witnesses will be heard tomorrow, after which Dickey said the hearings will again recess for two weeks while the committee staff makes further plans for procedure.

INTOXICATION DEFENSE OUT

Allentown, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Defense attempts to use intoxication as a plea in the murder trial of Ferdinand Loikits ran into a snag when the court ordered much of the defense assertion stricken from the record.

Earlier, District Attorney Theodore R. Gardner had told a jury of seven women and five men the state will seek the death penalty for the 60-year-old Cementon hotelman.

Attorneys Daniel L. McCarthy and Justin D. Jirolnio had attempted to show that Loikits was under the influence of alcoholic beverages at the time he is accused of shooting his wife to death.

However, Dr. Luther H. Kline, summoned to the witness stand by Gardner, declared Loikits was not so intoxicated that he was unable to know what he was doing.

Over vigorous defense objections, Judge John H. Diefenderfer of Lehigh county ordered stricken from the record all references to Loikits being so intoxicated he was "incapable of conceiving and intent to kill."

Loikits recovered from a bullet

MONDAY, TUESDAY

How a woman's camouflaged past catches up with her at a dramatic moment provides the climax of RKO Radio's poignant drama, "The Locket," in which Laraine Day plays that woman, Brian Aherne, Robert Mitchum and Gene Raymond are co-starred with Miss Day.

The plot revolves around the results of an unfortunate childhood experience by the central character in whom it bred an irresistible impulse to steal, coupled with a remarkable ability to conceal her failing from the most intimate associates.

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY

One of the most exciting man-hunts ever screened occurs in RKO Radio's drama of prison life, "San Quentin." Lawrence Tierney stars in the role of a rehabilitated convict, who while serving his sentence in San Quentin, founded the Inmate Welfare League, a group of privileged prisoners who kept discipline and sought to help convicts on the road to rehabilitation. When the League is brought into disrepute by a prison break of two of its members, Tierney, to save its good name, personally undertakes to bring in the culprits. Marian Carr plays the romantic lead.

Junior Police Take Accident Insurance

The Gettysburg Junior Police club has taken out insurance on all members in connection with injuries to the youngsters that may occur during games, while practicing, or going to and from games or practice. Advisor Albert Wolford announced today.

The insurance will cover all damages from $10 to $500. Dr. Harrison P. Harbach has announced that he will take care of all minor injuries to Junior Police youngsters occurring in games, free of charge, Wolford said.

CELLAR TEAMS GOING PLACES IN 1947 RACE

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Philadelphia, May 19 (AP)—Major league baseball has a Philadelphia story today.

The National league Phillies moved within a game of the league lead and the American league Athletics rested a mere half game out of the first division and only four and one-half lengths away from the front-running Detroit Tigers.

What a difference a year makes. In mid-May of 1946, the Phillies were mired in last place with a record of six victories and 17 defeats, nine full games off the pace. The A's already had gained a strangle hold on the American loop cellar, 16 games behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox.

But big league baseball in Philadelphia has undergone a complete renaissance.

New Blood Responsible
May, 1947, finds the Phillies playing better than 500 ball with 15 victories and 13 defeats. Ben Chapman's gang has won six of its last seven games, including double triumphs over the Brooklyn Dodgers and the enigmatic St. Louis Cardinals.

The Phillies' sudden rise to senior circuit prominence can be attributed to two ex-Cardinals, a former Dodger, a pitcher late of the Pirates and two ancient American league hurlers. The former Red Birds—Harry Walker, the National league's leading hitter at .390, and Emil Verban, top fielding second sacker in the loop and third best hitter at .337; ex-Dodger—big Howie Schultz—six hits against the Cards yesterday; former Pirate—Ken Heintzelman—has saved one game in relief role and stopped Cards yesterday with a nine-hitter; the American league ancient—the incomparable Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and Emil (Dutch) Leonard—12 of the club's 15 decisions do these two own.

"Things Have Changed"
Led by a dynamic manager in the fiery Chapman, the Phillies appear ready to assert themselves in the National league chase. For the first time in many years, Philadelphia in the National league is not only ready and willing—but able!

And in the junior circuit, Connie Mack is giving the so-called experts, who relegated his Athletics to last place, a lot of food for thought. A well-rounded pitching staff, Rookie First Baseman Ferris Fain and the Keystone combination of Shortstop Eddie Joost and Gene Handley—best since the pennant-winning days of 1929, '30, '31—are responsible for the unexpected rise to contention of the Athletics.

Mack doesn't expect his team to win a pennant, but he's confident Philadelphia's cellar dwelling days in the American league are over. "Yes, things have changed in Philadelphia in a baseball way. It's no longer a stopover for opponents to fatten averages and stop losing streaks."

STATE COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIPS
State College, Pa., May 19 (AP)—District champions in track and field events will compete here Saturday for state championships, with at least one defending title-holder back for an attempt to better last year's mark.

While the Pennsylvania interscholastic athletic association track meet will highlight the week-end program, there will also be considerable interest in the annual golf and tennis championships that start Friday and wind up on Saturday morning.

With returns from only a few of the state's twelve districts it is certain that at least one champion, John Triplett of Abington, will be on hand to defend his crown in the 100 yard dash. Triplett won at State college last year in 10.1 seconds and covered the distance in the same time Saturday at Upper Darby to win District One honors.

Last Record In 1943
There will be fifteen events in the Class A competition, seven events for individual honors on the track, two relay races and six field events. The last record set in Class A. Competition came in 1943 when Al Gehrdes, of Altoona set a mark of 14.8 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles.

The 54 hole golf tournament gets under way on Friday, with 36 holes on opening day and the final 18 holes over the State college links on Saturday morning.

The annual tennis championships also open on Friday with preliminary matches, the semi-finals being slated for Saturday and the finals in both singles and doubles listed for the afternoon.

Kingston Leading In North Atlantic
(By The Associated Press)
Kingston took over the leadership in the North Atlantic league race yesterday, dumping Peekskill out of first place by defeating the Highlanders in both ends of a double-header, 7 to 6 and 4 to 2.

After Manager Buck Eichenlaub hit two home runs and a double and batted in eight runs to lead Mahanoy City to a 12 to 7 decision

Seabiscuit Dies At Howard Ranch

Ukiah, Calif., May 19 (AP)—The 'Biscuit is no more.
Charles S. Howard's mighty Seabiscuit, once the greatest money winner of the American turf, died of a heart attack Saturday midnight at Howard's Ridgewood ranch where he has sired 100 colts since his retirement in 1940. He was 14 years old.

He was buried late yesterday in front of the main ranch house, and a life-sized bronze statue of the horse will be placed over the grave.

PHILLIES TAKE PAIR OF GAMES FROM REDBIRDS

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some have called it a slump. Others have called it just "a slow start."

But it was apparent today that the trouble with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals is that the rest of the National league has been ganging up on them with an unorthodox barrage of lefthanded pitchers.

Including their double defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday—which incidentally sunk them deeper into the cellar, seven full games off the pace—the frustrated Redbirds have been beaten by southpaws 11 times this season against only two wins against quality pitching.

In 27 games, rival managers have started lefthanders against them 18 times and on 14 occasions were rewarded with victories. One game ended in a tie and the Cards won the other three. That is a far cry from last year when the Redbirds won 36 games from lefthanders against only 24 defeats for a percentage of .600 that was just 28 points off their season's average.

Other Teams Ranched
After Ken Heintzelman, ex-Pirate, held the Cards to nine hits in the opener to beat them 6-3, Ken Rafensberger blanked the Cards through 12 innings to win the nightcap 1-0.

Except for the Cards, the National league pennant race resembles a mob scene with only a game and a half separating the first place Boston Braves and the sixth place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Braves retained their half game edge over the New York Giants by splitting a double header with the Reds in Cincinnati, winning the second game behind Red Barrett, 3-1 after Ewell Blackwell of the Reds had outpitched Mort Cooper in the opener 2-1.

After the Pittsburgh Pirates had overcome a 6-1 New York lead in the opener to win 7-6, the Giants came back to take the abbreviated seven-inning nightcap 11-6 to retain second place.

The Dodgers ended a skinn of 18 scoreless innings by tallying four times in the seventh to down the Cubs 4-2 before a record Chicago crowd of 46,572 paid admissions.

Feller Beats Yanks
Bobby Feller made his first start of the season at Yankee Stadium a success by turning back the New York Yankees 5-3, gaining his fifth victory against three setbacks.

Scoring two runs in the ninth innings of each game, the Chicago White Sox took the measure of Washington's Senators twice in the Capital city 4-2 and 3-2.

Philadelphia's surprising Athletics moved into sixth place, only four and a half games behind the first place Detroit Tigers, by trimming the St. Louis Browns twice at Shibe Park 4-3 and 5-2.

Rain washed out the scheduled double header between the Tigers and second place Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park. They are slated to try again today in a pair.

Scranton Is Back At Top Of League
(By The Associated Press)
The Scranton Miners, defending champions, trod familiar territory today on the Eastern league summit.

The Miners took undisputed first place by grabbing both ends of a rain-swept doubleheader from the Williamsport Tigers yesterday, 4-1 and 3-2.

Rain washed away the nightcaps of scheduled twin bills at Albany and Wilkes-Barre, where double-headers were carded tonight in an attempt to regain lost ground.

Utica blanked Albany in the first, 8-0, and at Wilkes-Barre the home team dropped Elmira, 7 to 2, before the rains came.

In the other twin bill, Hartford scored a double win over Binghamton, 9-5 and 10-4.

At Scranton, a home run by pitcher Jack Fasholz with two on base gave the Miners the decision. In the nightcap, a double by Mike Ovaduke provided the margin in the last inning after Williamsport had knotted the count at two a piece in the fourth.

In the only games Saturday Wilkes-Barre defeated Utica, 8-5, in the opener of a doubleheader but dropped the second, 13-9.

Delycure Named For Tournament
Wichita, Kan., May 19 (AP)—Michael Delycure of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been named commissioner to supervise the district baseball tournament at Wilkes-Barre starting June 16, the National Baseball Congress announced today.

Delycure's appointment was recommended by Clarence Fiffel of McKeesport, state commissioner.

Harrisburg Takes 2 From Hagerstown

(By The Associated Press)
The Harrisburg Senators swept a double bill from the Hagerstown Owls, 10 to 2 and 6 to 1, at the Maryland city last night to continue to top the Interstate league.

The first game was delayed an hour and a half by rain. Allentown climbed into second place although it could gain only an even break at Wilmington, winning the first, 6 to 4, and dropping the second, 7 to 6. Wilmington won the nightcap on Carl Kolosna's inside home run with two out in the ninth.

Trenton defeated Lancaster, 5 to 4 and 6 to 5, to topple Lancaster from second to third place. The York-Sunbury doubleheader at Sunbury was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Gettysburg Legionnaires dropped their fourth straight Adams County League game Saturday afternoon in 10 innings to Hanover on the latter's diamond, 5-4.

Manager Bud Knox was tabbed for four runs in the opening inning and then pitched a beautiful game until Hanover pushed over its winning run in the tenth after one was out.

The locals picked up single runs in the third and sixth innings and pushed over a pair or runs in the seventh to knot the count at 4-all.

Emmitsburg, nosed out Ortanna 2-0 at Ortanna, scoring two runs in the third inning on a hit batsman, two errors and a single. Ortanna made its best bid for a score in the sixth when K. Deardorff tripped with one out but Topper bore down to retire the next two batters.

Ortanna again threatened in the eighth when L. Wetzel singled and K. Deardorff walked, Wetzel advancing on a passed ball. K. Deardorff was thrown out attempting to steal to end the inning.

D. Rebert and J. Wetzel formed the battery for Ortanna. Bevans started for Emmitsburg but was relieved by Topper in the third. George Kennel caught for the winners. D. Rebert poled two hits for Ortanna and Coombs collected three for Emmitsburg. J. Rosensteel starred afield for the victors, making two brilliant catches.

Fairfield gained a 4-2 decision over McSherrystown on the latter's field. Sites hurled for the winners.

New Oxford pounded out a 16-2 victory over Littlestown at Littlestown. The Bendersville-Arendtsville game scheduled at the latter place Sunday was postponed due to rain.

R. Staub collected five hits in six times at bat to pace the winners while "Code" Bevenour had a perfect day with 4 for 4. Bevenour permitted Littlestown but six hits and was never in trouble.

BULLETS 13TH IN TRACK MEET

Coach Roy Bloomingdale's Gettysburg college nine-man track squad finished 13th in the 35 annual championships of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field association held Saturday at Rutgers university, New Brunswick, N. J.

The Bullets tallied 6 1/2 points, five of which came through Bob Snodgrass winning the discus event with a heave of 135 feet, one inch, to smash his own local college record of 132 feet, six inches.

Favored Rutgers took the title by amassing 40 1/2 points. Twenty-one members of the association participated.

George Johnson took fifth place in the 100-yard finals to earn the Bullets a point. Charley Rambo tied with seven other entries for third place in the pole vault and won a toss for the third place medal.

Jim Eiseaman failed to qualify for the semi-finals in the first heat of the high hurdles. John Yost qualified for the semi-finals in his heat. He failed to qualify for the finals.

George Motter was third in the 880-yard run heat and placed seventh in the finals. George Gorman and William Nall tied for sixth in the high jump. Gorman failed to place in the broad jump. George Hamm failed to place in the 880-yard run heat.

Schools in the meet and the order in which they finished follow: Rutgers, F. and M., Lafayette, Swarthmore, Haverford and St. Joseph's (tie), Muhlenberg, Johns Hopkins and Lehigh (tie), LaSalle, Delaware and Washington (tie), Gettysburg, Bucknell, Dickinson, Albright and Drexel (tie), Ursinus, Alfred, P.M.C., and Juniata.

GOLFERS HEAD TOWARD PHILLY

Fort Worth, Tex., May 19 (AP)—Golf's pouring stars with two exceptions departed today for Philadelphia and the Inquirer invitation as we Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., showed $3,000 first money from the Colonial National Invitation into his jeans.

Toney Penna, who finished a stroke back of Hogan, left for Florida to visit his family. Henry Picard flew to Massachusetts where his mother died yesterday.

Performing in his usual style for the home folks, Hogan, for the second year in a row, won first money in the $15,000 colonial meet, shooting a one-under-par 69, on the final 18 holes to close out with 279—the same score he had in capturing the tournament in 1946.

Hogan, in winning the $3,000, closed in on fellow Texan, Jimmy Demaret, who plays out of Ojai, Calif., in the battle for cash along the tournament trail for the year. Ben now has won $14,000—within $700 of Demaret, who shot 285 for a tie for ninth place, getting $562.50 here.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 19 (AP)—The Navy crew looks like a real "dark horse" for the Poughkeepsie regatta renewal next month—unless those west coast folks come up with something terrific. . . Off their size, the midshipmen should be better over the three-mile route than they were in Saturday's sprint championship at Princeton, and they didn't do badly then. . . Incidentally, you won't see much of the Poughkeepsie and Yale-Harvard boat races this year; no observation trains. . . Gil Dodds' Wheaton college track team, one of the better small college squads, doesn't even have uniforms that match and has to "borrow" transportation for out of town meets. . . Clark Hinkle and Mike Michalske, former Green Bay packer footballers, both turned down coaching jobs with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Michalske wanted a three-year contract but Hinkle just decided he was a National league.

Rutgers Recaptures Track Championship
New Brunswick, N. J., May 19 (AP)—Rutgers university recaptured the Middle Atlantic collegiate track and field championships Saturday with a runaway score of 40 1/2 points.

Franklin and Marshall, with a total of 21 1/2 points, was Rutgers nearest rival. Lafayette was third with 18 1/2 and Swarthmore was fourth with 16 1/2.

BLACKWELL GETS NO-HIT NO-RUN WIN FOR REDS

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Ewell Blackwell's no-hitter against the Boston Braves has established the lanky Cincinnati side arm artist as the No. 1 pitcher in the National league.

Half way to his announced goal of 20 wins in his second major league season, the rangy righthander from San Dimas, Calif., has etched his name on the honor roll along with the other pitching greats.

Most of the righthanded hitters in the league would name "Blacky" as their toughest problem because his sinking side-wheel delivery is on top of them before they know what is coming. Yet, last night, Boston's Billy Southworth threw a heavily lefthanded batting order against him and the results were the same.

Eighth In Row
Of Blackwell's 10 wins, the last eight have been racked up in succession. He is the only pitcher in the majors to have defeated every other club in the league at least once. The no-hit, no-run job against the Braves 6-0 was his third shutout of the season.

The loss dropped Boston out of the National league lead, permitting the New York Giants to squeeze out front by a margin of six percentage points on their afternoon, 12-5 romp over Pittsburgh.

Those St. Louis Cardinals continued their headlong dash toward the first division, pulling to within one game of the coveted .500 circle by a 5-2 edge over Philadelphia, their seventh straight win. Terry Moore's second homer of the year helped solidify Al Brazier's sixth win, coming at the expense of winless Oscar Judd's seventh straight loss. As a result of their success, the Cards now are only 4½ game out of first place.

Win In 15th
Brooklyn disposed of Chicago, 5-3 in a day game on the strength of rookie catcher Gil Hodges' first major league homer.

The Boston Red Sox kept the folks up late for their second home night game, going 15 innings in a four hour and 20 minute struggle before they subdued the St. Louis Browns, 6-5, their eighth straight victory. Johnny Pesky's fifth single with two out, drove home pinch runner Eddie Pellagrini with the winning score at approximately 1:15 a. m. (EDT).

Rain washed out the Philadelphia-Detroit and New York-Chicago day games but Cleveland clubbed Sid Hudson and Mickey Haefner for 14 hits and a 9-3 lopsided edge over Washington.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)
The second-place Scranton Miners edged closer to the leading Utica Blue Sox today, after breaking the Sox' eight-game eastern league winning streak.

The 1946 pennant winners took early leads to defeat Utica, 6-3 and 6-4, in a double header last night before 6,727 fans, the season's largest Scranton crowd.

The Albany Senators downed the Elmira Pioneers, 9-5, in the opener of a four-game series. The Senators got to Pitcher Dee Sanders for four hits and four runs in the first inning.

Wilkes-Barre, beaten by Utica in five straight, turned on Binghamton last night, 9-2. The Barons backed up Pitcher George Cave with an 18-hit attack. Second Baseman Dale Lynch set the pace with four hits in five chances. First Baseman Frank Heller knocked his eighth homer of the season to give Wilkes-Barre a 10-9 victory in 10 innings over Hartford.

YORK ROSES NIP ALLENTOWN, 9-3

(By The Associated Press)
York's White Roses and Hagerstown's Owls continued their dogfight for an Interstate league first division berth last night with stirring victories.

The White Roses chopped down the pace-setting Allentown Cardinals, 9-3, for their second straight over the loop leaders. Bob Sweiger went the distance for the Roses and although he gave up 12 hits, he was extremely tough in the clutches, leaving 14 runners stranded.

Meanwhile, Hagerstown remained in a fourth place deadlock with York by turning back the floundering Lancaster Red Roses, 6-4, for their second victory in the three-game meeting. George Daddario drove in three runs with a double and two singles to pace the Owls' 10-hit assault.

Second place Harrisburg and third place Trenton failed to pick up ground on Allentown, the Senators dropping the 14-7 battle to Wilmington and the Giants losing a 10-inning 3-2 game to last place Sunbury.

Wilmington's victory was scored in a sizzling hitting duel with Lloyd Rice the big gun with two home runs good for five runs. Trenton lost as Frankie Match, Sunbury's third sacker, put on a dazzling base run.

New Oxford pulled into a tie for fourth place in the Adams County league Wednesday evening by nosing out Fairfield, 2-1, in a well-played game at New Oxford.

The winning run was scored in the last half of the seventh Carbaugh opened with a walk. He was sacrificed to second by C. Bevenour who batted for Wolf. After Smith fanned, Trone hit to third base, and when the ball went through the field Carbaugh skipped home with the decisive tally.

OLD TIMERS IN WIN OVER GIRLS

There are probably a lot of stiff muscles today but all of those participating in the Old Timers—Keystone Garment company softball game on Codori field Wednesday evening had a good time, not to say anything about the large crowd of spectators.

The Old Timers, men of 45 years or older, won 32-13 over the girls, scoring no less than 15 runs in a wild fourth inning to "clinch" the victory.

DOSEY LEADING ON FINAL ROUND

Doser, stocky little Harrisdale, N. Y., par buster who has been a professional golfer more than half his 38 years, led a star-spangled field into the final 18-hole qualifying round of the National PGA championship today.

With a ringing first-round 34-33—67, five under par, he headed the parade of 138 pros. Claude Harmon and Jimmy Demaret were one stroke back.

Doser, who failed to qualify in the 1946 PGA scramble at Portland, Ore., but who was a semi-finalist at Delton, Ohio, in 1945, slapped home six birdies, three of them on putts of two feet or less, to lead for the Alex Smith Memorial trophy which goes to the medalist here.

There were 21 scores which bettered par and 19 more which equalled it.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—Although Jimmy Demaret and Claude Harmon are better than fair hands at crooning, little Clarence Doser, who took the applause from them in the PGA tournament yesterday, doesn't even sing in the shower.

"I have no aspirations in that line," he insisted when the boys asked him about his musical accomplishments.

Demaret and Harmon, who had 88's to Doser's 67 on the links, tuned up their pipes as well as their strokes for the tourney.

Jimmy, via a recording, took part in Bing Crosby's radio show last night and Claude, who used to sing with Bob Crosby's band, grabbed the mike at a local night spot Tuesday evening.

P. S. Any of the pros will moan, musically or otherwise when they get a bad break or two that costs them some tournament cash.

CLOSED CORPORATION

Doser, a little guy who admits he drives "only about as far as the average pro," is a nephew of George Christ, veteran Rochester, N. Y., golf teacher who developed Walter Hagen as a tournament star.

"Whenever Hagen used to come to town, I used to caddy for him," Clarence says.

DIVOT DIGGING

Plum Hollow, in case you don't know, is the name of the ritzy golf club where they're playing the PGA tournament. Bobby Locke, who nearly got into a jam for cleaning his ball on the green during the open golf qualifying rounds, still rolls it absently in his hand when he has occasion to pick it up on the green.

The golfers who came in as replacements or added starters had a fair day. They included Al Watrous who shot a 71, Jimmy Thomson, 72, and Reggie Myles, 73.

Jim Nichols, the one-armed golfer from Monson, Mass., matched par on all the par three holes but didn't do so well on the others, winding up with 81.

Walter Ambo of Webster Grove, Mo. fired Eagles on the first and 18th in the course of a 71 round. Too bad the course had to have a middle.

UN RECEPTION IS BOYCOTTED

Jerusalem, June 19 (P)—Four Arab City councilors boycotted the municipal reception given the United Nations special committee on Palestine at Haifa today.

The committee is touring the Holy Land, seeking clues to the solution of the Palestine problem. Chairman Emil Sandstrom told Mayor S. Levy and five council members who greeted the delegation at City Hall that Haifa was chosen for the first trip outside Jerusalem because of its mixed population.

The Mediterranean port city has 78,000 Jews, 46,000 Arabs and 26,000 Christians.

A crowd of several hundred applauded when the U.N. delegation appeared at the City Hall. Vice Mayor Shehadeh Salah, a Christian Arab, and J. S. Khoury, the Arab town clerk, attended the reception.

The committee members visited industrial installations in Haifa and were luncheon guests of the council. The group was to return to Jerusalem tonight.

state reimbursement but will require five teachers, the committee said.

Members of the committee added that the seventh and eighth grades of Huntingdon and Latimore township, excluding the Idaville section, and the lower part of Latimore, might be accommodated in the seven rooms that will be available at the high school after the addition of the annex.

Congratulated on "Courage"

The school now has four rooms upstairs and one in the basement, presently used as a band room. According to the plan outlined at the public meeting, the high school students could be placed in three of the rooms and the basement, using the 22 by 27 1/2-foot basement room as the commercial room. The seventh and eighth grade students, approximately 86 of them, if the two townships add their seventh and eighth grade students to the 34 in York Springs, would occupy the three other rooms in the building that will be provided after the annex is built.

Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, congratulated the committee on its "courage and initiative" but pointed out that the borrowing capacity of the school district is only $11,000 and that the board must put the proposed loan on the ballot and secure public approval to go that far in debt.

No Junior High

He estimated that at present costs for building the addition of two rooms would cost more than the $11,000 permissible debt.

Those present then discussed the idea of donating time and money to the school board and a number volunteered to give from two to three weeks work free to the board and estimated that a large sum of money could be obtained by public subscription.

While the seventh and eighth grades would come to the high school under the plan no junior high school would be permitted by the state because of the small population and lack of facilities, it was pointed out.

Dreams Of Riches Fade For Crewmen

Philadelphia, June 19 (P)—Dreams of riches of the 37 crewmen of the freighter Eastern Guide collapsed in an analysis of a Philadelphia chemist, but they hadn't given up hope today.

It all started when the Eastern Guide crewmen found a three-ton mass of something floating in the Atlantic ocean. They thought it was ambergris, a whale secretion used in making perfumes.

If it had been ambergris, it would have been worth $400,000—but, said the chemist, it isn't worth a dime.

But the crewmen who found the smelly, yellowish mass, shipped a sample to New York for a further analysis. The U. S. customs office also was examining the mass to try to find out what it is.

RELEASED ON BAIL

Maurice Elcker, York Springs, arrested Tuesday night by state police of the Gettysburg sub-station on a disorderly conduct charge, was released from jail here Wednesday night in $500 bail for a hearing at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore.

LOVE WINS OVER RULES OF COURT

New York, June 19 (P)—A court cannot rule on love's disregard for disparity of age, says Magistrate Henry A. Soffer, thereby sending from his bench, arm in arm, a comely 24-year-old war widow and a 17-year-old youth who said "I'm very fond of her."

Peter Lembo, father of the youth, told the court yesterday he wanted his son, Anthony, to stop seeing pretty Mrs. Beatrice Ghilomi, mother of a five-year-old girl.

"I can't do anything about two people in love," said the magistrate. "no matter what their ages."

The father complained that Anthony had been coming home at 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning from seeing Beatrice. The magistrate suggested that Anthony try to get home by midnight.

As they left the courtroom Anthony moved toward Beatrice and his father made a quick interceptive play. A bailiff led the father back to the bench.

"You could be held in contempt of court for beginning a disturbance in here," the magistrate admonished him. Anthony and Beatrice walked out together.

RESIDENTS VOTE

dents in the three districts, Doctor Bream pointed out that his figures were based on last year's school population of 305 students in the three districts in the first six grades, and 116 in the seventh and eighth grades. Of the 116 he said, 52 are in the York Springs area.

Gives Tuition Costs

A satisfactory elementary center could be established by the three districts at York Springs for less than the $70,000 combined total borrowing capacity of the three school districts involved, Bream said, if the present facilities there are used and merely added to, and some students closer to Biglerville and East Berlin are sent to those schools.

The tuition cost for students sent out of the district would be approximately the same as the per pupil cost in an elementary center at York Springs, Bream said.

The tuition per year at Biglerville, last year, was $40 and at East Berlin, $34, Bream pointed out. The elementary cost at York Springs last year was $43.

New Bill Passed

If the state is to provide elementary reimbursement, it will be cheaper for the district to pay transportation and tuition to send students to another district than to operate its own center, Bream pointed out. The state Legislature passed a bill Monday permitting reimbursement for elementary tuition, Bream said, but added that no details concerning the bill were immediately available.

In regard to high school students, Bream said that if the York Springs high school remains as it is the cost would be about $75 per pupil while if it were to add home economics, agriculture and similar courses the net cost would be about $150 per pupil, or $220 before reimbursement was made.

If York Springs were to secure an enlarged school with from 250 to 300 students and construct appropriate rooms to house them the tuition cost would drop to about $75 but the amortization on the $300,000 it might cost for buildings would bring the per pupil cost to about $158 per pupil. Recently the York Springs board asked an architect to prepare estimates on the cost of a new school. The figure presented by the architect was $450,000, Bream said.

High school students can be sent to other high schools much more cheaply, Bream pointed out. Using Huntington as an example he said that township's net cost per pupil in the Biglerville high school was $61, for both tuition and transportation. The net cost for the students sent to East Berlin high school, including tuition and transportation was $53. In each case, he said the net cost was figured after the amount of reimbursement was subtracted from total cost.

Several middle Latimore residents explained that both East Berlin and Biglerville are remote from their section and were told that a new high school center is being built near Dillsburg which would probably be the closest school for their students.

New Tucker Auto Unveiled Today

Chicago, June 19 (P)—The new Tucker automobile, described by its makers, the Tucker Corporation, as "the first completely new automobile in 50 years," was brought out for unveiling today.

Auto dealers and distributors were invited to the huge Tucker plant for the first showing of the car by Preston Tucker, 44 year old race car designer and head of the corporation. He says his model is a "better and safer car than ever has been built."

The company announced that the car, with a 2,800 pound shipping weight, a wheel base of 128 inches and standing 60 1/2 inches high, has a 150-horsepower airplane type engine located in the rear. The company also said that the car can stop in 240 feet while traveling 90 miles an hour and at moderate speed can travel about 35 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Pa. Eastern Star Women To Install

Philadelphia, June 19 (P)—Mrs. Anna K. Craig, of Pittsburgh, today moves into the worthy grand matron's chair of the Pennsylvania chapter, Order of Eastern Star, succeeding Mrs. Anna M. Thomas, of Philadelphia.

New worthy grand patron is Guy F. Harold, who replaces O. Floyd Edwards. Both are from Philadelphia.

Other officers who will be installed tonight in the final session of the organization's annual meeting are: Mrs. Beulah J. Albright, Havertown; associate grand matron, Llewyn U. Thomas, Galetown; associate grand patron; Mrs. Theresa T. Teah, Lock Haven; grand conductress; Mrs. Nellie Monie, Wilkes-Barre; associate grand conductress; Mrs. Margaret B. Alexander, Philadelphia; grand secretary, and Mrs. Jessie K. Berlin, Allentown, grand treasurer.

To Evict 80 Families At Pembroke Village

Bethlehem, Pa., June 19 (P)—Eighty families with annual incomes in excess of $2,400 are to be evicted from Pembroke Village, the city's original low-rental housing project, says Mayor Robert Pfeiffer.

The mayor, who also serves as chairman of the Bethlehem Housing Authority, declared "It's orders from Washington" he explained the evictions would be staggered over a six-month period.

Meanwhile, Mayor Pfeiffer said the Housing Authority has joined in a movement to persuade Federal authorities against auctioning off the dwellings rented by war workers. He declared that to sell these houses would mean a return to slum conditions.

The Thames river in England is 209 miles long.

The guests included the Misses Elaine Stoner, Evadine Fohl, Patty Guise, Judy Crist, Mildred Guise, Betty Starry, Nadine Baker and Anita Wertz.

Miss Caroline Robinson of the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia, has concluded a week's visit at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Hale, of Arendtsville. She was accompanied to Port Royal Tuesday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson, by her sister and niece, Miss Ann Hale, and by Miss Carolyn Wierman. Billy Hale, who had been with his grandparents for some time, returned home with his mother.

HOPE TO MOVE

Harrisburg as soon as the court's approval is given, Smith said. "Two women prisoners at the jail may not be transferred, he added, because their terms are nearly at an end and because they will have to be moved under a different arrangement from that concerning the male prisoners. In both cases the women have already served 30 days of 30- to 60-day terms.

Whether the court will send them to Harrisburg is not known. As soon as the arrangements are completed and the prisoners sent to Harrisburg thereafter all prisoners will be sentenced to the Dauphin county jail until the new Adams county prison is completed, Smith pointed out.

The transfer will take place whether or not solicitors from the two districts have completed the written contract to be signed by the officials of the two counties, the two boards of commissioners decided. It was expected that some time will be needed to draw up the contracts for signing.

Committed By Court

Under the arrangement made Wednesday Adams county will have charge of any transportation facilities in connection with the delivery and removal of the prisoners. The Adams county prisoners will be incarcerated on commitment orders of W. Clarence Sheely, President Judge of the Adams county courts and as a result justices of the peace will have to commit prisoners for removal to Dauphin county by the sheriff, the commissioners' clerk said. Dauphin county will not accept prisoners that might be taken there by constables on commitments made by justices.

The commissioners will open bids for the new jail July 9, and hope to begin construction along the Biglerville road shortly after that time.

Those who attended Wednesday's meeting were Adams county Commissioners George P. Taylor, J. Arthur Boyd and Q. D. Rebert, Commissioners Clerk Smith; Dauphin county commissioners Nelly and James H. Lane; Warden D. W. Fahnestock of the Dauphin county prison; Claude R. Robbins, president of the Dauphin County Board of Prison Inspectors and Dauphin County Controller J. Montgomery Trace. The meeting was held in the Commissioners' office at the Dauphin county court house, Harrisburg.

Willow Mill Park Books Aerial Show

Kuhnert Brothers aerial show, using what it claims is the largest gas balloon in the world, from which a delayed parachute jump at 3,000 feet will be made, is coming to Willow Mill park, one mile north of Hogestown, Cumberland county, Sunday, June 22, according to an advertisement appearing elsewhere in The Gettysburg Times.

This aerial show has been a feature of some of the largest expositions, centennials and fairs in the country and has been used in the movies. During the war, its members served in the armed forces and took part in the invasion of Normandy, where they received Purple Hearts and citations, but they are back again with new stunts and thrills.

CONDEMN 17

Warsaw, Poland, June 19 (P)—A military tribunal today sentenced to death 17 members of Ukrainian Nationalist forces accused of attempting to overthrow the government, by force. They were charged with making armed attacks on military outposts in southeast Poland.

17 EXECUTED

Athens, June 19 (P)—Seventeen men convicted of treason and murder were executed today in the courtyard of a Greek prison on Argina Island. Most of the men, executed by firing squads, were convicted as traitors. Three who died were Communists sentenced for murders.

ville, a chaplain with the First Armored Division in Africa and Europe, told the group to "work for lasting peace" but added that "we must work as hard for peace as for war for, in the past the world has always had to shed blood to attain and hold the really worthwhile things of civilization."

Commander Charles Rowe officiated at the services while the prayer was led by Post Chaplain James O. Adelsberger. Music for the dedication exercises and the concert afterward was furnished by the White Rose VFW chorus of York. The program opened with the call to colors sounded by M. Sgt. William L. Baldwin, chief trumpeter of the Pennsylvania Brigade, Sons of Union Veterans Reserve.

WORKMEN TO VOTE

Washington, June 19 (P)—The National Labor Relations board has ordered a collective bargaining election among production and maintenance employees of the Wolf company, a Chambersburg, Pa., firm gaged in the manufacture of flour mill and chemical processing machinery, be held on or before July 16.

Bert Childers was saying, it's funny how so many of our wartime habits stick with us.

Bert likes plenty of butter on his bread, but even now he can't get over spreading it like it was scarce as hen's teeth. And as a war-worker, Bert used to stick to a temperate glass of beer on time off; and he still holds fast to beer and moderation.

Same way with Bert's wife. She not only has no trouble saving used fats, and waste paper. She's learned from wartime necessity to save every single thing that might possibly be used again.

From where I sit, it's mighty good that so many of these common-sense habits like thrift and moderation have stayed with us. Because they belong in America—along with tolerance, and mutual respect for one another's rights. They're habits that have helped to make this country strong and neighborly and free.

BRITAIN READY TO HAND US NEW RESPONSIBILITY

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

London, May 19 (AP)—Informed British sources declared today that Britain is setting the stage to hand military responsibility in the Mediterranean and Middle East over to the United States and withdraw Empire defenses to East Africa.

Qualified British military informants said the proposed set-up implied that defense of the Mediterranean and the Suez canal in particular would become a United States responsibility.

The move will not mean abandonment of Britain's economic and political interests in the Middle East, however, these sources said, recalling Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement to the House of Commons last Friday.

“We must maintain a continual interest in that area,” Bevin said, “if only because our economic and financial interests are of vast importance to us and to other countries as well. If those interests were lost to us,” the Foreign Secretary added, “the effect on life in this country would be a considerable reduction in the standard of living.”

The military informants, who are close to the war office, fixed the time table for withdrawal of the British military and supply bases to East Africa at two to three years.

The momentous shift, revamping a 50-year-old policy of imperial defense, has been made possible, the informants said, by emergence of the United States as an active Mediterranean power with definable interests to defend.

The decision to fortify East Africa—mainly Kenya and the two Rhodesias—was understood to have been dictated, too, by Britain's decision to quit India by June, 1948, by the instability of Palestine and by the uncertain constitutional future of the Sudan, whose status is now the subject of an Egyptian appeal pending before the United Nations.

JUNIOR POLICE WIN 3-2 GAME

The Gettysburg Junior police baseball team defeated the McConnellsburg Junior police 3 to 2 Saturday in a tight game played on Codori Field.

McConnellsburg took an early lead by putting across a run in the third inning. Gettysburg tied the score with a homer by Barr in the fifth. McConnellsburg scored again in the ninth to lead 2 to 1 going into the last half inning of the game. Kitzmiller reached base first for Gettysburg in the half of the ninth when the catcher interfered. Redding bunted and reached first safely. Carter batted one into the infield and all runners but Kitzmiller were safe on an error. Doug Knox then singled and Redding and Carter came on in with the winning runs.

Shultz was the starting hurler for Gettysburg, and made five strikeouts in the three innings he played. Kitzmiller went and hurled ten strike outs. Little was catcher for the three innings and Bupp catcher for the last six innings. Ott, McConnellsburg, hurler, secured 14 strike outs.

The Junior police girls lost 16 to 2 to a Gettysburg college softball team in the preliminary.

DEATHS

Robert Luther Keeney
Robert Luther Keeney, 65, of Centerville, near Woodboro, Md., and an employee of the Ox Fibre Brush company, was found dead in bed at his home of coronary occlusion about 6 o'clock Friday morning.

The Frederick county medical examiner and Deputy Sheriff Austin Murray were called and a verdict of death due to natural causes was returned.

He was a son of the late James and Sarah Ellen Keeney and was born in Frederick county. He was an active member of Grace Lutheran church, Rocky Hill, and served on various boards of the church.

He is survived by one son, Harvey, Johnsview, and the following brothers and sisters: Samuel, Detour; Ephraim, Taneytown; Howard, Frederick; Jesse, Walkersville; James, Sharpsburg; Norman, Littlestown, Pa.; Mrs. Paul Pittinger, Union Bridge; Mrs. Annie Colbert, Ill., an uncle of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Clarence Wiernman. She was attended by Mrs. Norman Overbaugh, sister of the bridegroom, and Norman Overbaugh, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding a breakfast was served at the Hotel Richard McAllister to members of the family and friends of the couple. After the breakfast, the couple left on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's mother for the present. The bride is an alumnus of Central Catholic high school and is employed by Thoman's beauty parlor, Hanover. She served 32 months as a Wave. The bridegroom is employed by the Cannon Shoe company, New Oxford, and served 38 months with the U. S. Army, 34 of which were spent in the European Theater of Operations.

Clauser—Barthelme
Miss Irma Irrgang Barthelme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barthelme, East Berlin R. 1, and Jack Richard Clauser, near Wellsview, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bermudian Lutheran church, "Two Churches," near East Berlin, before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Prior to the ceremony, a recital of several vocal numbers was presented by Miss Peggy Ann Moul, East Berlin, contralto, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mildred Rogers Dunstan, near New Oxford, who also played the wedding marches.

At the conclusion of the church wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Barthelme entertained at a reception at their home.

The bride is a graduate of the last class of the East Berlin high school and has had a position at York. Her bridegroom was educated at the William Penn high school, York.

The couple plan to make their home at the former Bubbs' mill house, formerly occupied by her parents.

Smith—Bean
Miss Irene E. Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bean, Arendtsville, and Clinton B. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith, of Gettysburg R. 2, were quietly married at the parsonage of the Lutheran church, Westminster, Saturday, May 10, by the Rev. Willis R. Brenemann, pastor of the church.

They were attended by the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newell, Orrtanna.

BCI Explodes One Lewis Mine 'Myth'

Washington, May 19 (AP)—A notion that fewer young men want to be coal miners was described as a "myth" by the Bituminous Coal Institute.

The institute issued a statement in which it claimed records of the Federal Security board disclaim recent talk to the effect that coal miners as a class are for the most part old men with an average age well past 50.

The age of the bituminous coal miner in the U. S. averages 41 years, the statement declared, "and the average is downward rather than upward."

NAMED RABBIT QUEEN
Gladys Storm, Second street, McSherrystown, was selected rabbit queen from a group of twelve contestants at the Knights of Columbus hall, McSherrystown, Friday evening. She was queen of the rabbit and cavy show held Sunday in the K. of C. hall, McSherrystown, by the Hanover McSherrystown Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association. Judges for the show were Mrs. S. M. Transe, Hanover; Mrs. Edward K. Stipe and Mrs. Anthony A. Tanals, McSherrystown.

PERSONALITY PAYOFF
New York, (AP)—How to acquire a "pleasant manner" is being taught speech class students in 27 vocational high schools here, George F. court to pay $10 a week for the support of his wife and two minor children, and was released on his own $500 recognizance bond. He was also directed to pay the costs.

Act On Other Cases

A support order in the case of Lee Brock, Gettysburg R. D., ordering him to pay for the support of his wife, was struck off, but he was directed to pay $5 a week in support of his child.

Lawrence H. Hinkle, Gettysburg R. D., was given until June 9 to make up an alleged arrearage in support payments. The court was told he was back $50.

Donald Rentzel, Harrisburg, the court was informed, was paid up on his support, and the rule was discharged. The case of Luther Freed, Hanover R. D., was continued to June 9.

Raymond Rosenberry, Seven Stars, was released on his own recognizance bail of $500 and ordered to keep the peace, following a hearing on a surety of the peace charge brought by his wife, Olive. Mrs. Rosenberry charged that on April 22 her husband struck her, pinched her leg and twisted her foot. She said he had made threats against her life, and on April 22 asserted "D—if I don't kill you."

Two Paroles Denied

Two petitions for paroles were denied by the court this morning, a petition of Bert J. Simms, Fairfield R. D., sentenced February 10 to six months in jail, and a petition of Roy

A. Heiner, Fairfield, sentenced to from nine to 18 months on a perjury charge. Heiner has been in jail since October 21, he said.

The court approved a settlement in the case of Bernice I. Gerriek, Littlestown, by her father, Claude M. Gerriek as guardian, against Herbert Bowers, Germany township, for a total of $2,089.82. Miss Gerriek was injured November 19, 1946, Bowers' car, in which she was riding, struck a tree. The settlement included $589.52 for medical and hospital expenses and $1,500 of which $150 will go to the law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope.

Shultz Gets Hearing

Attorneys in the case of R. M. Walton versus C. Charles Matthias, Littlestown, on a defense motion for a new trial, announced to the court that an agreement had been reached and the case settled. It involved a real estate transaction. Two accounts were approved and two continued.

A hearing was begun, and adjourned to this afternoon, on the appeal of Olden Shultz, Biglerville R. D., from a conviction before Justice of the Peace John H. Bass, here on a charge of destroying fish in Marsh Creek above the Hartman dam on April 14 by means of an explosion.

Shultz has denied setting off the blast. Witnesses heard this morning included Charles Crider, and Bruce Gallagher, who live near the creek, and said they heard the explosion; Fish Warden William Britton, Chambersburg, State Policeman James Walsh and Dewey Bucher, Cashtown.

WAGE INCREASE ENDS SHIPPING STRIKE TODAY

New York, June 19 (P)—Negotiating committees for the three maritime unions and 39 east and Gulf coast shippers reached an agreement early today for settlement of the shipping tieup on those coasts on the basis of a five per cent wage increase.

The settlement agreement, announced at 1:40 a. m. (EST) by John W. Gibson, assistant Secretary of Labor, would benefit 110,000 seamen on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts if approved by the unions' memberships and by the shippers.

On the west coast, Nathan Feinsinger, Labor Department troubleshooter, said that "undoubtedly the settlement on the east coast will be a factor to reckon with here, but just what its effect will be I cannot say."

To Ratify Today
Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union (CIO), said special membership meetings would be called later today for ratification of the agreement. Curran's union had led the move to embargo sailings upon the expiration of old contracts last Sunday midnight.

Present contracts of the National Maritime Union, the American Communications Association and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, all CIO affiliates, will be extended for one year with a wage re-opening date of December 15, Gibson said. The old contracts had expired last Sunday midnight.

The Labor Department officials said that under the new agreement, which is subject to ratification by the union memberships, the seamen would receive overtime pay for nine holidays annually for work performed at sea or in port.

Thousands Affected
The agreement here came after the NMU had reached a separate agreement with operators of tankers, also for a five per cent boost. The tanker lines settlement affected 22,500 seamen.

Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the negotiating committee for 39 shipping firms and agents on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, said his committee "will recommend to their principals who have contractual relations with the National Maritime Union, the American Communications Association and the National Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, the prompt acceptance of this proposal made by the Department of Labor."

Curran, whose NMU claims 60,000 men who work the dry cargo and passenger vessels involved in the new agreement, predicted the membership would ratify it. He expressed hope that "these gains would be put into effect for seamen of all unions in the interest of establishing stability in the industry during the coming year."

NMU originally had asked a 20 per cent wage increase, six weeks' paid vacations, a 40-hour week instead of the present 48, a health and welfare fund and an increase in the number of holidays granted. Month-

Negro Begins 20-Yr. Term; Escaped Mob

Phenix City, Ala., June 19 (P)—A 19-year-old negro, rescued from a mob at nearby Hartsboro a week ago, began a 20-year prison sentence today for attempted assault of a white woman.

The negro, Jimmy Harris, was sentenced yesterday on a charge of assault soon after the Russell county grand jury had indicted him and he had entered a plea of guilty.

Harris was taken by a mob of about 25 white persons after a 33-year-old housewife reported he entered her home and attempted to attack her.

Mayor Hugh Vann and three companions rescued the negro and rushed him to Kilby prison. When taken from the mob the negro had a rope around his neck and the mob was beating him, the 48-year-old mayor said.

Vast Forest Fires Reported In Alaska

Anchorage, Alaska, June 19 (P)—A series of forest fires swept through valuable timber land in various parts of Alaska today, topped by the Kenai Peninsula blaze, which, it was estimated, had already burned over 224 square miles.

R. R. Robinson, chief of the Alaska fire control service, estimated the fire had already destroyed 60,000 acres of some of the best timber in the moose reserve and had cost the lives of many moose and other wild game.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or noisy urination with burning and stinging sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ICC ORDERS RR SAFETY DEVICES

Washington, June 19 (P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered the nation's railroads to equip 45,000 miles of track with safety devices which would cost millions of dollars.

The order came from the three ICC members sitting as "division three," a commission device for dividing up its work. The division members handed it down late yesterday after a long investigation into the relation of speeds and traffic volumes to accidents.

The order requires railroads to install an automatic block signal system along all track where freight trains are scheduled at 50 miles an hour or faster and passenger trains at 60 miles or faster.

They also must install an automatic train stop or control system or an automatic continuously controlled cab signal system wherever trains of any kind are scheduled at 80 miles an hour or more.

The length of time for compliance varies with the amount of track affected, but the latest date is December 31, 1952. Exceptions will be granted, the commission said, only when it can be shown that traffic is so sparse as not to require the additional protection.

STABS WOMAN ON DOORSTEP

Philadelphia, June 19 (P)—A mysterious assailant stabbed and seriously wounded an attractive auburn-haired young woman on the steps of her home shortly before midnight.

Mrs. Dorothy McHale, 26, widow of a merchant seaman, was rushed to Hahnemann hospital for an emergency operation. Fifty stitches were required to close two deep gashes in her face.

"A young man who drove up in a car" was blamed by neighbors who said they heard the young woman scream and saw the assailant run to his automobile and drive away.

She was taken to the hospital by Joseph Modugno, 30, who said he had called on her earlier in the evening. Modugno added that he left her on the steps to go to a neighborhood store for ice cream.

On his return, he went on, he found Mrs. McHale lying on the steps, blood gushing from multiple wounds. Physicians said "these deep cuts might have been made with either a knife or a razor."

Detective Nathaniel Brandley said Mrs. McHale told him after the operation she did not know her assailant and had no idea of what would have provoked the assault. Brandley theorized she might have been the victim of a case of mistaken identity.

HOW MUCH DO YOU PAY FOR A "BUCKET-A-DAY"?

"Bucket-A-Day" hot water costs you more than you might imagine. Small as it seems, a bucket-a-day adds up to a ton of coal or more in three or four months. Besides, while the cost is growing, you're sweating over a small furnace, heaving coal, shoveling ashes, putting up with unnecessary dirt—in order to have hot water. But "Bucket-A-Day" hot water is extremely unreliable. At times your water will be scalding hot... and other times barely luke warm. And when the fire goes out—there's no hot water at all.

An automatic Gas water heater assures you a constant supply of hot water, at the temperature you want, without a moment's attention from you. It removes, once and for all, the nuisance of extra furnace-tending for hot water. Visit your local Gas Company Office and tell them how much coal your "bucket-a-day" heater burns. They'll compute the size of Gas water heater you need for your family and the amount of gas you'll use. You will probably be surprised to learn that modern automatic Gas provides all the hot water you need at less cost than a bothersome, dependable "bucket-a-day" heater.
